National Guard Heads Rescue Work At Elba, Alabama

WILL WARNS THAT SPIES WILL MAKE PRISON UNPOPULAR

(Special To The News)
NEW YORK, March 15.—Atlantic prison is kicking because Mrs. Willebrand has been sending in government spies disguised as prisoners to see how the place is run.

Now I have been getting lots of letters from friends in there. Every one of them
rate it the best they ever in. They all say that the warden could go out on his own and open up an independent jail and have it filled in no time with men that appreciate the better type of jail.

They don't kick on associating with bankers, and even politicians, but don't want in the same jail with spies.

Now I know Mabel, and I know my friends in there, and I just want to get it settled if I can.

It will just ruin that jail, everyone of them write me, if it's kept up. They would never go back to that jail again. So do what you can for 'em Mabel.

Yours,
WILL.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Fly swatting time is about here once more.

Also, 'tis time to begin painting up for the spring and summer. Why not a little paint renovating on some of the downtown buildings this year as well as on private homes. It will not hurt a bit.

Trouble was being experienced with the New Castle curb lighting system last night about 9 o'clock. A considerable number of the lights were not burning at that time. It was sort of a staggering system.

Many people pass some time downtown where a pet shop is located.
They amuse themselves by teasing a parrot which is in front of the shop.

There are but six days left until spring begins according to the calendars. Pa New wonders if the calendars have the right dope. Hope so anyhow!

Announcement that there will be a huge aerial beacon erected here will probably help a lot in getting the small mail planes on the planes on the Washington-Cleveland route will be making stops here at the New Castle airport on the Youngstown road for refueling et cetera, anyhow.

Driving a car this morning was something of a slow process. The air was foggy and so thick you could cut it with a knife. It was more than difficult to see but a few feet ahead.

Speaking of the first of the season swimmers, Pa New believes that the anonymous Hessemer boys take the local cake this year for early bird swimming. The funny thing is that just two days before some boys were skating on the same spot.

Grove City might well be called the borough of churches or rather church records. A recent census taken by churchmen, showed 1577 families in the borough, all of whom were either attending some church or showed a preference to attend church. The census also shows that Grove City has

Dr. W. Charles Wallace, of New Wilmington, president of Westminster of age.

Prior to this time, Dr. Wallace had been a printers' devil. He later attended Geneva college. After graduation from theological seminary, he occupied the pulpit in several churches until he assumed his duties

"Willie" Fisher Again In Prison, Police Are Told

Pardoned Bank Robber Is In Ohio State Prison On Burglary Charge

OHIO OFFICIALS ASK FOR LOCAL RECORD

Fisher Was Pardoned By State Board About Eight Months Ago

"Willie" Fisher, better known as "Little Willie", who back in the first part of May, 1921, was one of five bandits who held up the Union National bank of this city, securing more than $50,000 in cash and who was granted a pardon by the Pennsylvania state pardon board about eight months ago, is again in a penitentiary and this time on a charge of burglary, according to the word just received by Chief of Police C. C. Horner, who is asked to furnish his local police record.

When Fisher was up for pardon last year, for the third time since his conviction and sentence to the Western penitentiary for a period of not less than 15 or more than 18 years, this city and county protested against his release, as they had successfully done on two other occasions.

Apparently the pardon board had more faith in the story of Fisher and his representatives than they did the authorities of this city and county and granted the pardon. It was claimed that he was a high school boy when he participated in the Union National bank holdup, that he had been led astray by persons older and more experienced in crime, that his help to support his parents was needed and that he would lead a straight life if given the opportunity of freedom.

Burglary Charge.

According to the record just received by Chief of Police Horner, Harry Matheison, alias William Henry Fisher, was sentenced on January 17, 1929, possibly four or five months after being pardoned, to the Columbus, O. penitentiary from Richmond, O., on a charge of burglary, being given from five to 15 years in that institution.
Apparently he had forgotten that his parents needed his assistance or that he had promised to lead a straight life.

Pictures taken here at the time of his arrest, following the Union National bank robbery rally in every detail with those sent from Columbus.
It will be remembered that Willie Fisher was 19 years of age when he participated in the local robbery. He was arrested May 28, 1921, in a Toledo, O. hotel where he was stopping with Cedar Ross, also convicted in connection with the Union National bank robbery. They were in bed when arrested. Fisher had something over a thousand dollars on his person, some of which proved to be money taken in the Union National bank.

He was brought back here and tried at the June, 1921, term of court and convicted on two counts, one of which he was sentenced to from six to eight years and on the other from nine to ten years. The sentences did not run concurrently but were to be served in turn, making in all from 15 to 18 years in the Western penitentiary.

Later he was declared insane and

FORECAST RAIN
THIS EVENING

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, March 15.—Mountain streams, swollen by melting snow, are causing a steady rise in the Monongahela and Allegheny rivers with prospect of a stage here of between 22 and 23 feet by tomorrow morning, the weather bureau announced.

The stage at the point where the two meet the Ohio here is rising two-tenths of a foot an hour.
Rain is predicted for tonight and tomorrow by Forecaster W. S. Brogman but he said it likely would be light and insufficient to check the waters when they began receding.
Most of the rise is out of the Allegheny. The Monongahela was reported falling at headwaters today al-

Gen. Plutarco Elias Calles, throwing a vast circle of troops about the rebel army on the Coahuila-Durango border. It is evidently the strategy of the federal commander-in-chief to surround the rebels and prevent their retreat towards their base at Chihuahua City.

Four separate columns of federals are taking part in this encircling movement.

Mexico City reports that news of the capture of Durango by Gen. Cal-les' army is "expected hourly".
The rebel position at Durango, capital of the state of Durango, lies in the path of Gen. Calles' northward advance.

Kill or Capture

Gen. Calles is reported to have issued orders to "kill or capture" every soldier in Gen. Escobar's rebel army.

Rebel agents on the Mexican border report that an insurgent force is moving upon Naco.

It is reported also that a small re-

Poison gas will be used in this bat-

Veteran Soldier Of Fortune Dies At His Home In Mexico City

(International News Service)
MEXICO CITY, March 15.—General Charles Horace Montgomery-and probably one of the last living men who saw the charge of the light brigade at Balaklava, died here today at the age of 83.

With his death there passed from the scene a character which might have stepped forth from the pages of Richard Harding Davis' novels. He was a veteran of five wars. He served with the British troops in the Crimean war, the Indian mutiny and the Maori insurrection; with the Union army in the American Civil war, and with the Cuban patriots in the first Cuban insurrection against Spain.

He was at one time considered the

BALTIMORE, March 15.—Jack Hart, lifer at the Maryland penicriminal who once escaped the prison walls and boasted "they will never keep me in," today fled his solitary cell.

He managed to unfasten the triple-locked cell door, climbed to the roof on an improvised rope and slid down to the street. He took Jack Bailey, another prisoner serving fifteen years for a hold-up, with him but Bailey was recaptured when his rope broke.

Sentenced For Murder

The prison is located almost in the center of the city. Dwellings line the opposite side of the street but none of the occupants saw the deserter make his getaway.

Hart was sentenced to life for the murder of William B. Norris, a contractor's paymaster here in 1921. He fled after the crime and was captured

SCHOOL BOARD WILL KEEP MILLAGE DOWN

After pruning the budget to almost the danger point, the New Castle School Board finally brought the total down to where a sixteen mill tax will be possible for the coming year.
While the tax rate was not set officially on Thursday evening, when the regular meeting of the board was held, the rate was agreed upon, and in the special meeting to be held in April, the millage will be formally set.

When the first draft of the budget was prepared it seemed certain that no less than 17 mills would be required, and perhaps more. The work of revision downward started then, and items were pared, and in some cases removed altogether.

During the budget work, the board kept it before it the idea that there should be as small an increase in school taxes as possible and the rate of 16 mills will mean an increase of but one half of one mill over the 15 1/2 mill rate that is in effect this year.
The usual five dollar special per capita tax will be in effect.

New President Is Making Own Decisions And Fixing Policies

By GEORGE R. HOLMES

WASHINGTON, March 15.—It is beginning to dawn on Washington that there is a brand new administration in the White House, instead of merely a continuation of the Coolidge administration and policies.

In office less than two weeks, President Hoover has thrown overboard two of the important policies of his predecessor, as well as a number that are of lesser importance, and there is every indication that more are to follow as the new chief executive follows himself more firmly in the saddle. All this despite the trite generalities of March 4 that the administrations were to merge with one another.

Orders Surprise

President Hoover's decision not to permit the exploitation of any more government oil lands, but instead to establish and maintain a drastic policy of conservation, was one reversal.
But the surprise that attended that move was but mild compared to the surprise occasioned by yesterday's executive order providing for publicity concerning tax refunds and abate-ments by the Treasury.

Congress Thorough Roaring.

The treasury simply sent the figures to congress and congress acted.

Sheriff Wounds Deputy Firing At Rum Runner

WHEELING, W. Va., March 15.— Attempting to halt the flight of a member of a rum running band he had traced from Short Creek to South Wheeling, Sheriff Irwin Charnock of Brooke county last night accidentally shot and wounded his deputy Theodore Fowler, 37.

A bullet from the sheriff's gun struck the deputy in the right hip

Both Charnock and Fowler were arnock was released on his own recoghim.

The rum runner escaped after unloading a truck load of liquor at Short

He was traced to a South Wheeling home which the officers raided. The man fled and Charnock fired the bullet striking Fowler.

Dam Removal Proves Puzzle

Some Say Remove It And Others Say Don't Do It

ENGINEER WILL MAKE INQUIRY

"We are wrong if we do and wrong if we don't," was a quotation which came in apt today during councilmanic discussion of the Rosena Furnace dam problem at City Hall. It was finally decided to adopt Councilman Tyler's motion to refer the dam problem to City Engineer Frank Miller, who will recommend what is best to do. If he finds it necessary to consult a hydraulic engineer, he is to communicate with council before incurring the expense.

Solicitor White, most active during council session today, presented a formal letter to council stating that the Carnegie Steel Company had given the city permission to remove the dam.

He advocated that some study ought to be made. He said some property owners believe it should be removed, others believe not, but he said a layman's opinion isn't worth much in the situation.

Councilman Tyler, who got the permission from the steel company to remove the dam, told how the mayor and Mr. Reeves, department of streets, had felt the wrath of the people during high water.

Tyler said the city had given the waterways commission an intimation that if the city did not have to dredge the Neshannock river for the pier in the new bridge the dam would be removed.

Some councilmen thought the waterways commission would "tell the city what to do," but White said that the waterways commission would not be the last word, but that the court would.

His letter follows:

March 15, A. D. 1929.

To the Honorable Council of the City of New Castle, Pa.

Gentlemen:

During the last year the Carnegie Steel Company gave the City permission to remove the Rosena Furnace Dam and some study ought to be made of that proposition before any action is taken, although some emergency at any time may require action.

It has been indicated to me that certain property owners are of the opinion that the dam ought not to be removed and that others are of the opinion that it ought to be removed.

Some persons advocate the installation of gates in the dam that could be opened or closed, if necessary.

One layman's opinion is just as good as another's on this question and none of them have any certain value. It is peculiarly an engineering proposition and there are engineers whose opinion on this question would be of the highest value.

In view of the state of public opinion in reference to this dam, I feel that I should advise you that if any property owners or group of property owners honestly believed that they might be aggrieved by the removal of the dam, they might enjoin its removal in embarrassing litigation at some critical time.

It would appear, therefore, that before a critical time comes, it would probably be well for the City to get some sound engineering advice on this question.

Respectfully submitted,

R. M. WHITE,

City Solicitor.

Perhaps the most annoying chap is the one who tries to be unassuming when he has nothing to be unassuming about.

True, this hatchet will eat through a metal container. But water will roll the sills of a house.

a population of over 6,000 people. The college town is growing rapidly, according to these figures.

Pa New observed a New Castle citizen trapped in the revolving doors of the Lawrence Savings & Trust Co. building yesterday. He was not well acquainted with such apparitions and when he was half-way through, attempted to reverse the process, with the result that the door stuck. He kept his head, however, and finally succeeded in getting out the right way.

Young Pa New is somewhat inclined to believe that New Castle and vicinity does not fully realize what fine nursing service the local chapter of the Red Cross can render. The chapter nurse is open to calls from anyone, any color and any nationality and at any time. To those who are able to pay for the visit the nurse makes, the Red Cross charges a minimum amount, but to those who are unable to pay, no charge is made. Hours of the nurse are nine a. m. to five p. m. Between these hours one can find the nurse at the Red Cross headquarters. Give the Red Cross a call!

If some of you folks would like to spend a good enjoyable evening step to the Senior High school auditorium tonight and see the musical comedy, "The Pennant," which is being put over by the voice department of that institution. The play starts at 8:15.

The Senior High school is noted for being located near where many trees are growing. Students walking to school in the morning report that, lately the scene on the trees has been appealing due to the many birds which sing every morning near the school. Good indication of spring.

New Castle firemen were given a respite during the past 24 hours, not a single alarm being answered. The firemen had been kept on the jump during the early part of the week by the many grass fires, but the rain put a stop to this and no other alarms were reported.

Legion members buttonholing prospective members in the big one-day drive they are putting on. The drive has been more successful this year than ever before and a great many new legionnaires have been added to the roles of Perry S. Gaston post.

Shed belonging to John A. Byers, contractor for the new North street bridge, is sitting in the middle of the stream several hundred yards below the bridge site. The structure was moved down stream by the high water, and it was necessary to secure it to shore with a rope to keep it from floating away entirely.

Throngs filled in and out of the U. S. Revenue office in the Lawrence Savings and Trust company building this morning in large numbers. Today is the last. So heavy was the traffic to the office that both front elevators of the building were pressed into service for the day. Both elevator operators reported an enormous business.

There is another touch of that spring fever on the streets today after a lapse of real groundhog weather for the greater part of this week. Overcoats were off and a galosh was hard to see.

Stationery is still an attraction, say those in charge of places where free writing materials are furnished. Many of these houses located prominently, have to regulate the amount put out at once or presto, it will all be gone in a jiffy. Hotel guests are especially guilty of taking the second and third helping to the envelopes and other materials.

PRESIDENT HOOVER OCCASIONS SURPRISE

(By Staff Writer)

though not without roaring about it. Under the new order, treasury officials are to prepare and make public the reasons, proceedings, and facts underlying all tax refunds and abatements in excess of $30,000.

This is a complete reversal of the treasury policy as hitherto established by Secretary Mellon and supported by Presidents Harding and Coolidge. And it was all the more surprising because Secretary Mellon himself proposed it—at least a letter was made public to that effect. He has hitherto stoutly maintained the position that all tax business concerns only the treasury and the tax-payer, and that it is none of the business of anybody else. The files of the ways and means committee contain numerous communications from Secretary Mellon to that general effect.

Evidently, President Hoover held contrary views. The executive order yesterday was the result. It goes a long way toward meeting the agitation in congress for complete publicity concerning all federal taxes. Congress once voted this, but later repealed it. It is now considered improbable that the fight for income tax publicity will be renewed in any serious way.

Brand New Regime

The oil and tax matters represent two major reversals of Coolidge policy in the first fortnight of the new administration.

There are others of lesser importance, but nevertheless significant of the trend of the new regime. President Hoover has taken up prohibition and law enforcement with expedition and firmness. Within thirty days he will announce the passage of a fact-finding commission to go into the situation. He has discussed it with dozens of visitors already. Mr. Coolidge rarely discussed prohibition with anyone.

The White House Press conferences, which means the methods of White House publicity, have been completely revised. Presidential handshaking embassies has been drastically curtailed and may be eventually discontinued altogether.

Straws, perhaps, but straws sometimes show which way the wind is blowing. Anyway, the Capital is waking up to the fact there is a new administration at the other end of Pennsylvania avenue.

give battle the conflict may be one of the bloodiest in the history of Mexican warfare. It will certainly be the decisive engagement of the revolution.

Decisive Battle

If the federals win the government of President Portes Gil shall stand without further menace. If the rebels are victors, which seems entirely probable and unlikely, the next candidate for president will be dictated by the rebel groups now in the field.

Gen. Calles now has about 15,000 men opposite the rebel positions on the Coahuila-Durango line. There are 6,000 other federal lines making their way through Durango.

Federal troops are expected to occupy the city of Durango within the next 24 hours.

By HARRY BERGMAN, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

NOGALES, SONORA, Mexico, Mar. 15.—Although rebel troop movements continued today in the campaign to recapture Naco, Sonora, from General Augustin Olachea, intimations dated at rebel headquarters here indicated that the Naco garrison may return to the revolutionary cause without the battle which has been expected since last Tuesday when Olachea reaffirmed himself with the Federal government.

Unconfirmed reports given out at headquarters today said Olachea was making overtures to the rebel leaders with a view of reaffirming his support to the revolution. Reports still persist here that the Olachea mutiny was a prearranged rebel plan for the purpose of drawing ammunition through the border from the United States, and for obtaining war plans from Mexico City.

Changes Plan

This theory was minimized by Federal leaders through Mexican Consul Y. M. Vasquez, at Nogales, Arizona, who declared the Olachea mutiny was absolutely authentic.

The theory was strengthened however by the fact that General Francisco Manzo, second in command of the Revolutionary army, changed his plans and left Nogales for the south to assist General Ramon Turbe in his campaign against Federal General Jaime Carrillo who is holding the important port of Mazatlan on the west coast of Sinaloa. General Manzo according to headquarters intended to lead the drive on Naco.

General Francisco Topete, constitutional Governor of Sonora, will lead the Naco drive instead of Manzo according to rebel headquarters here. Topete leading 500 infantry troops was unaccountably delayed in his journey from Ortiz, Sonora, but was expected to arrive here today according to headquarters.

General Francisco Borquez, commander of the Nogales garrison, earlier today was still attempting to learn the additional details of the reported new revolt against the Central government in lower California which was admitted revolutionary territory.

Rebel agents in lower California reported the mutiny of 300 of Governor Alvarado Rodriguez' troops just south of Ensenada.

STAR LORE.

By Arthur Dev. Carpenter.

Build a cabin on the north pole and the stars would never pass over it. They would circle around it from left to right. From it, circumpolar stars would be visible as far south as the equator, 90 degrees. Looking northward from the equator one sees no circumpolar stars; they all set except the North star (Polaris), which is seen grazing the northern horizon. Leaving the equator going northward one immediately begins to see beyond the north pole under Polaris. All stars seen between Polaris and the northern horizon as viewed from that latitude are circumpolar stars. They never set.

The Mexican government seems to be gaining steadily in revolutionary fighting scattered over a wide Mexican area.
Those who say the Mexican people are not interested in this revolution are mistaken. Millions of Mexicans are intensely and passionately interested in what they consider an attack on the established religion of Mexico. It is a religious protest rather than a revolution in the usual sense.

Americans who bought shares in the British General Electric company are told that new shares will be issued only to British subjects. Americans are told "United States capital is not wanted in England." American investors are not desired as purchasers of the new stock.

The new stock will be worth double its price or more, which may have something to do with a practical decision.

In any case it will teach Americans to invest their money in home enterprises, of which there are plenty.
Britain is to be congratulated on the fact that "United States capital is not wanted in England."
It is not long since five billions of it was wanted there, in a hurry, and this country sent it. And it isn't so long since this country consented to accept part payment in settlement of that debt.

Concerning government oil lands, President Hoover says simply: "We are going to keep them, not lease or sell them." That will suit the people. Senator Walsh of Montana says congress should decide such matters, but the country is content to have President Hoover decide them, since he decides the right way.

If the president can stop the criminal waste of national oil wealth he will render a service to many future generations of automobile owners. Fortunately, he knows that, and probably he knows how to go about conservation even of oil in private hands.

Asa G. Candler, Sr., who invented Coca Cola and made millions, is dead. His life proves that attention to detail is the foundation of success. After attention to detail comes capacity for SUPERVISION. "Organize, deputize, supervise."

Mr. Candler carried detail to the grave, giving minute directions as to his funeral rites, including the wording of an announcement for newspapers and describing clothes that he was to wear in the coffin, a "dress suit," a good idea, it is said, "in the flesh."

Mr. Candler set an example to his fellow citizens in liberality. He died in a hospital which he provided for the public at a cost of $150,000.

That somebody is making money may comfort you, if you are not making money.

The Michigan Central railway, for instance, on March 28 will pay to stockholders a cash dividend of 100 per cent, which certainly is fair enough. Most of it goes to the New York Central railroad, in control of Michigan Central.

And there is the Union Carbide company, declaring a stock dividend of 400 per cent.
Wall Street was cheerful Wednesday, no wonder. And call money cost only 6 per cent. Just think of that.

Mrs. Blanche Whiffen, "Virginia's grand old lady of the stage," was 94 years old Wednesday, well and happy, telling young people how frightened she was on the stage 87 years ago.

Good actresses, like Ellen Terry, Sarah Bernhardt and innumerable others, when they take care of their health, live to be old. Their brains remain active, and human beings, like trees, die at the top.

Consider Miss Lavergne of Dijon, France, who celebrated her 108th birthday Wednesday. She has never called a doctor since, at the age of 12, a wagon ran over her. Miss Lavergne has lived in France under three kings, two republics and one empire, and wouldn't live anywhere else. She can't read well, but thinks that being a good listener is better.

In southwest Africa a giant meteor, recently fallen, is said by scientists to be the world's largest. It weighs more than 50 tons.
Thousands of meteors bombard the earth every year, big enough to destroy any building. But a majority are melted by friction of the air, and fall in harmless dust.

Some, it is believed, bring with them germs of life from outside space. Intense cold does not kill primitive life, although heat does kill it. Scientists agree that all life on this planet may have started from microscopic life germs brought by meteors and developed by evolution. You need not believe it.

It is said that anywhere from one hundred thousand to one hundred and fifty thousand dog owners in this state fail to take out dog licenses at the time set by law. They can be fined for failing to do this. Some dog owners don't love their dogs as much as they think they do it seems.

Plumbers are becoming scarce in Great Britain and jokers are blamed for it. Ernest Lester, chairman of the Plumbing Trades National Apprentice Council of London, declares that quips directed at the plumbing craft have made boys and young men wary about entering a calling that is a subject for so many jests.

Mr. Lester's organization has perfected a plan for training boys in the art of thawing frozen winter pipes, fixing leaky joints and tinkering with faucets so they will not drip. But little has come of it because of the lack of boys. They are following some other calling instead of making themselves millionaires.

Bible Thought For Today

GOD'S GOODNESS SATISFIES—I will satiate the soul of the priest with fatness and my people shall be satisfied with my goodness saith the Lord.—Jeremiah 31:14.

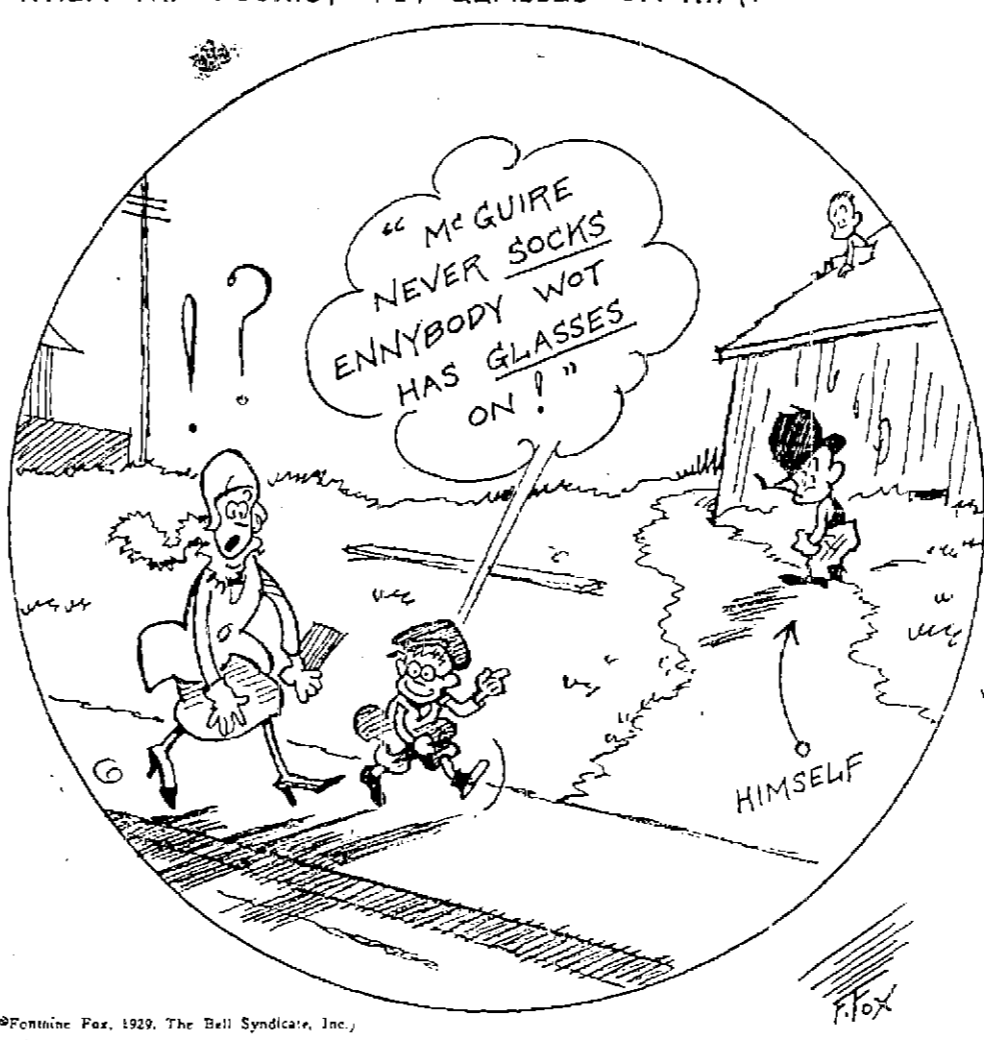

PRAYER—O satisfy us early with Thy mercy; That we may rejoice and be glad all our days.

Life is simpler now than everybody has a thermometer. Think of the poor old-timers who had to walk down to the drug store to find out how cold they were.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 6:06. Sun rises tomorrow 6:10.

"Woman's place is in the home," is an old-fashioned critic. Ah, yes, but that doesn't mean much. Today a woman's home is any old place.

Unjust criticism by unjust people have killed many a willing spirit.

A professor of some kind says women of the future will be slender and flat-chested. Evidently nature is going to intervene to save a lot of them much trouble in making up.

We heard a lady say she bought lots of the very best things she could buy to feed her brother and he just went out and walked it all off. Lots of folks would give him the air all right.

"Pathenia," her father called from the head of the stairs, "what time is it?"
"A quarter past 10, father," she sweetly answered.
"All right," came heavily over the midnight air, "but start the clock again when the young man goes out for breakfast."

Some one asks "Do women drive better?" Personally we haven't noticed much improvement.

It is said that when men get money themselves it makes them conservative. We have noticed that no man is ever an anarchist when he has some money.

When spectators at a chicken fight are arrested they always put up for a fight for their appearance before some magistrate, but we have never heard of any of them going to get the forfeit back or ask for a hearing. Maybe they are ashamed to let it be known they were at such an affair. Most of those arrested also give phony names.

Someone who seems to make a study of the subject says our weather this year has cost us $500,000,000, and it's a strange fact that the kind we enjoy most is the cheapest.

Rastus: "Dat bab of yours an' de perfect image of his daddy."
Rastus: "He suh am. He am a regular carbon copy."

We noticed a flock of robins in our rock garden and it seemed at least their red breasts seemed redder than usual. They looked mighty fine anyhow and they are welcome visitors around our place.

It is said that anywhere from one hundred thousand to one hundred and fifty thousand dog owners in this state fail to take out dog licenses at the time set by law. They can be fined for failing to do this. Some dog owners don't love their dogs as much as they think they do it seems.

Plumbers are becoming scarce in Great Britain and jokers are blamed for it. Ernest Lester, chairman of the Plumbing Trades National Apprentice Council of London, declares that quips directed at the plumbing craft have made boys and young men wary about entering a calling that is a subject for so many jests.

proper election expense accounts, maintaining a gambling house and misdeemeanor in office. Surely no one can claim that mayor has been doing nothing.

TWO OF A KIND
"Do you know," said the successful merchant, pompously, "that I began life as a barefoot boy?"
"Well," said the clerk, "I wasn't born with shoes on, either."

Repentance makes many a big financial change, but never seems to make one give anything back.

Chap who attempted to commit suicide because he had "lost faith in human nature" would probably be just as well off dead. When a man lacks faith in human nature he loses his belief in almost everything else worth while.

It is said that the Pennsylvania legislature is planning a law that will provide severe penalties for those who drive automobiles while in a complicated condition. That word complicated means common drunk. They cannot make a law like that too severe to suit us.

The United States sends more American-made cars to Europe than any other country. They haven't lost the art of walking in Europe yet—and scarcity of money evidently is more of a handicap over there in getting a car than it is over here. Or something!

"I can't marry him mother. He's an atheist, and doesn't believe there is a hell."
"Marry him, my dear, and between us we'll convince him that he is wrong."

Most all murderers seem to have most positive assurance that they will live until the day of their execution, at least. We have heard of very few dying natural deaths before that time any how.

There is just one answer to this sentence: "No funds are available for that purpose." That means in ordinary slang "Nothing Doing."

There are but two ways of paying debt: increase of industry in raising income, increase of thrift in laying out.

STOP, LOOK AND LISTEN!
From the U. S. Bureau of Standards comes the information that it takes the average driver more than a half a second to get his foot on the brake pedal after realizing that danger threatens him. In that half second, if he is traveling 40 miles an hour, he goes 30 feet.

Other tests have shown that the driver, when going 40 miles an hour, should be able to stop his car with two-wheel brakes in a space of 149 feet. That means that when imminent catastrophe shocks nerve and muscle with the warning "Stop!" the 40-mile driver needs to have half a second plus 148 feet between him and the death threat.

By the way do you remember the names of the winners in the channel swimming stunts. We thought so, but such is fame.

A famous London doctor says the only sure cure for the flu is champagne. There are bugs who would go to London to get the flu just to go through the cure.

TOMMY: "My Sunday school teacher says I'll go to heaven if I'm good." Father: "Well?" Tommy: "Well, you said if I was good I'd go to the clouds; now you're telling the truth?"

A too-persistent job hunter probably wonders why Mr. Hoover is called a "civil" engineer.

Our simile for today: As attentive as a hick town watching a widower.

Table: Once a man bought something because he saw it advertised on a billboard.

The mayor Johnstown, Pa., is being tried in court on charges of extortion, conspiracy, perjury, failure to file

Colonel Lindbergh's fiancée calls him Augustus, but maybe he won't be home much.

I wish the newspapers would tell us just where that scar is on Al Capone's face, so I can sidestep him.

So I slipped half a dollar in that cad's inky hand. For the tale was worth the money though it's faked I understand. (Copyright, 1929, Edgar A. Guest.)

Haley Fiske, Health Apostle, Lauded As Public Benefactor

Great Insurance Executive And Head Of Life Extension Institute Credited With Leadership In Longevity Movement

Appreciation of the career of Haley Fiske, the late head of the Life Extension Institute, give the public revealing pictures of the successful big business man whose contribution to the race was his leadership in the movement for better and longer lives.

He found satisfaction in adding to the average span of life. He prided himself on his own health and youthfulness after 70 years, says the ALBANY EVENING NEWS. "He was a business man who saw beyond the usual limits of business. He accomplished a great work in the name of good business. America is better for his having lived." The HOUSTON CHRONICLE points out that the dissemination of health literature, the activity of nurses in industrial sections where his policy holders lived, were only minor phases in his plan for the material advancement of the people. He foresaw the time, continues the Chronicle, "when insurance companies would carry insurance for all the people, caring for them in sickness, indemnifying their dependents in event of death, insurance which covered the financing of homes, of public utilities, of all conveniences for the masses."

"Mr. Fiske had a rare combination of gifts," declares the KANSAS CITY JOURNAL-POST. "He not only had vision, tenacity, great executive skill and restless energy, but he was one of the country's greatest orators and his early experience as a counsellor for his company was responsible for his being put in active charge of its business." The SCRANTON TIMES calls him "a new type of executive in insurance, who believed that it was not only the duty of insurance companies to provide in case of death but also to be instrumental and watchful of the health of policyholders."

"He was a fine example," according to the NEW YORK EVENING WORLD, "of the Big Business man, who is just emerging and who must become more and more commonplace in the future, in that he recognized that such great organizations as he led exist not only to make dividend but to serve the public. His interest in the health of his policyholders made him a pioneer in the field."

There was more than a touch of the statesman in his plans and hopes. Intensely engaged, he always found time for public service, and thus in every way he measured up to the highest requirements of a citizen.

"He conducted an unrelenting and highly intelligent campaign against disease and death," states the GOULDSBORO DISPATCH. "So vast was the scope of his campaign that it will stand for many years as the foremost example of crystallized effort to prolong human life. He built the greatest financial institution in the world, rendered a magnificent service to his fellow men and died at a ripe age, beloved by all who knew him. This we believe, is the acme of achievement."

The scope of the visiting nurse system is emphasized by the KANSAS CITY TIMES, while the ROANOKE WORLD-NEWS, commenting on his "experiment in providing dwellings at reasonable rentals for families of moderate means, concludes: "Mr. Fiske succeeded where others have failed, in proving that where wise architectural advice was secured, both in construction and floor planning, moderate rental apartments could be made to pay a fair return on the investment."

Linking him with Walter Camp, who also preached improvement of public health, the CLEVELAND PLAIN DEALER remarks: "The death of Camp at 86 and that of Fiske at 77 do not affect the soundness of the doctrine which they taught. Their services in calling to attention the importance of proper care of the body and of conserving human resources were substantial." The SCHENECTADY GAZETTE says: "Few there are who will not envy Mr. Fiske's years of passing. It was not preceded by the long, lingering illness and months of suffering some unfortunate are obliged to undergo before

A MAN CAN BECOME—

So apologetic that he becomes offensive.
So cynical that he becomes wasteful.
So scholarly that he becomes unintelligible.
So frank that he becomes brutal.
So broad-minded that he becomes shallow-minded.
So optimistic that he becomes a nuisance.
So tolerant that he loses all his own convictions.

LONDONERS DINING OUT
More women in London are dining out than ever before. One observer estimates that in the exclusive West End there are about 4,000 first-class diners nightly with about 8,000 on Saturday. But for the women, he says the number would be much smaller.

Former New Castle Newspaper Man Is Visitor Here Today

David T. Jonas, Editor Of Charlevoix Valley Life, Renews Old Friendships

David T. Jonas, former well known newspaper man of Crafton, Pa. and H. B. Scott, of the Keystone Traffic bureau, Pittsburgh, were in New Castle today.

They paid a visit to the News office where Mr. Jonas and President Fred L. Rantz spent a pleasant hour discussing old times, when Mr. Rantz was a devil in The News composing room and Jonas was city editor. That was over 42 years ago. Mr. Jonas is now, and for many years past has been publisher of the Charlevoix Valley Life, one of the snappiest papers in Western Pennsylvania.

When Mr. Jonas was with The News the office was located over on Mill street, all the type was set by hand and the paper was printed on a flat bed press. Instead of coming over the wire most of the telegraph news in those days came in what was known as "bolter plate," and was shipped by freight.

Mr. Jonas severed his connection with The News to become the New Castle correspondent of the Pittsburgh Leader, which at that time issued a Valley edition. His office was in the rear of the Citizen's Bank building. When the Valley edition of the Leader was discontinued, Mr. Jonas was given a good position in the editorial department of Leader at Pittsburgh. That was about 25 years ago. When the Leader was suspended Mr. Jonas moved to Crafton where he started the Charlevoix Valley Life, with which he has been very successful.

Jonas, who is well known to all the older residents of New Castle, is what is known as a natural born newspaper man. He has the nose for news, knows how to write it, has excellent judgment, and has always been able to make his presence felt in whatever capacity he has engaged in newspaper work.

Naturally the lapse of years has left its mark in the shape of gray locks, which were once a raven black, but his face is still young. He has the spirit of youth, his eyes sparkle, his step and conversation show the old time vim and energy, with which his friends are familiar.

After Mr. Jonas had made a tour of

The News plant with Mr. Scott, he pronounced the plant one of the finest to be found anywhere between New York and Chicago. He is still in the city this afternoon calling on his old friends.

Local Architects Get School Work

The W. G. Eckles Company, local architects, have been awarded the contract for drawing plans on the new 8-room high school building that Scott township will erect at Harlansburg, the company offices announced today.

Just when work on the new structure will be commenced is not known. France is taking to sound films.

Princess Will Be Witness In Bankrupt Case

Princess Of Thurn and Taxis Will Give Testimony In Thompson Hearing

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, March 15.—A princess will be among the several witnesses who will be asked to tell what they know of reports that J. V. Thompson, bankrupt coal baron, has assets worth several million dollars which are not listed with the bankruptcy trustees, when a hearing is held April 8. It was learned here today.

The Princess of Thurn and Taxis, a niece of Thompson, will be asked to tell Attorney Watson B. Adam, referee in bankruptcy, what she knows of the alleged concealed assets. Several others also are to appear, it was said. Thompson is believed to be in Ohio at present.

The hearing was granted on a petition by the trustees in bankruptcy which states that one witness values the assets as high as $8,000,000, while a second places the value only a little less.

Home Rule For Scotland When Liberals Win

By F. A. WRAY
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

LONDON, March 15.—Scotland will have Home Rule and her own Parliament if the British Liberal party comes into power again.

This announcement has been made publicly by Sir Henry Samuel and its political importance is emphasized by the fact that he spoke after consultation with Lloyd George and the other leaders of the party.

"Liberals," said Samuel, "has always included the ideals of nationalism. History gives evidence of it in the case of Greece, Italy, Alsace and Ireland. So now with respect to Scotland, Wales, yes, and respect to England as well.

"The movement for Scottish Home Rule is right on three grounds.

Gives Arguments

"First, the revival of the distinctive Scottish spirit is desirable in itself. It would be a strength to Scotland and a service to the British Empire and to the world. But this revival must have a center. It must have a visible sign and embodiment, and that can only be a Scottish Parliament and Ministry.

"Secondly, they will furnish the only means for enabling attention being given to the pressing problems of Scotland. Whenever acts of Parliament are passed on these subjects separate measures have to be carried through for Scotland. She has her own ministers dealing with these matters, but Parliament is wholly unable to give proper attention to these affairs. The Scottish ministers are hopelessly overworked with a variety of business with which they cannot cope.

Aid for England

"Thirdly, Scottish home rule is necessary for England. It will help to relieve the burdens of Parliament. For the state today is suffering from chronic congestion of its central organs.

"Any plan which is to be adopted must be carefully thought out. Any suggestion of a tariff wall across Great Britain would inflict grave injury to the business, the industry and the economic development of both countries. It is obviously essential also to maintain a common Parliament for the joint affairs of Great Britain as a whole, and it is essential that Scotsmen should continue to play their part in the government of the British Empire.

"The government of the day might well summon a convention consisting of the leaders of all phases of Scottish thought who accept the general principle in order that they may formulate definite proposals.

CLEVER PARROT TRICKS PETER.

Like every other bird, Mr. Parrot liked to make people surprised. He repeated: "When I found I could talk to you just as your mother did, what do you think I did next?"

"I can't imagine. What?" asked Miss Parrot curiously but the boy had been thinking hard and now he cried excitedly:

"I know, I know! You fooled me. That was the very morning that I went out hunting for chestnuts.

"I hadn't gone very far into the woods when I heard a dog bark. I whistled and whistled, but no dog appeared. Then a cock crowed near me and next a whistle blew and while I stood there amazed at all these strange noises in the quiet woods I heard my mother calling. I ran all the way home and when I got there I found she did not want me at all.

"It had not been mother's voice that I heard. She said I must have been dreaming, that there was nothing there that had a whistle, that if there had been any dog he would have barked to meet me; that no rooster would have wandered so far from the barnyard. But I knew I had heard all these sounds and now I know who made them. It was you!" Peter pointed an accusing finger at Mr. Parrot.

"Aahhhh!" screamed Mr. Parrot and arched his neck and flapped his wings and hopped about first on one foot and then the other, screeching all the while and quite beside himself with glee because of the trick he had played upon the boy that day in the woods.

"It was I all right and you never knew it. Hah! Hah! Hah! It was funny to see you, boy. You looked this way and you looked that and then stared up into the trees as if you thought your mother had climbed into the branches but never once did you dream that it was only one bird who was doing it all. How could you know that a Parrot could make a noise like a whistle, bark like a dog, crow like a rooster and above all talk like a Two-Legs!

"I washed you, peeping out from my hollow home in the trunk of the sycamore tree and once I had to bury my beak in my feathers or I would have laughed out loud."

It was plain to be seen that Miss Parrot thought the speaker the cleverest bird in the world. She sidled up to him and commenced to scratch his head with her bill.

"To think not one of your friends knew a thing about it!" cooed she. "I am proud to know you Mr. Parrot. Do you suppose you could teach me some of those things? How I should love to be able to bark like a dog!"

Prim Handkerchief Now To Disappear

By ALICE LANGELIER
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

PARIS, March 15.—Handkerchieves will be anything but prim and square this spring and summer, judging from the triangular, circular and oval ones appearing in the smart shops in Paris. They are no longer that a handkerchief ever was before.

Large, oval-shaped chiffon handkerchiefs, come in all the delicate colors of the rainbow and there are some particularly lovely ones with woven damask centers and wide borders of printed colors. These are smartest in the new shades of fuchsia or the new gay Scotch plaids in blue, rose, cornflower blue or yellow.

White mousseline de soie printed with a brilliant striped border makes a charming kerchief. The one of solid color seems to have decidedly less vogue this year and such variations as apple trees in blossom printed on white damask and the apple blossoms themselves exquisitely embroidered in graded silks, or damask with borders of bright linen hemstitched upon them are novelties.

Several new models have colored stripes forming squares. Along the borders there are alternate squares of lines and little diamonds with two short lines making a design.

Flowers of all varieties are embroidered in the center or along the borders of some dainty little white nose-wipers. Swans, automobiles and views of Paris and even little French roosters are applied on the finest hand-woven linen handkerchiefs.

Electric Cables To Guide Planes

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, March 15.—Noteworthy advances are being made in the manufacture and flying of airplanes according to a survey completed by the American Air Transport association.

Outstanding among these is the use of electric cables buried underground to guide planes while crossing treacherous mountain ranges and flying into airports. A new device by a French inventor places delicate instruments in the planes' control cabins which enable pilots to follow an earth cable buried below.

It is possible for a pilot to follow a cable buried 8,000 feet below his plane. The system employed is similar to that used in guiding a ship into harbor when the guiding electric line is buried on sea bottom.

Experiments are now being conducted to aid flyers in fighting fog, one of the worst enemies of man's conquering of the air. Artificial warning of open air over a landing field is one weapon which shortly may be used in battling fog according to the association.

Areas up to 200 yards in diameter have been cleared by artificial heating and calculations indicate that 13 tons of coal an hour should clear a 400-yard square field of fog of average thickness and drift.

But why appoint a farmer Secretary of Agriculture if a soldier and sailor aren't necessary to the War and Navy Departments?

Plane Drops Wheat For Hungry Birds

(International News Service)
PORTLAND, Ore., March 15.—Prevented from foraging for food by a relentless blanket of snow and ice, thousands of birds near Hillsboro, Ore., are pecking away at a banquet table two miles square and generously spread with wheat made possible through the efforts of Dr. E. H. Smith and his airplane.

A thousand pounds of grain were placed in the fuselage of his ship and a hose arranged from the bottom to allow the wheat to spray from the speeding plane.

Back and forth Dr. Smith flew with his grain-spraying plane. A lineup on distant trees insured an equal distribution over the four square miles.

With a plentiful supply of grain available from a warehouse recently destroyed by fire which is being utilized by the state game commission to fill the "feed plane" feathered inhabitants of the territory should survive the winter.

Active People want and need sugar

The "Fuel of Preference" in the body

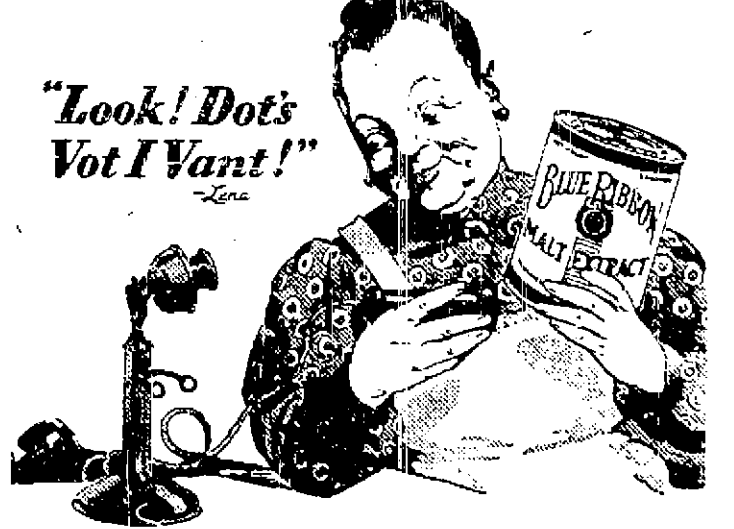

AN EMINENT food authority recently stated that any person who has a very active body is likely to be always on the edge of the sugar reserve in his body (glycogen). "That is why," he said, "the soldier and athlete wants and needs sugar. That is why the active child wants and needs sugar." He went on to explain that sugar is the fuel of preference in the body, that sugar can be more easily and quickly converted into energy than any other food. He emphasized the fact that sugar should form a part of the regular diet of every family and that any reducing diet as well as any other diet, should contain sugar.

The best way for sugar to be eaten is as a flavor of other foods. In that way, it serves the double purpose of furnishing energy to the body and also of adding appetizing delight to other healthful foods. Sugar added to healthful grain cereals makes them welcome and enjoyable to growing children. Think of how many health-giving fruits are objectionable to the taste without sugar. Scientists tell us that we need the daily roughage of salads as well as cooked fruits and vegetables. Any good cook knows that adding sugar makes all of these welcome and pleasant to the palate. In addition to being the best and cheapest fuel for the body, sugar is nature's perfect flavor. It makes nearly all other foods more enjoyable. For health and enjoyment, there is no substitute for sugar. The Sugar Institute.

Find Stone Age Relics In Old British Mine

(International News Service)
CANNOCK Staffordshire March 15
World-renowned scientists and archaeologists are showing a keen interest in a handful of stones found by an old miner near Cannock. They are believed to be genuine relics of the Stone Age and a clue to a language long since extinct.

Several of them are at present at Oxford University and others are under examination by prominent French scientists. Some of them are carved with strange figures of animals, fish, ferns, etc., while others bear queer markings which it is thought, may have been the equivalent of books to the cavemen.

Legal Probe In New York Hits Many Lawyers

By HOMER H. METZ
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

NEW YORK, March 15.—The time honored profession of interpreting the law—known colloquially as the legal profession—is coming in for a lot of unpleasant muckraking in Father Knickerbocker's well known metropolis.

These exposures or "cleanups" are more or less periodical occurrences in the ranks of barristers here, but the present outburst of charges and counter charges is assuming proportions far in excess of the average.

The attack on the lawyers started some six weeks ago when David Steinhardt, an attorney of reputation, fled the confines of the city with approximately $500,000 of other people's money, gleaned in questionable federal bankruptcy receiverships and investment promotion schemes. From this beginning, the scandal has grown into a sensation. And the end is no where in sight.

Many Accused
More than fifty legal practitioners have been accused of ambulance chasing or high pressure practices in negligence cases, two Federal Court Judges—Francis Winslow and Grover M. Moscovitz—have been accused of improper conduct and are being subjected to investigations by a Congressional committee and a local grand jury, and a surprising number of barristers are facing eviction from the Bar Association because of unethical activities.

Among the latest batch of lawyers who have been recommended for discipline because of ambulance chasing proclivities is Humphrey J. Lynch, a former Supreme Court justice and probably the best known trial lawyer practicing in Westchester County.

Another is Fanny Horowitz, the only woman attorney ever cited for malpractice in law in this judicial district, who was an unsuccessful candidate for a Supreme Court Justice on the Socialist ticket in 1919.

Judges Involved
The latest phase of the trouble in which the two Federal judges find themselves involved centers around Stewart Eaton, stepson of Judge Winslow.

The Grand Jury in probing the bankruptcy scandal learned that Eaton had obtained an expensive comparative new automobile which formerly belonged to Costis Takis of the Goody Candy Shop estate, whose bankruptcy receivership is being probed, for $250.

District Attorney Charles H. Tuttle claims the car was sold by the estate and that no accounting was made of the transaction. Incidentally the receiver for the Goody Candy Shop is E. Bright Wilson, of Tennessee, a former speaker of the House of Representatives.

Bethel Boasts Of Student Marriages

NEWTON, Mass.—Bethel College of Newton has answered the problem of fewer marriages, which has confronted the schools and colleges of the nation for the past several years.

The college here boasts of a policy which, from its beginning, sent forth its students two by two, imbued with that Rooseveltian urge which peopled their homes with sons and daughters who also were sent to the college.

The college paper, the Bethel Collegian, recently said in an editorial: "In the general collegiate world 'dates' are former couples formed and broken up again. Arrangements, combinations, rearrangements—anything is possible and nothing is permanent. The shifting, coupling and recoupling costs money and spends time foolishly."

At Bethel, however, a different situation exists, according to the Collegian. The boys there mean "business," and it is stated that as a rule one boy sticks to one girl and the girl to one boy. The percentage of engagements is unusually high.

There is a certain leniency about the couples formed at Bethel, the Collegian adds. "They settle down, so to speak, and are out of the game."

Nude Bare-Back
Riding Rare Sport

VIENNA, March 15.—Bare-back riding in the nude is the ideal sport as propagated by Count Max Thun-Hohenstein, M. D., who announced recently that he will open a riding school in the Vienna Prater, to give a Spartan education to the effeminate Austrian youth.

The next aim of the count is to establish a "boy scouts cavalry" for the benefit of the coming generations and to revive the cult of horses in Austria.

Count Thun-Hohenstein belongs to the oldest nobility of the country, but is certainly impoverished. He has all ready won a circus manager for his project and they have rented the former "Hippodrome."

Two Pilots Run Close Race For Time Record

CHICAGO, March 15.—Two pilots now at the controls of twelve-passenger planes, one widely separated, are rivals for the world's record for the most time spent in the air during 1928, according to the American Air Transport Association.

The contestants for this honor are Chadwick Smith, chief pilot on the non-stop passenger run of the Northwest Airways between the Twin Cities and Chicago, and Fred Kelly, who pilots a multi-stopped passenger plane for the Western Air Express between San Francisco and Los Angeles. Neither pilot has had an accident.

Woman Passenger On Lindbergh's Plane Recounts Journey

Mrs. Frederick Broatch Of New York Says "Lindy" Happiest When Up In Air

Was Unafraid As Plane Soared Out Of Mexico High Over Rebel Forces

(International News Service) NEW YORK, March 15.—She flew over the whistling bullets of Mexico rebel troops.

A forced landing in the enemy territory would have meant—almost surely—imprisonment, or death. But she had no fear—because—Lindy was piloting the plane!

Mrs. Frederick W. Broatch, one of the two women passengers with Lindbergh on the inaugural tour of the mail service last Saturday between Mexico City and Brownsville, Texas, told of the thrilling experience today in her apartment at the Barclay hotel.

Said the vivacious little woman, still excited from her recent adventure: "My husband and I didn't know when we could get out of Mexico City. The rebels had cut off train service to the north. You could buy tickets and set out hopefully, but the train might get as far as Sanitilla, as one did, and then be sent back, and the idea of riding a train through the war zone wasn't so much fun."

"Then at the American club we heard that Lindy's mail plane was taking nine passengers, on its inaugural trip. You can imagine how we jumped at the chance of going on it!"

"I wasn't at all afraid up there, flying with Lindy, even though I knew that down below Rebel troops were hiding in the mountains. "You don't think of forced landings when flying with Lindy anyway."

"Just looking at him gives you confidence. He's a different person up in a plane from the rather stern-faced boy who avoids questions on the ground. His face is wonderful—so relaxed and happy. The clouds are his real element—not the ground."

Mrs. Broatch, Mrs. George Ruhl, the other woman passenger, and the seven men, expected to land calmly at the Brownsville flying field, with a few aviators and officials to greet them.

But instead there were—Twenty thousand cheering, shouting people. A dozen army planes circling into a landing.

Bands playing, wild excitement everywhere.

And Lindy—"The worried look came back into his face," said Mrs. Broatch, "as he avoided questions about a $38 wedding cake that someone said had just arrived in Brownsville from the north."

Liquor Violators Get Salty Dose In Pittsburgh Court

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, March 15.—The heaviest fines and sentences ever imposed upon liquor law violators in Federal court here were announced today by Judge Nelson McVicar against fourteen defendants recently found guilty. They were members of the alleged Pittsburgh liquor rings all accused of conspiring to violate the national prohibition act.

The sentences ran from six months in the county jail to three years in the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta. The fines began at $500 and ended at $10,000.

Before handing down the sentences in each case, Judge McVicar refused motions for new trials and the defendants, hearing their fate pronounced, were startled to learn that the sentences would begin immediately.

Susquehanna River Near Flood Stage

Serious Floods Threatened In Central Pennsylvania As Rivers Go On Rampage

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, March 15.—Points along the east branch of the Susquehanna river may be endangered by serious floods within the next 24 hours, according to reports received here today. A general rise all along the course of the river is anticipated.

A flood stage of 18 feet is expected to be reached at Towanda by tomorrow morning while at Wilkes-Barre it was predicted that the flood stage of 25 feet would be reached and probably passed during the next 24 hours, depending on the amount of rainfall. The river stage at Wilkes-Barre today was 19.6 feet.

The rise was not expected to endanger many of the points along the river because of the absence of ice, but a general rise will occur.

At Harrisburg the river stage today was 14 feet with a minimum of 13 feet predicted for Saturday morning. Flood stage at Harrisburg is 17 feet.

Already the lowlands in the vicinity of Wilkes-Barre have been inundated but no other points have reported flood conditions.

Thousands Use Local Y. M. C. A. During Month

Report For February Shows Surprising Figures Concerning Local Y.

Between eleven and 15,000 persons of this city utilized the local Y. M. C. A. building and participated in its activities during the month of February, according to the report of general secretary Robert L. Meermans. The figures are based on an actual check on the part of the staff for the entire month.

In the physical department, 1,904 men used the Y. There were 56 classes for this group and 49 basketball games were played. There were 76 boys classes at which over 1,500 boys were present and more than 100 basketball games occurred.

The lobby was used extensively as was the reading room. Checking shows that 1059 men used this phase of the organization building. With regards to the social activities, such as billiards and other games and amusements, 751 took advantage.

Over 2,800 boys attended club meetings and the boys department. In this division, 17 H-Y club meetings occurred and there were 21 other boys group meetings and social affairs.

There were four phalanx fraternity meetings, 10 outside organizations used the Y rooms for meetings, 385 beds were occupied and over 1600 outsiders attended basketball games.

This a part of the work of the Y during the past month. Naturally there were a great many more using the building which could not be checked.

CONVINCING

Gramophones were his lure so much down and so much a week. As he knocked at the door of a certain house he remembered he had been there before and received a curt dismissal. This time, however, it was different.

"Oh, it's you, is it?" said the housewife, cordially. "Come in, won't you. Two minutes later he found himself in a room with five children, howling and squabbling and creating a terrible racket. The woman had locked the door and gone off to do her shopping.

After an hour she returned. "Now," she said, "if you still think I need more music in this house, I'm ready to listen to you."

Without a word the salesman reached for his hat and quietly stole away.

Assessment System Would Be Revised, Bill Is Prepared

By ROBERT F. GORMAN
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

HARRISBURG, March 15.—In an effort to revise assessment systems and correct assessment inequalities in fourth and fifth-class counties in Pennsylvania, Representative Elwood J. Turner, Delaware county, is planning to introduce a bill in the House next week providing for the election of assessors by the governing bodies in the various sub-divisions.

The bill, according to information reaching here, would provide for the election of assessors by councils, township commissioners and township supervisors and the governing bodies would have a direct check on the work of the assessors. Provisions will be contained in the bill which will cover the removal of assessors when necessary.

Believed Good Bill
For some time past Representative Turner has been giving considerable study to the subject of equitable assessments in fourth and fifth-class counties and he is of the opinion that the bill which he plans to introduce will be of material aid in settling many assessment problems.

While the present legislature has discussed numerous measures relating to all kinds of tax, very little legislation on assessment matters has appeared, so that the proposed bill is almost certain to receive attention. The assessment problem in Pennsylvania has long been a source of difficulty in local communities and members of the legislature from counties covered by the proposed Turner bill are awaiting its introduction to give it careful inspection.

In discussing his plans Representative Turner pointed out that in every part of the state complaints of inequalities in assessments can be heard. He said that many assessors set down figures without regard to accuracy of values and that for years values on some properties never show a change. He believes that by placing assessments under the control of the governing bodies in the cities, boroughs and townships that improved conditions will result.

New England Sees Farm Income Up

(International News Service)

BOSTON, March 15.—With a slight improvement expected in the more important agricultural industries, preliminary indications are that the total gross income of New England farmers as a whole will be higher during 1929 than in 1928.

This was the report of a survey of conditions made under the auspices of the New England Council on Marketing and Food Supply by agricultural colleges, departments of agriculture and farmers' organizations, the New England Crop Reporting Service and the United States Department of Agriculture.

The report went on to state the demand in New England Markets for fresh eggs and high grade vegetables is increasing.

Except for a decrease of eight percent in the expected planting of Maine potatoes, the outlook is for a continuation of very slight increase in the present volume of production of New England's more important agricultural commodities.

Claim Microbes Don't Like Paper Money

PARIS, March 15.—Don't be afraid of paper money or coins. They kill all germs that touch them and do not transmit contagious diseases.

This is the report of two members of the French Academy of Medicine, Drs. Jules Renalt and P. P. Weil, who have been making recent experiments with filthy, lured, ill attempts to cultivate microbes from very dirty bank notes have failed. The antiseptic nature of banknotes is attributed to the continual action of the oxygen in the air on the design, and to the colored ink, which tends to kill the germs.

Ornithologist Says Bird Study Can Be Profitable

State Authority Advises Bird Lovers To Look For New Specimens

Now that Spring is upon us, field-glasses and note-books will begin to come out as enthusiastic nature students again take up the season's study of bird migration. Bird-banders, who have worked all winter trapping Starlings and a few other winter birds, will begin to look eagerly for new arrivals in their box-traps—a Purple Finch among the English Sparrows, for instance, or a Swamp or Lincoln's Sparrow among the common Song Sparrows.

Dr. George Miksch Sutton, State Ornithologist at Harrisburg issued a statement today that "Bird-study, in taking one outdoors, in permitting one to deal with beautiful, interesting creatures, in necessitating the accurate recording of notes, in demanding close observation—leads one to the unfolding of interests which, though they be only avocational may yet be of great importance to the human being."

Bird Study may begin anywhere. Even a city has its birds. At Philadelphia the rare Duck Hawk is sometimes seen perched on the city hall, where it watches for pigeons! Bird students at Harrisburg last year recorded some very rare birds—one of them a Henslow's Sparrow which was caught by a cat!

Boy and Girl Scouts want to study birds first of all because they like the little wild creatures of field and wood. As they grow older they realize more keenly the value of these same birds, not alone from the economic but from the aesthetic standpoint. When a man reaches the prime of life the first song of a Robin in spring signifies the return of life to a world which is weary of short and chilly days.

Already Robins and Bluebirds have been seen at Harrisburg. The Grackles came back yesterday. Soon the good bird students will be seeing Woodpeckers, Flickers, Meadowlarks, Cowbirds, Phoebe, and a host of other early spring arrivals. Following these will come Martins whose winter home is in South America, and troops of other beautiful old friends.

The Game Commission has issued an attractive bulletin which every person interested in birds should have. Write for it. It is entitled "A Year's Program for Bird Protection." We must have more bird students than ever, this year!

Complaints that beggars have been too aggressive in soliciting alms have caused the police of Johannesburg, South Africa, to limit their activities.

New Bulletin On Feeding Game Is Issued By State

Birds Should Have Method Of Escape From Shelters If Attacked

In spite of the fact that early March has had a warm day or two, and Bluebirds have been seen not far from Harrisburg, snow flurries and chill winds remind us that winter has not yet passed. Deep snows may yet fall throughout much of Pennsylvania, particularly in the mountains where winter conditions are always more severe, and where wild birds and animals may need attention, not only from Game Protectors, but from interested sportsmen, farmers, rural mail carriers, Boy Scouts, and others who will want to take food to them.

The Game Commission has just issued an attractive and practical bulletin entitled "More Food for Upland Game," which has been written by W. Garret Conklin and James N. Morten of the Bureau of Refugees and Lands. The cover of the bulletin shows a Wild Turkey (in color) feeding in the deep snow, upon field corn on the cob which has been struck on a sharpened stick by an interested sportsman. Feeding corn to game in this manner is only one of the many methods of feeding suggested in the bulletin. Several kinds of hopper and shelter of the sort described but fully diagrammed so that the least experienced person may know how to go about locating and erecting a feeding station for game and other wild creatures.

The important point is made that however well a feeding station is built or however properly it is placed as regards sunlight, wind, etc., it is never properly situated or built unless proper provision is made for the quick escape of the game in the event it is pursued by natural enemies. A shelter may be ever so good, in most respects, but if it permits the cornering of a convey of quail by a gray fox it will furnish little more than bait for the fox, since such predatory animals as these learn where the birds are feeding and naturally gravitate toward places of the sort.

The interesting stove-pipe shelter which was invented by the Blair County Fish and Game Protective Association, is shown. This active sportsmen's organization has been especially conscientious in their winter program of feeding game. One year, in order to reach the Wild Turkeys in the mountainous districts, they chartered an airplane and dropped corn in sacks on the crusted snow. In this bulletin a complete list of foods which may be given to various game birds and animals is presented, and the problem of planting trees and shrubs which will produce proper game food is fully considered. All in all it is one of the best publications on this subject which has appeared, and it is hoped that its circulation will be wide. Requests for the bulletin addressed to the Board of Game Commissioners will receive prompt attention.

The old-timers said a man couldn't live on his reputation, but that was before optimists were invented.

Busy Scenes At Fisher Brothers Factory Out On Butler Road

TRIP THROUGH PLANT MOST INTERESTING

Miles of cloth and a whirling of machines, stacks of pants and shirts and overalls, and over 100 girls intent on their own individual piece of work. This is a sketchy picture of the factory of the Fisher Brothers, Inc., located out on the Butler road.

Passing by the plant in an automobile one sees an enormous brick building with little to indicate the beehive of activity inside. But a trip into the plant reveals one of the busiest places in the county.

Daily, thousands of garments are turned out for sale in the 12 stores now operated by Fisher Brothers, and each month or so sees another store added to the chain, with a subsequent increase in production at the plant. It's an interesting sight. Laid out on tables are long stretches of cloth. Instead of cutting them in single strips, 15 or 20 strips are piled up and an automatic knife cuts through them with a speed no human could hope to attain.

At one set of machines are girls making up overalls. Another set makes the trousers, still another is turning out caps, another underwear, and over in the corner huge piles of gaily designed cloths are being turned into flashy neckties.

The speed with which the machines work is dazzling, the accuracy of the girls handling them is reflected in the garments turned out by them.

Fisher Bros. Inc., is a New Castle firm. Three brothers, Dan, Mike and Edward, have built up in the past ten years a business that is truly amazing. The plant on the Butler road which is under the management of Mike Fisher and the superintendency of L. S. McNab, would be a credit to any city. The fact that it is owned and operated by New Castle men is more cause for credit.

But to get back to the original thought, it is a busy place. And it is very possible that the tie you have on, the cap, or the trousers were made out there.

Mellon's Son Writes

Paul Mellon, son of Andrew Mellon, Pittsburgh multi-millionaire who is secretary of the treasury, is thinking of his future. Young Mellon, who is to be graduated from Yale in June, has won several literary prizes and therefore may choose a writing instead of a business career.

Council To View Cascade Street

White Points Out That Council Should Act Immediately On View

For a few brief minutes during council session at City hall today it appeared as though council had a fear of mud—but after Solicitor White had persistently pointed out that they should view Cascade street they consented to place their tributes in gumboots and view the thoroughfare, recently graded.

He told council there is some claim for damage.

"We must take appeals," he declared. He said: "I want city council to go there. In fact we have to go." White reminded the council that the voters report has been filed several weeks.

"I only have 30 days to work on it. It takes time for these things," he declared.

One of the councilmen thought there would be too much mud.

"Better wait until it freezes," said another.

They were informed that there isn't much mud on the Washington street end of Cascade street where the damages are claimed.

"You have heard the evidence. You are more qualified to go," said Acting Mayor Burns.

"I am taking a real estate man with me," said White but he reminded council that "council should not leave these things entirely to me."

Council then consented to go on the view.

Philippine Islands Job May Be Given To Colonel Roosevelt

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt May Get Post Vacated By Henry L. Stimson

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, March 15.—A quiet campaign to make Col. Theodore Roosevelt governor-general of the Philippines has made its appearance here. How successful it will be remains to be seen.

The Philippines post was originally offered to Col. William J. Donovan, assistant attorney general, after President Hoover removed him from the cabinet slate. Donovan declined the post.

Among the backers of Col. Roosevelt are said to be his sister, Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, and Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, who is to take her seat in congress on April 15. There are many well-known politicians in Washington who in the past have had less influence in such matters than Mrs. Longworth and Mrs. McCormick.

Roosevelt has been out of public life since his defeat for the governorship of New York by Governor Al Smith several years ago. Prior to that he was assistant secretary of the navy.

The Philippines post is one of the best in government service, so far as salary goes. It commands $20,000 a year and a splendid palace.

Lindbergh Leaves Brownsville, Texas

(International News Service) BROWNVILLE, Tex., March 15.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh took off from the local airport today at 10:06 for an unannounced destination. He headed north after dipping in salute to the record crowd of 2,000 persons that had gathered at the field. Col. Lindbergh was accompanied to the airport by Col. S. C. Johnson, commandant at Fort Brown.

The Long And Short Of It - By Laird

To bob or not to bob was the question of yesteryear. Now the burning issue is whether womanhood shall stay bobbed or let the mane grow.

A beauty expert, addressing a group of her associates, declared that there are only three kinds of women who have long hair, those who think the bob is too expensive, the young girl who wants to show that she can grow long hair, and the woman who has not yet found the short hair mode that is becoming.

Women have been advocating their "rights" for quite some time. Their right to vote, for instance. When they got it many of them decided it wasn't so effective a weapon after all, and men upbraided them for making such a howl about the franchise and then not immediately reforming the world with it.

Women have "suffered" with long hair for generations, largely because the Bible said "the glory of a woman is her hair." It does not say "of her long hair," but women took it for granted that short hair could not be beautiful and kept it long.

But they have become emancipated in that, too, and have found the beauty and convenience of short hair, but all of them are not satisfied.

The real secret is that if a woman thinks short hair is becoming she will wear it short. If she decides that long hair enhances her beauty and makes her more desirable, she will wear her hair long, and that's the long and short of it.

St. Mary's Troop Of Scouts Formed

Instituted Last Night At Enthusiastic Meeting In Church Basement

St. Mary's Troop No. 50, Boy Scouts of America, was instituted last night at an enthusiastic meeting of boys of the congregation held in the basement of the church.

Last Sunday at all the Masses at St. Mary's Church, Rev. F. S. Clifford called the meeting held last night for the purpose of organizing a troop of Boy Scouts. No personal solicitation was made through the school.

The beginning was most auspicious.

There is in the making two troops, as there were fifty-five boys present of Scout age, twelve to sixteen years of age and sixteen boys present under Scout age.

The organization of St. Mary's Troop was begun by R. F. Davis, Scout Commissioner. The interest evidenced by the boys during his very instructive speech on Scouting, amply repaid him for his visit.

The charter inaugurating St. Mary's Troop No. 50, Boy Scout of America, was signed by John Maher, chairman, Michael Martin, Peter Capitolo and William Blattman.

Twenty-six boys were registered: James Denny, Richard Quinn, Thomas Joyce, William Sullivan, Thomas McMullen, Frances Quinn, James Casey, Joseph Quinn, E. Winterbottom, P. Gravenstrater, Joseph Frazer, John Babcock, Joseph Lowley, Francis Davies, Arson Armond, Francis Robottom, Paul Mills, Frank Vandreau, William Boyle, Virgil Sanders.

Thomas Roman, Martin Roman, James Travers, John O'Laughlin and Thomas Flynn.

Mr. Davis was assisted by Vincent Gardner and Lawrence Martin, assistant scoutmasters. The next organization meeting will be held Thursday evening, March 21, 1929, at seven o'clock in the basement of St. Mary's Church.

Of every 100 automobiles taken into Greece in a recent month, 89 were from America.

More than 20,000,000 pairs of shoes were manufactured in Canada last year.

Rev. P. C. Pearson Has Unique Theme For Sunday Night

Exceptions Taken To Opinion Of Court

The striking, unusual subject "Is there a cross against your name?" will be the sermon topic at the popular service in Trinity church next Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The Rev. Philip C. Pearson will deal with one of the greatest mysteries of the Christian religion and one of the most difficult problems of the Christian life. Put into practice it would solve one of the most pressing problems in New Castle today, bringing greater prosperity to our city and more happiness to our people. What alone can settle industrial strife? What alone can bring happiness in the home? Understanding among people? Those who share in the discussion of this topic will find Christianity not a high sounding theoretical thing, but a practical solvent of every day difficulties.

Tonight at 7:45 at the discussion:

Iowa To Deport Alien Convicts As Prisons Fill

By ARTHUR B. DONEGAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

DES MOINES, March 15.—Deportation of alien criminals and those wanted in other states has been advanced to Gov. John Hammill by the state parole board as a drastic means of relieving congestion in Iowa's prisons.

The parole board has recommended to the governing that twenty-seven aliens, now serving sentences in the state prison, be deported and that twenty-six others be transferred to penitentiaries in other states where they are sought by police.

U. S. to Pay
Only those who have served substantial terms in Iowa prisons for crimes committed in this state have been recommended for deportation. Ernest Hamilton, chairman of the parole board, said.

Costs of deportation of the aliens will be assumed by the federal government, the parole official said. If the governor approves the recommendation of the board, it is understood that Gov. Hammill is in harmony with the idea of the parole board, believing that all the prisoners mentioned for deportation have served long enough to satisfy for crimes committed in Iowa, and that their deportation would relieve the state both of a financial burden and congestion in the state penitentiary.

27 To Be Deported
Of the twenty-seven recommended for deportation, 12 would be returned to Mexico; 6 to Canada; 1 to Serbia; 1 to Germany; 1 to Scotland; 3 to Italy; 1 to Sweden; 1 to Austria-Hungary and 1 to France.

Most of the twenty-six prisoners sought to be transferred to other states are wanted for escape or violation of parole, while a number of them are sought by federal authorities.

For their transfer, it will be necessary to suspend sentences so that authorities seeking them may take them into custody at the state prison or the men's reformatory.

Claim Thompson Still Holds Assets

Petition Declares Bankrupt Uniontown Man Has Assets Not Listed

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, March 15.—J. V. Thompson, former Uniontown coal baron, now bankrupt, still has assets valued at several million dollars which were not listed with the trustees of the bankrupt estate, according to a petition filed Thursday before Attorney Watson B. Adair, referee in bankruptcy.

On petition of the trustees, Referee Adair has set April 8 as the date for questioning several witnesses who are said to know of assets not reported to the trustees. The petition states that one witness, valued the assets as high as $5,000,000 and another placed the value at $3,000,000.

In presenting the petition the trustees said that while little credence was placed in the statements, they believe it their duty to have the witnesses questioned by the referee. Representatives of approximately 1,700 creditors attended a hearing before the referee Thursday at which time the subject of claims were discussed. The trustees of the bankrupt state presented another petition on claims. It is alleged many claims were paid by securities and have not been stricken from the records. The discussion was to eliminate those who have been paid. The meeting was continued until March 22.

Child's Personality Is Dependent On Parents

(International News Service)
ALBANY, N. Y., March 15.—Development of a child's personality depends in a great measure upon the behavior of parents in the home, and conversely, a child's behavior affects family life and influences the attitudes of parents to each other, according to Dr. Ruth Andrus, director of parental education in the child study department of the State Education department.

These observations were made following a survey of parent-child relations conducted by Dr. Andrus in many of the larger communities of the state.

Penn. Mother Has Problem

As a rule, milk is about the best food for children, but there are times when they are much better off without it. It should always be left off when children show by feverish, fretful or cross spells, by bad breath, coated tongue, sallow skin, indigestion, biliousness, etc., that their stomach and bowels are out of order.

In cases like this, California Fig Syrup never fails to work wonders, by the quick and gentle way it removes all the souring waste which is causing the trouble, regulates the stomach and bowels and gives these organs tone and strength so they continue to act normally, of their own accord. Children love its rich, creamy flavor and its purely vegetable and harmless, even for babies.

Millions of mothers have proved its merit and reliability in over 50 years of steadily increasing use. A Pennsylvania mother, Mrs. Mary West, 5416 Spring St., Philadelphia, says: "My little son, Paul's tendency to constipation was a problem to me until I began giving him California Fig Syrup. It helped him right away and soon his stomach and bowels were acting perfectly. Since then I've never had to have any advice about his bowels. I have also used California Fig Syrup with my other two, with equal success."

To be sure of getting the genuine, which physicians endorse, always ask for California Fig Syrup by the full name.

Glennon Death Reminds Of Old N. Y. Tenderloin

NEW YORK, March 15.—Eddie Glennon is dead!

That means nothing to the modern generation of New Yorkers. To old-timers, however, the mention of Glennon brings memories of gang warfare, a free and open tenderloin, vice and graft.

Eddie Glennon, or properly speaking, Police Captain Edward Glennon, was the czar of the tenderloin when New York was a "wide open" town. He was the friend of Commissioner "Big Bill" Devery, the only man inside or outside of the police department that "the boss" trusted, and no policeman dared question his words or orders.

Rose Steadily
Glennon was born in Second avenue and was appointed to the police department as a patrolman in 1885. Surely, but surely, he ascended the ladder until he became a captain. Although he had never drawn a salary larger than $1,400 Glennon is said to have died a rich man.

Along with Devery he was dismissed from the force for neglect of duty in 1894 when complaints were made that they failed to suppress resorts in the tenderloin. In 1895 both men were reinstated.

He was again found guilty of neglect of duty in 1903. He appealed to the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, which affirmed the conviction.

Wins New Trial
The Court of Appeals reversed the decision and ordered a new trial, which resulted in his acquittal.

A month later he was reinstated by Commissioner Greene and sent to the old Mulberry Street Station as a patrolman. Within the next two years he retired on a pension. Glennon was seventy-two years old. He died from a heart attack. For the last few years he had lived in comparative obscurity in an uptown apartment.

Health Department Gets New Quarters

(International News Service)
NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 15.—The department of health finally is to have adequate quarters. President James R. Angell recently told Yale alumni that the health department would have "a new and beautiful building designed specifically to meet its needs for the construction of which the University has already received the assurance of a number of gifts."

The building is to be erected on College street where the health department has been struggling for years in dwelling houses of an ancient construction.

Intoxicated Driver Dangerous As Gunman

(International News Service)
INDIANAPOLIS, March 15.—"A man who drives an automobile while he is under the influence of intoxicating liquor is actually as dangerous as a crazy man with a machine gun."

This was the statement made by Governor Harry G. Leslie, Indiana's new governor, in a letter which he wrote to Paul R. Benson of New Castle, Ind., prosecutor of Henry County, explaining why he denied executive clemency to Dewey Whitehead of New Castle who was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to serve ninety days at the Indiana State farm by the Henry County court for driving a car while he was drunk.

A probe showed that Whitehead had twice before been sentenced to serve thirty days in jail for driving while drunk.

"After spending hundreds of dollars seeking relief, I found glorious health in a dollar's worth of this wonderful new medicine. Konjola," said Mr. William Madigan, 1026 Cascade street, Erie, Pa.
The rheumatic pains affected me so much that for a long time I was confined to a chair—just a suffering invalid. Lately my stomach, liver and kidneys became affected to some extent. It was a hopeless situation for a man of my years. At seventy-six, of course I tried medicines galore, but I might as well have taken so much water for all the relief they afforded me.
I decided to try Konjola as a last chance for betterment and was most pleasantly surprised when it benefited me almost immediately. I was soon able to walk around. Konjola strengthened my stomach, liver and kidneys and banished

Going To Rescue Of Girl Arrested Up In Maine Woods

Brother-In-Law Hopes To Straighten Out Unusual Love Tangle Of Couple

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, March 15.—Charles Gallagher, a brother-in-law of Katherine Roche, 21, who was found in the Maine woods with Frederick W. Lawson, 27, Dedham, Mass., prepared to go to the rescue of the girl.

The latter, with Lawson, is locked up in the Machias, Me., jail following their arrest after four months of love in the Maine woods, where both suffered privations from lack of food.

Gallagher will seek to obtain the release of his sister-in-law, who received a sentence of one month when she was unable to pay the fine of $10 first imposed. The couple have assured authorities they will marry as soon as they are released from jail.

Gallagher revealed that Miss Roche came to this country from Ireland five years ago and for some time lived at the home of a sister in North Philadelphia. Some time ago she left saying she was going to Newark, N. J. From that time until word was received here of her arrest nothing was heard of her. Relatives here said they did not know Lawson.

More School Days For Connecticut Children

(International News Service)
HARTFORD, Conn., March 15.—Six days more of school per year, the state board of education in Connecticut believes, are necessary to give the modern child the requisite public school education, and that addition to the school is being asked of the legislature. The frequency of holidays, the increasing sums being spent on schools, and the enriched curriculum are urged as the reasons for the increase in the days of attendance required.

For many years Connecticut schools have required an average of 184 days a year attendance; under the proposed law 190 days would be required.

Seven of every 10 available workers in Peru were employed in agriculture during the past season.

To Give Inexpensive China and Glassware Brilliant Sparkle

Simple New Way Does Wonders and Is Kind to Pretty Hands—Use Any Ordinary Soap

Even the most inexpensive table china and glassware can be made to look far better than its price in a simple way. It can be given the brilliancy and sparkle of the most costly kind; and glassware particularly is judged by its sparkle.
Simply add one teaspoonful of the cleaning preparation called Climax to your water. Use the same soap you ordinarily do, but use only ONE-FOURTH the usual quantity. Wash as usual.
This preparation is a grease dissolver, while soap is, strictly speaking, a grease. Thus it gives shine and sparkle while soap often leaves a greasy film that's hard to get rid of even with the most careful drying.
Most hotels use this method to make glass and china gleam. Housewives like it not only for this reason, but because it acts to soften and whiten skin fabric of the hands.

Results are surprising. Try it. Get at any grocery store in 10c or 25c package. Just ask your grocer for CLIMAX.

Idol May Prove Asiatics Here Before Whites

(International News Service) SEATTLE, March 15.—The University of Washington and the American Museum of Natural History may excavate a portion of road north of Seattle in an effort to find further data concerning the discovery of an ancient Chinese "Fo Dog," supposedly 700-year-old idol which may be a link in establishing the theory that Asiatics were the first inhabitants of the Pacific coast.

The "Fo Dog" was uncovered by W. W. Scott of Lake City, while he was engaged in road excavation work. It was ploughed up at a depth of seven feet in virgin ground.

Photographs of the idol were sent to the American Museum by Rev. Vincent H. Gowens, lecturer on oriental studies at the University of Washington. The museum has since identified the talisman as Chinese, possibly dating back as far as 1500 A. D.

Household God
The idol has been known from time immemorial as a household god in China. Imaged in stone, it was often placed before dwellings to protect the inmates from evil spirits.

Archaeological experts, though slow to declare themselves, evinced great interest in the find. If it can be shown that the image is a true relic of ancient Americans, a big step will have been made in establishing the forbearers of Northwest Indians, they said.

The theory that the ancient carving may have been buried at a comparatively recent time in a Chinaman's grave would not have supporting evidence if it was pointed out. There was no evidence of bones or a grave having been built, and the depth, seven feet, negated the idea.

At the same time and place, Scott said, an object which appeared to be a Chinese Buddha was turned up, but his scrapper crushed and pulverized the idol before it could be retrieved.

Before Columbus, the most striking indication that the find antedates Columbus' advent to America is a tiny inscription on the bottom of the idol. Part of it is the name of an ancestral hall or a guild of medieval artisans, he declared. The remainder of the inscription declares the image was made by the descendants of one Kao Chi.

Gowens is anxious to submit the find to Roy Chapman Andrews, noted for his explorations in the Gobi desert of China and who is expected as a visitor to Seattle in the near future.

Girl Sets Many Dancing Records

(International News Service) INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 15.—What are believed to be several world's dancing records were established by Miss Emma Alves, 25, of this city, in five dance marathons since last August.

The young woman has just completed a terpsichorean grind in a marathon at Dayton, Ohio, that lasted 1,565 hours for a new world's record. Her Dayton record raised her marathon dancing to 3,682 hours in the last seven months with only sixteen hours of rest.

For all this labor, endurance and fortitude she has received about 5 cents an hour, a gold medal or two a sweater proclaiming her to be the world's champion dancer, and impaired health.

"But the prize money is so uncertain," she said. "Often the winners of a hoof contest find that the promoters hoofted it off with the cash. Here's Emma's 'form sheet'."

Days' Casino, Indianapolis—388 hours, first place; Muncie, Ind., marathon—324 hours, first place; Tomlinson Hall, Indianapolis—515 hours, fourth place; Lexington, Ky., marathon—380 hours, first place; Dayton, Ohio, marathon—1,565 hours, first place.

Religious Group To Print Bible

(International News Service) NEW YORK, March 15.—In an effort to guard the text of the American Standard version of the Bible, control of the copyright for its printing has been transferred from Thomas Nelson and Sons, who have held it for 28 years, to the International Council of Religious Education. The latter is an interdenominational organization representing 41 Protestant communions.

The transfer will also insure the Bible's transmission to posterity in ungarbled form and provide for authoritative and inter-denominational control of any future revisions.

Under the new arrangement it is assured that the American Standard Bible will not be published promiscuously and in garbled form by any publisher who desires to publish a Bible.

The danger of promiscuous publishing of the Bible has been demonstrated many times. In 1860 in England there was published the "Wicked Bible" which omitted the word "not" from the seventh commandment. This issue became infamous and its publication stopped by royal decree.

Bulls Control Market Today

Stock Market Sailing Along At Six-Million-Share Clip

By W. S. COUSINS
International News Service
Financial Editor

NEW YORK, March 15.—Bulls in the stock market set a dizzy pace for the motor, steel and specialty stocks today, whipping up the market to a 6,000,000-share pace and marking up prices of their favorite stocks to the highest levels of the year. A combination of favorable factors helped to accumulate an unusually large volume of buying orders overnight, and the first half-hour's turnover was close to a million and a quarter shares. After a brief period of profit-taking, the uprush was resumed in the early afternoon, with the copper stocks again in the lead.

Mad Scramble
The mad scramble for stocks at the beginning of the session equaled anything that has been seen in any of the bulls markets since 1927. Brokers were literally swept off their feet in their frantic attempts to fill their orders for the speculative favorites which led the upward movement in the first part of the week.

Radio, General Motors and Kennecott stood head and shoulders over the rest of the market in the wild churning of speculative stocks on the big board. Though there were no wide changes in prices, trading was in enormous volume, with numerous 5,000 to 20,000 share blocks in the transactions of the day. General Motors started the session with the sale of a 35,000 share block at 90, up 4 points from Thursday's close, but selling pressure drove this big leader back to 88. Chrysler and Nash were active and strong.

A new 1,000,000-share pool in new radio stock, recently formed in the financial district, carried on most of the market fireworks in the new radio shares. The stock sold up a few points, with old radio soaring 13 points to 614, the highest price on record.

Kennecott's new 4-point jump to 102 was the feature of the coppers, through Anaconda boomed along to 59.

The move in the rubber and tire stocks, Goodyear above 140, for a new 4-point gain. United States Rubber sold above 62, up 2 points for the day and 20 points from the low of the year. Goodrich and Pisk were turned over actively from the start.

Oil leaders in Houston recommended a 350,000-barrel daily curtailment in crude oil output before May first, in addition to the production then in effect. Most of the oil stocks sold higher today. Though the oils as a class were comparatively inactive, Mexican Seaboard made a grandstand play in its sharp advance to above 54 and Pan American Petroleum B was well bought at 46.

About a broom's length from the planet and the moon was the beautiful Venus, the queen of the night.

The position of these bodies seemed very unusual and many people were heard to comment upon the beautiful picture today.

Bells Keep Him Awake At Night

City To Ask P. R. R. Officials To Have Bells Controlled Better

Councilman Walter V. Tyler today informed colleagues during formal council session at city hall that a

Mr. Bailey, Liberty street, mill employe, had complained of bells ringing on engines in the P. R. R. yards at Mahoning avenue.

According to the complaint presented to Tyler, Bailey said switch engines operate during the night.

They get on the crossing and bells ring constantly while the crews go to the yard office.

He alleged further, according to Tyler, that when the trains block the crossing the din of auto horns adds to the nuisance.

Tyler explained that Bailey had told him of asking the P. R. R. officials to have the ringing of bells stopped.

No action has resulted, Bailey told Tyler, the latter said.

"I imagine that Solicitor White may bring Mr. Bailey some relief," he said and White was instructed to communicate with the P. R. R. officials.

Mexico Air Mail To Extend Over Entire Country

By RICHARD C. WILSON
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WICHITA, Kas., March 15.—Air mail and passenger service will be extended to virtually every important city of Mexico this year through the development of a $10,000,000 air transport company financed by Mexican capital and aided by the Mexican government.

Air service will make it possible for tourists afraid of attack from Mexican bandits lurking in the mountainous regions of the southern republic to travel with safety and speed.

A fleet of cabin planes, constructed especially for use in the higher altitude of Mexico, is under construction at the Knoll Aircraft company factory here. The first plane of the fleet, a four passenger ship with baggage compartment, was delivered a few days ago. A total of 35 cabin planes will be turned out for Inter-Americas de Transportes Aereos this summer.

Joffre First Passenger.
Javier S. Joffre, 29-year-old president of Inter-Americas, was a passenger in the first plane. This correspondent was a guest passenger from Wichita to Fort Worth.

Joffre was educated and received his business training in this country. With only a strong belief in the future of Mexican commercial aviation, he returned to his native land after giving up an excellent post with a large San Francisco corporation. Capitalization of the Inter-Americas company for 20 million pesos resulted. Joffre received much support from Senator E. del Valle, president of the Mexican National Railways, who has been made vice president of Inter-Americas.

Contracts Made.
The first move by Joffre was to purchase 110 acres of land near one of 54 cities and develop his own airports. Contracts for mail and express service between these cities have already been made with President Portes of Mexico. Later, Joffre hopes to establish air mail connections with Central American countries and with air lines on the Pacific coast of the United States.

There is only one other large commercial aviation company in Mexico. It is the Mexican Company of Aviation, a subsidiary of Pan-American Airways. This company operates mail and passenger service between Mexico City and Brownsville, Texas.

Stock Rises.
The faith of Mexican investors in commercial aviation was shown by the rapid rise in the price of stock in the Mexican Company of Aviation. Its stock was first placed on the market at 10 pesos per share. Today it is quoted at 410 pesos and none is for sale.

Because of the rugged country, railroad trips in Mexico are long and tiresome. Many trips requiring 15 to 25 hours by rail can be made in two or three hours by air. For this reason, Joffre's venture has received gratifying support from the large mining, oil and fruit companies operating in Mexico.

Joffre is using pilots trained in transport service in this country at the start. Few Mexican pilots have had much experience with cabin planes in commercial flying work, he said.

Make Report On Lancaster Plan

Board Members Hear Of Opportunity Work Plan In Lancaster

Following an inspection trip to the city of Lancaster, for the purpose of investigating the opportunity work in the school of that city, the committee of the New Castle school board which made the trip, made a report to the school board on Thursday evening.

The committee was composed of Mrs. Rose M. Notdurft, Roy M. Hazen and Daniel B. Woolcock. The report described the work in Lancaster, saying that it was housed in a former church building. Here the educational needs of under-developed children were administered, and after the inspection the committee was satisfied that the glowing report of the state department of public instruction was well founded.

The purpose of the visit was to see if some plan could not be worked out in New Castle for opportunity work. On motion of Director Hazen the board voted to continue the investigation here, and the same committee will survey the schools here, with a view to providing educational aid for those boys and girls who are not as far advanced in class work as they should be.

Play Cast Lead In Auto Crash

While returning to Bessemer with materials to be used in the high school junior play that evening, the car driven by Jacob Levinson, leading character in the play, crashed into a fence on the Mt. Jackson road just beyond the Mahoning river bridge on Thursday afternoon.

Young Levinson and several other boys in the car narrowly escaped injury and the car was badly damaged when it slid on the wet concrete of the sharp curve and swerved into the guard rail, breaking several posts.

Drake Appears Before Solons

Describes Water Condition At Beaver, Leasure Avenues

TYLER'S MOTION CALLS FOR VIEW

Attorney Homer C. Drake today represented Martin Ketola, Leasure avenue, when council convened in City hall today and described a water condition that exists in the thoroughfare. He requested the city to remedy the situation. Council voted to view the alleged nuisance.

According to Mr. Drake the situation exists in Leasure, between Mercer street and Wilmington avenue. He said that Ketola owns a lot on the northeast corner of Beaver and Leasure.

He cited that there is a run which comes from a spring which has its origin above Garfield avenue and Drake said he believes that it had been brought under Garfield and goes over Beaver north of Leasure.

He said that someone had put in a pipe from the west side of Beaver which leads across Leasure and runs into another lot on the southside and Ketola would like the city to furnish him with pipe.

Solicitor White declared the city had not put in the pipe from the west side of Beaver and Councilman Reeves declared that it probably was the work of the land promoters.

White declared the situation a "second Euclid avenue problem" and added that "the city can take over the water courses but would have to maintain them, if such was done."

Councilman Burns said the matter could be referred to a committee during which session council could decide whether the city of New Castle should furnish the pipe to the property owner.

"We are under no obligation to put in a sewer at Sheridan and Albert, either," said White referring generally to conditions. "Except that we assumed to take the sewer up to the Taylor property," declared Burns.

Talk Simultaneously.

All of the councilmen commenced talking simultaneously. One talked of the Sheridan, Euclid, Albert street situation and other voices discussed the Leasure matter presented by Attorney Drake.

It finally developed through a query by Burns to Solicitor White that the latter believes the city should take control of the open water courses.

He said that in the past councils have refused to do this.

Councilman Tyler demanded the floor and then presented a motion that council view the situations before taking any action.

"We did pass a motion like this before but I think we forgot to do it," said Davies.

He evidently referred to the Euclid avenue situation.

"All right, let us view it," stated White.

"I move that the solicitor and city engineer accompany us" was a second motion presented and passed.

Drake presented another matter to council. He stated that since the grading of Leasure avenue the corner of the Jefferson street sidewalk has been covered with dirt and he said that G. W. Lusk would like the situation remedied.

Solicitor White explained that the grades on Leasure and Jefferson do not meet.

He asked that Lusk present a plan showing what he desires the city to do.

Paid For Leasure

White added that with the plan Lusk should present a petition from property owners regarding damages for any change in grade.

"Let them map it out," said Mr. Tyler, adding: "This thing of spending money to improve and then paying damages for it, is not right."

White told council that Lusk had received $2,150 damages for Leasure avenue.

Attorney Drake contended that had nothing to do with the Jefferson street situation.

Solicitor White would not express an opinion.

Drake next presented the case of the Larson property, stating it sat high in Leasure between Beaver and Wilmington.

He built it before the grading was actually done," said White. He said that Larson had received $114 benefits. Drake said Larson was damaged to that amount.

"The city won't pay him if I can help it," said White.

The sum and substance of the Drake appearance is that council will view the section and also go on a view to Euclid avenue as a result of the reminder today that they had promised to do so but had not found time to do it yet.

FINDS TOO MUCH DANCING MAY BE HARD ON NERVES

Educator Says Habitual "Jazz Hounds" Mentally Deficient

CHICAGO, March 15.—Dr. Edward C. Elliott of Purdue University, told the North Central Association of Colleges that persons who frequent dance halls twice a week or more may be mentally deficient and nervous.

"Dancing is all right if carried on in moderation," said Dr. Elliott, "but those who habitually go to Saturday night and Sunday night dances are likely to lack inward growth. Besides, they are generally nervous and fidgety and want to be on the go all the time."

Dr. Elliott pointed out that in his contact with "famous youth" he found there seemed to be a greater amount of restlessness than there had been in years before. Persons could sit with their hands "folded up" then, they cannot today.

"Not that it is a virtue to sit still," he said, "but it shows an ability to control one's nerves. We are more nervous today. Excessive jazz dancing is the cause."

Although dancing is popular, the art of walking has practically become extinct, according to Dr. Elliott. People will take their cars out to ride to the corner instead of exercising their feet and legs, he said.

People respected the law more in the old days. They never were caught in speed traps.

Daily Lenten Devotion

Topic "LENT AND MY GOD AND FATHER."

Memory Verse for Friday.

"He is my God—my father's God" (Exodus 15:2) (Read Psalm 63:1 to 8 and Acts 17:22 to 28.)

MEDITATION: My God is mine as He was my father's. He is a part of my inheritance. He belongs to me. That may mean that His manifestation in the world may be limited by my imperfect knowledge by my capacity for knowing. But that does not distress me. To know God is an endless voyage of discovery an infinite exploration. But that I do not know the whole world takes nothing from the reality of my home and the familiar hills. So I may be content with the "parts of His ways which are familiar. So much is real, so much is mine to enjoy now and forever. I know in part but I know, I must not forget for when I forget my possessions, let me rest now in my riches for I have God.

PRAYER: O God whom the heaven of heavens cannot contain, yet dost design to give Thyself to me, continue to make a dwelling place in my heart. For if I lose Thee, then I am poor indeed. Never leave me nor forsake me, O my God, Amen.

Drinks Carboic Acid; Tongue Paralyzed

(International News Service)
NEWPORT Ind., March 15.—Dependent over illness Marie Anglemeyer, pretty 22-year-old young woman, here drank carboic acid but instead of finding death found lifelong muteness.

Quick treatment saved the girl's life but physicians found that the acid had so terribly burned her tongue and mouth that her tongue was paralyzed. She cannot move it. Physicians say she will never be able to speak again.

Remove Steps To Capitol Building

(International News Service)
ALBANY, N. Y., March 15.—The famous stone staircase at the front of the Capitol here, the numerical potency of whose steps made it more ornamental than useful, is to be removed and a new facade constructed. Plans to this effect are now in the architectural stage, and actual demolition or removal of the steps will be started within six months. Superintendent of Public Works, Col. Frederick S. Greene has announced.

Your Broadway and Mine BY WALTER WINCHELL

(Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News)

NEW YORK, March 15.—You've probably read in the newspapers that Demaris Dore is better known along the Main Artery as "Hotzy-Totsy," a tag given her because of her stage style and pep, zip and torrid warbling. Now she is reported saying she saw the Fatty Walsh shooting, and the police have questioned her. She has "walked out" of more shows and cafe revues than perhaps any other local entertainer, because she is difficult to handle, although her longest stay was at the Privilege Club before it was Mabel Willibrand, where she enticed handsome trade.

She is a clever lass, and should have clicked in a big way long ago. Her career probably will be in tatters before the mystery murder in Miami is solved.

She has been most testified against Peachy Browning at White Plains, but got no further than the first pages.

She crashed the newspapers during the Ruth Snyder-Judd Gray affair, too, having told reporters: "I think I once saw them in our night club."

Now she is a part of the Miami mixup, and with all the so-called publicity she has received she cannot find a job!

JUST SO MUCH GREEK
Devoting at least four years to the manuscript of his play, "Young Alexander" (during which time, it is reliably said, he altered it 17 times), Harold Neving has had the piece produced at the Baltimore. It stars Henry Hull and features A. E. Anson, and not a few of the auditors appeared to find it diverting enough the first night, for they responded with persistent handclapping at the end of the first scene in the last episode.

Just what prompted the lingering applause was not quite clear to at least one of us, who found "Young Alexander" a windy and witless play. True, its initial act was crowded with arresting dialogue and good pretending, which offered promise of a satisfying evening, but in the following act it limped trying to be gay—in the comic-strip manner.

It never quite caught its breath again after that. It proved just so much tedium, hurried beneath an avalanche of words. "The Road to Rome" and "Margo Millions" had robbed "Young Alexander" of the novelty it probably believed it contained, anyhow. Modern chatter in togas, helmets and shields is a bit tiresome when it fails to pack the rhythm, tempo and appeal that those successful features. One suspects "Young Alexander" will hardly survive.

HAW!
One of Eddie Buzzell's numerous friends, who had a black and blue orb, called to see him back stage at the Vanderbilt last night. The star of "Lady Fingers" looked at the off-color eye and queried:
"How come? Bunk into a door again?"

"No," was the reply. "I got that kissing a bride after the ceremony." "But who ever heard of anyone getting a black eye for kissing a bride after the ceremony?" queried Eddie.

"I know," was the comeback, "but I kissed her three years after!"

MY DINNER PARTNER
Her pretty lips were primed with wit and perilously red:
I longed—I longed to—"Isn't it a lovely day?" I said.

I heard her voice. Oh! So discreet And low, acknowledging That I was right, the days were sweet.

In very early spring.
And neither she nor I revealed By any outward sign The jungle thoughts that lay concealed.

In her heart and in mine.
—Wilfred J. Funk.

IZZY ELINSONISMS
Gold-digger version: "I'll Go Buy as Long as I Have You!"

Paradox: Millions are spent on sound flickers, but they're being produced for a song.

Line to a newly made celebrity: The first hundred cheers are the hardest.

Then there's the Broadway phony whose clothes were so loud he was arrested for passing through a hospital block.

YOU CAN'T
James Quirk was chatting with the father of a lad who was just finishing his college term.

"Do you think," asked Quirk, "that your boy will forget all he learned at college?"

"I hope so," was the response. "He can't make a living necking."

Two birds, believed to be American finches, were caught by sailors on an Atlantic liner during a storm 500 miles off the American coast.

Tax On Home Brew Planned In Missouri

(International News Service)
JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., March 15.—The latest wrinkle in revenue-producing legislation, a "Home Brew Tax" found its way into the legislative maw here this session.

According to William P. Elmer, Republican caucus chairman, and Gray Snyder, Democrat, authors of the proposal, the levy would produce $3,000,000.

The bill seeks to impose a tax of 5 cents per pound upon all brew materials and would be collected through the sale of stamps to retailers.

AFTER WEARY HIKE, SHARK PRODUCTS TO BE SAVED

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., March 15.—Homeless and distracted after hiking to Dover from Tennessee, Mrs. Esther Hooks, 20, and her two children, aged four years and two months, have found a refuge in Tuscarawas county detention home, John Hooks, the woman's husband, who accompanied them, deserted his family after their arrival and a warrant has been issued for his arrest in juvenile court. The Hooks formerly lived in Dover. Mrs. Hooks carried the infant the entire trip.

Valuable products from sharks are to be reclaimed in a factory which is to be erected at Twofold Bay, Australia. It is estimated that nearly $1,500 will be reclaimed in oils, leather and other substances produced from the sharks and other edible fish, many tons of which are caught in that vicinity during the whaling season.

OLDEST FIRE "ENGINE" SHOWN
England's oldest known fire "engine" has just found a home in the London museum. It is a large oval wooden tub, and the water was pumped through an iron pipe in the middle. Originally it rested on a carriage with solid wooden wheels, but these have disappeared. The "engine" was made in London in 1678 for a town in Bedfordshire.

Grove City Takes Census For Church

Report Shows 1577 Families With Church Preference In Borough

GROVE CITY, March 15.—A religious census of Grove City was taken recently by 120 men, and 1,577 families were reported. The work was done in one evening and was preceded by a dinner held in the Presbyterian church.

A summary of the report, which is not complete yet, is as follows: 590 families with preference for the Methodist church, 500 families Presbyterian church, 270 United Presbyterian church, 100 Roman Catholic, 35 Baptists, 30 Lutherans, 10 Episcopalians, seven Reformed church, 15 express preference for scattered denominations and 20 had no preference.

The records of this canvass will be left in the hands of the various ministers for their information. In some cases three different denominations were preferred in one family. While it has been doubted by many that there were 1,500 families in the borough of Grove City, this check-up shows already 1,577, with some others to hear from. Figuring the customary four to a family, from this information it is shown that Grove City's population is well over the 6,000 mark, in spite of the fact that this has been contradicted on many occasions.

BLAST HURTS STUDENT
The condition of Miss Jean Mowry, a student of Grove City College, is somewhat improved today, according to the report from the Grove City hospital, where she was taken following an explosion in the chemistry room of the college Monday afternoon. It was thought for some time that her eyes were affected, but doctors find them improved.

Charges Not Substantiated

Rev. Hegele Makes Statement In Connection With Hearing

PITTSBURGH, March 15.—The Pittsburgh Lutheran Synod committee investigating charges of disloyalty faced by the Rev. George F. Hegele, former pastor of Peace Lutheran church of Dravosburg, today indicated through its chairman, the Rev. W. Seiberling of Homestead, that the charges have not been substantiated. The committee, which conducted a hearing into the charges, will make a formal recommendation to the Rev. Dr. Ellis B. Burgess, synodical president.

In connection with the reports that his congregations sought his resignations, the Rev. Hegele made the following statement: "I never was ousted from my parish nor banished from my synod. I resigned voluntarily on December 3, 1928, to take effect March 1, 1929, called a legal meeting for acceptance and published same under date of December 15, 1928."

"I resigned Dravosburg-St. John's church, which I organized, voluntarily on February 24, 1929."

"I never preached any political sermons from either pulpit."

High School Pupils Pick Out Courses

Elective cards for the 1929 school term are now being made out by the students of the Senior High School according to an announcement from Principal F. L. Orth.

The cards are being filled out now so that it will give the officials of the school plenty of time to make out the schedule for the first semester of the 1929 school term. After the students fill their cards they will be required to have the signature of their parents on the cards.

Elective cards are cards on which the students select their subjects for 1929 from the course of study booklet.

KEEPING SHRINES

Good citizens are interested in the plan for restoring Wakefield, Virginia, the birthplace of George Washington. John D. Rockefeller Jr. has offered more than a hundred thousand dollars if a similar amount or more is raised by public subscription.

Already there is considerable money in hand for the enterprise. It is not enough to preserve for all generations Mt. Vernon, Monticello, the Hermitage of Andrew Jackson, the log cabin of Lincoln near Hodgenville, Ky. There are scores of other spots of the most significant historic interest that must never be allowed to fade out of the memory of men.

Nothing can add more greatly to the appreciation of the republic, nothing can do more to combat indifference to public affairs than the preservation of American shrines. All men make contributions of some sort to their times and their world. Those who do the most are deserving of the deathless honor that is marked in the building of monuments and in the preservation of historic scenes.

A LOCAL ISSUE

Grover Cleveland called the tariff a local issue. Laws are important or unimportant from the place where you sit. James Doran, prohibition commissioner, puts much of the blame for poor prohibition enforcement on local authorities. In some cities corrupt political machines and police departments live on terms of alliance with the underworld. That is only part of the story. The other half of the story is that the cause of bootlegging is the demand for liquor. The buyer makes the market and provokes the methods.

CRIME AND CRIME

Leadville, Colorado, once a pioneer rough-and-ready mining town, has so quieted down in recent years that one justice of the peace has gone to the poor house and another hasn't had a case for two months. So say the news dispatches. All of which makes us think about change in the ways of criminals and crime. Crime in the frontier days was cleaner than it is today. It was a sort of stand-up-and-knock-down affair. Today, with gang warfare and machine guns in the ambush of a sedan, crime seems to be peculiarly the by-product of civilization. As far as criminal activity is concerned, it is a craftier and less wholesome.

Welfare Woman's Pity Played Upon By Slayer To Effect Jail Break

By CHARLES A. EARLEY
Staff Correspondent for Central Press and New Castle News

POTTSVILLE, Pa., March 15.—The role of Good Samaritan, which has brought forth many strange tales of adventure and intrigue, has ended tragically for Mrs. Clara Fessler, 31, demure schoolteacher and welfare worker here. Doing what she said she thought was an act of compassion and mercy for a young and handsome murderer sentenced to die for the slaying of his sweetheart, she furnished him with a gun with which to shoot his way to freedom from the county jail, ten days before he was scheduled to be executed.

The woman, happily married and the mother of two children, now is implicated with Alvarez Miguel, Cuban youth she befriended, and awaits trial for conspiracy as an accomplice in a jail break.

Mrs. Fessler declares she has no regret for what she has done.

Sentenced To Die
Miguel was to die in the electric chair at Rockview penitentiary soon for the murder of Louise Jacks, 19, whom he shot a year ago when, he asserted, she tilted him for another man.

The murderer, the son of a wealthy Cuban sugar cane grower, gained the confidence of Mrs. Fessler last October when she visited the jail with her class of boys and girls. Prior to that time she had indulged in welfare work among prisoners, furnishing them with reading matter and bibles.

Being of a sympathetic nature, Mrs. Fessler, who is attractive and pretty, listened to Miguel's story of woe. She paid him several visits in the prisoner's row and promised to aid him. She furnished him with books on several occasions and exchanged several letters with him.

One day Miguel suggested that she obtain a revolver to help him escape from jail. At first the Good Samaritan demurred, but gave in on condition Miguel would not use any bullets in the weapon and merely use the gun as a fake "scare," officials say she confessed.

How It Was Done
Mrs. Fessler purchased the gun and cut out the inside pages on a bible and buried the weapon in it. On her next trip to the prison she presented it to the man in full view of the guards and the warden, it is alleged.

Miguel escaped by shooting a guard and seriously wounding him. He was recaptured 16 hours later after a gun battle with Pennsylvania state police and detectives. He wounded one patrolman.

Upon Mrs. Fessler's arrest, she not only confessed giving the gun to Miguel, but insisted that she had no ulterior motive in befriending the murderer other than a "full faith in humanity" and a detestation of seeing or hearing of anyone dying in the "chair," according to authorities.

Wonders About It All

"I don't know why I did it. Why didn't I think of what the consequences might be? God knows that I thought I was innocent of any wrongdoing. I should have known that I would have been caught when he escaped," she kept saying over and over in her cell when questioned concerning the affair.

What hurts Mrs. Fessler most, she avers, is that Miguel betrayed her by obtaining bullets with which to wound or kill the guards.

Her courage is stoical.

"If I have to take my medicine, I guess I can take it," she says. "But what about my two kiddies?" Her home is at Summit Station, near here.

Love Is Now Called Secret Of Personality

International News Service
LONDON, March 15.—Love is the secret of personality, according to Dr. Bernard Hollander, the celebrated physician and alienist.

Personality, he said, lecturing to the Ethnological Society, meant a superior individuality, consisting generally in character, qualities and moral influences, and not so much in superiority of intelligence. It was the masculine type that became the leaders of men.

"A man may be very gentlemanly and have no personality," said Dr. Hollander. "A woman may be very beautiful, which will give her individuality but not personality."

"What nearly every man needs is, more personality, more life and love, to be making progress along the lines of his own wishes. There can be no noble personality without love."

"His is the best endowed organization whose affection extends the most widely, and who can love the most intensely."

Connecticut Wants Farragut Flagship

HARTFORD, Conn., March 15.—Connecticut wants the old U. S. S. Hartford transferred to the submarine base at New London from the navy yard at Charleston, S. C. To effect such a transfer the state legislature has adopted a memorial to the President of the United States requesting he issue such an order. The Hartford was Farragut's flagship at Mobile Bay, and served as the flagship of several other admirals. In Connecticut the boat ranks almost with Old Ironsides, now at Charlestown, Mass., navy yard, because it was named for the Connecticut capital and because of the great number of Connecticut men who served on the boat. If President Hoover authorizes the transfer of the boat Connecticut will celebrate its arrival with great gusto.

Start Plans For S. S. Convention

Annual County Gathering To Take Place On June 8

The regular monthly executive committee meeting of the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association was held Thursday evening at the parlor of the Y. W. C. A. with the president, Robert M. Strickler, Jr., presiding and the following members present: County Secretary, Mrs. Wm. J. Marshall; Adult Division Superintendent, John W. Owens; Young Peoples Superintendent, Howard Cox; Administrative Division Superintendent, H. L. Johnson; Wilmington District president, W. M. Armstrong; president Ellwood District, G. J. Davidson; Rev. D. C. Schnebly and Rev. J. Ralph Neale.

The chief matter of discussion was the annual county convention which is to be held at New Wilmington Thursday June 8. A general committee which will also have charge of the program was appointed which consisted of, in addition to the president and secretary, Rev. J. Ralph Neale, John W. Owens, D. C. Schnebly, and W. M. Armstrong. Rev. Neale was to report as to the serving of the meals and the church where the convention would be held.

Quite a number of suggestions were made as to speakers for the program as the entire convention will be given over to noted speakers of instruction and inspiration as well as conferences and inspirational singing. The conventions of previous years have taxed the capacity of the auditoriums where held, and it is anticipated that this will be the case at New Wilmington and in all probability an overflow meeting will be arranged.

It was also brought up at this meeting that plans for next year's activities be considered this year so that at the beginning of the year 1930 a program can be published giving dates of the various Sabbath School events.

Spanish Government Admits That Students Throughout Country Are Agitated

MADRID, March 15.—The demonstrations of striking students throughout Spain has taken on the aspect of a new revolutionary movement in the country, the government admitted today in an official communique.

The communique declared that the government was confident of being able to cope with this latest evidence of antipathy to the dictatorship of General Primo De Rivera.

"Agitators are using the students and labor unions as tools," the communique said. "The movement is supported and encouraged by certain foreign elements whose only desire is to damage Spanish prestige for their own benefit."

Students throughout the country are refusing to attend classes because they are dissatisfied with the present government. There have been numerous clashes between students and the police.

Bessemer Juniors Present Class Play Thursday Evening

Junior Class Members Of Bessemer High School Present Comedy "Sonny-Jane"

Twelve young ladies and young men of the Bessemer high school junior class scored a unique success Thursday evening when they presented before a large audience the newspaper comedy, "Sonny-Jane." Leads were taken by Miss Dennie Radan and Jacob Levinson while the cast was directed by Miss Carol Clark of the school faculty.

The play embodied the excitement of newspaper life and the competition for the scoop of the day. Throughout the three acts there was a constant clash for supremacy in the news field and the sprinkling of comedy made it an exceedingly humorous as well as breathless hour and a half for the audience.

The cast of Junior class students and their roles in the presentation follows:

Charles Mitchell, the enemy—Jacob Levinson.

Real Distillery Is Raided By Sheriff At Lowellville, O.

YOUNGSTOWN, March 15.—Raiding a Lowellville, O., distillery last night, Sheriff Stone and six deputies seized 20,000 gallons of mash and 80 barrels of liquor and arrested two men on charge of operating the place. The distillery is believed to have been one of the chief sources of liquor supply for Youngstown and vicinity.

Pasquale Blessto, Youngstown, and Tony Sappa, Lowellville, are the two men held. Two trucks loaded high with cases and barrels of liquor, and a ton of sugar were brought to the county jail. The 80 barrels of finished product were dumped in the cellar, which was flooded with moonshine whisky.

Police Act To Stop Motor Bus Hopping

Will Put A Stop To Very Dangerous Practice By Boys Of City

Complaints are frequent from the Jolly Bowl district concerning the habit of boys of that section hopping on the rear of the P. and O. buses and in that way endangering their lives. Drivers of the buses report that it interferes with their operation of the cars because of the fact that when discovered on the bus it is necessary to stop the buses and get the boys off. There have been a number of instances where the boys narrowly escape serious injury.

Such a call was received last night by Sergeant James P. Steiner and he dispatched Officer Thompson to the scene with instructions to bring in all boys caught.

According to Sergeant Steiner instructions of the department are to apprehend all boys caught hopping buses, street cars or automobiles and bring them in.

First offense will probably be dealt with leniently but the second offense will mean fines.

It is hoped by the police department that the boys will of their own accord discontinue this practice.

Recalls Story Of Roundhead Days

Veteran Recalls Episode Of Re-pairing Of Colons Boots

William Locke former resident here and now living at 122 Vine street Ravenna, O., who still takes The News each day, finds great interest in the Colonel Leasure letters which are a daily feature in The News. Locke is reminded of a story, the incident around which occurred in the Colonel's regiment.

The story pertains to Webber, a Dutch shoemaker with the group and is set down here as Mr. Locke has written it to us.

"Webber, it so happens, had taken his cobler's kit to the front with him. When the Colonel's boots needed half-soling he sent them with an order to have them repaired. The orderly returned with the word that Webber could not do it. After dark the orderly was told by Webber that the boots could now be fixed. Upon hearing this Colonel Leasure ordered Webber before him for an explanation and got this: "Colonel, to be a segmental shoemaker a man must know more than shoemaking; he must know a little steel, or where would he get the leather?" Webber had slipped out at darkness and cut the under flaps from the first saddle he found.

RHODE ISLAND TO LIMIT STATE POLICE ACTIVITIES

(International News Service)
PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 15. — Rep. James H. Kiernan, (D) of Providence has introduced in the lower branch of the General Assembly, an amendment to the act creating the Department of State Police and limiting its activities to road patrol.
Rep. Kiernan's amendment would strike out second 8 of the existing act which created the department and would substitute in its place two new sections which would make the measure similar to the act in force in the state of Maine where the State Police are stripped of all criminal powers and are confined strictly to road patrol.

Irreconcilables To Ask Redraft Of Court Plans

Root Compromise Is Opposed
By Irreconcilable Group
In Senate

ADVISORY OPINIONS ARE MUCH OPPOSED

Senator William E. Borah Leads Fight Against World Court Adherence

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 15.—Senate irreconcilables, backed by Senator William E. Borah (R) of Idaho, will propose a redrafting of the world court's powers when Elihu Root brings home his compromise plan for handling the tribunal's much opposed advisory opinions, it was learned today.

While opposing the Root compromise, which the Geneva conference apparently will approve, the irreconcilables will suggest that the League of Nations statute, creating the world court, be revised to deny the tribunal all authority to issue advisory opinions against nations not members of the league. This substitute for Root's compromise has Borah's approval, it was learned.

The irreconcilables will contend that this plan would end the impasse between the United States and league members over the court's advisory opinions. The American opposition was so strong it led to adoption of a specific reservation to American adherence, providing that no advisory opinion could be rendered by the world court on any question in which the United States had or claimed an interest without America's consent. European nations rejected this reservation as an "offensive intrusion" and Root went to Geneva to iron out the controversy.

Borah Opposed
Borah, it was learned, opposed the Root compromise. It was said he looks upon the Root plan as an "attempt to make a court out of an attorney general." He was quoted as saying that if advisory opinion against non-members of the league were eliminated, there would be no need for article five (the anti-opinion reservation) or any other such nonsense.

The irreconcilables meanwhile planned to fight Root's new terms of adherence. The Root plan would provide for a series of steps, protecting American interests, but ultimately allowing the court to render an advisory opinion on questions affecting American interests. If the United States continued to oppose such an opinion, under Root's plan, its final step would be to withdraw from the court.

Confidence Felt
The Root plan has the endorsement of such League of Nations advocates as Senator Thomas J. Walsh, (D) of Montana, and Senator Claude Swanson, (D) of Virginia. Both declared they had approved it before Root went to Europe. The irreconcilables, however, retorted that Walsh and Swanson would like to see the United States in the League as well as the court.

With Borah supporting them, the irreconcilables feel they can defeat the Root compromise in the senate. Just as in the case of ratifying any treaty, it will require a two-thirds vote of the senate to modify the world court adherence to the extent of approving the Root plan.

Leadville Officials Are Renominated

(International News Service)
LEADVILLE, Colo., March 15.—Because they "paved Leadville's Main street," the city democratic organization renominated all Democratic city officials who were recently indicted by federal authorities on prohibition violation charges. William Corbett was the only exception, and he has disappeared since federal charges were filed.

The federal grand jury, in its pleading against the various officials of Leadville, declared that money to pave Leadville's Main street was at least partly obtained from bootleggers in the form of bribes and "hush money."

Aside from nominating the entire office-holding ticket, the party passed a resolution at the assembly expressing complete confidence in their city officials, including Mayor R. J. McDonald.

"We express our complete confidence in our mayor, aldermen and other officials," said the resolution. "We pledge our support to them and to the entire ticket designated by this assembly."

Five members of the city administration are soon to be tried with 21 alleged bootleggers in federal court at Pueblo as a result of the grand jury investigation.

Florida Professor Has Treasure Hunt Device

(International News Service)
GAINESVILLE, Fla., March 15.—Although possible fame and fortune await Professor A. M. Skellett in a dozen or more places if he chooses to accept any of the batch of treasure-hunting propositions with which he recently has been deluged, he has not fallen victim to the lure of hidden gold.
A few weeks ago this ingenious University of Florida professor constructed a device which he used to locate an outboard motor that had fallen into a nearby lake, and since then he has been the recipient of many letters asking his aid in locating various caches of gold with his instrument.

Talkies Bring Superstitions To Hollywood

By CHARLES F. CARTER
International News Service Special Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, March 15.—With the dawn of "talkies," there has come another dawn—the dawn of superstition. An exhaustive research among the film city's studios revealed today Stage superstitions, vague in origin, countless in number and ancient as the silent hills surrounding this colony of make-believe men and women, are popping up in awesome fashion everywhere.

The great immigration of stage folk is responsible. With the birth and healthy growth of talking pictures, the men and women of the spotlight areas of the east, men and women with trained voices that can thrill the hearts of the non-acting public, have stormed Hollywood.

With them have come the superstitions of the legitimate stage. Follows, now, one case in point, to wit:

Whistling Forbidden
Only the little gods who guide the destinies of all born trouper know the exact limits of malignant disaster which may be visited upon a company one member of which so far forgets himself as to whistle backstage—especially to whistle near the dressing rooms. But such an act has been known for generations, to provoke the wrath of those same little gods.

And today whistling on a motion picture set is just as taboo. Charles "Buddy" Rogers, responsible in his enthusiasms, discovered the truth, discovered, further, that the most terrible thing one can do is to whistle the song of a musical show before said show is actually produced.

Buddy started whistling in his own dressing room a song to be featured in the production in which he was to be starred. The door burst suddenly open, and those two veteran troupers of the legitimate and vaudeville stages, Richard "Skeets" Gallagher and Jack Oakie, confronted him, wild-eyed:

"Ye Gods, Buddy, can it!" horse-ly implored Gallagher. "The picture's a flop if you whistle another bar o' that." Finally, after much explanation, Buddy Rogers saw the light, and today he declares he's through whistling for life.

Cross-Eyed Girls
Cross-eyed girls at last are popular in Hollywood. Time was, in the days of silent pictures, when they couldn't even get their registrations accepted by the central casting bureau. But cross-eyed chorus girls always have brought luck to the legitimate stake. Wherefore now, cross-eyed extra girls are pretty sure of their $7.50 a day even if they do have to stick in the background of a talkie scene.

Even the most fastidious of the masculine and feminine stars of the silver sheet have become hesitant about wearing new shoes when they are being "shot" in the opening scenes of a new talkie production. Men and women of the "legit" are well aware of the absolute, indisputable fact that greater success attends a new show when they wear footgear that has been associated with an earlier triumph. And they have branded young Hollywood with the superstition.

It's not only bad form, socially to place shoes or clothes on dressers, but, gosh! It's bad luck—and it's not being done in the studio dressing rooms any longer.

Hollywood has only one superstition of its very own left. It's still very, very bad luck to oversleep and report late when Cecil B. DeMille is the director!

Near East Expedition Finds Oldest Bakery

CHICAGO, March 15.—The remains of what is believed to be the earliest bakery established by any civilized people were found recently by the Field Museum of Natural History.

The Field Museum of Natural History, in Mesopotamia on the site of the ancient city of Jamet Naxr, officials of the Field Museum announced here.

The bakery consists of a group of clay ovens, estimated to have been built about 4,000 B. C. according to Henry Field, assistant curator of anthropology.

Hopes To Solve Township Road Award Problem

HARRISBURG, March 15.—Representative Fred W. Patterson, Beaver county, said today that next week he will introduce a bill which he hopes will solve the present tangled problems of township awards.

Patterson said that the department of highways will have more than $63,000,000 to spend during the next biennium. He believes the contemplated $6,000,000 to be set aside for township awards is not sufficient but declined to say what amount he will recommend.

While Patterson's bill will not oppose completion of a few links on the more important roads he asserted that the time has come to give more attention to the people who live on the back roads.

Swedish Movie Idol Now In French Navy

PARIS, March 15.—Eric Barclay, Swedish movie idol in French employ, is now doing his stuff as a French naval lieutenant although he holds a regular "first lieut" commission in the Smaland Hussars, oldest cavalry regiment in the Swedish Army. Mr. Barclay now looks forward to graduating into the United States Navy. He has secret ambitions of becoming known to posterity as the fellow who captured Hollywood Harbor.

The French company for which Barclay is working, recently decided to make a picture with a naval setting. The Government was about to give its permission to have scenes taken on a battle ship, when it was found out that the leading man is a foreigner and officer in a foreign army. The permission was refused.

There ensued a battle scene uncalculated for in the scenario. After several months of red tape, Mr. Barclay was finally permitted to don a French naval uniform. Now he walks the decks of a French cruiser just as if he belonged.

Scotch Liquor Heads Scorn "Cake Eaters"

GLASGOW, March 15.—Are tea drinkers and cake eaters fit to govern a country? Scottish liquor merchants declare they are not, and openly criticize the tea drinking habits of the younger men of Glasgow.

Sir Alexander Walker, speaking at the annual meeting of the Scotch Wine Merchants' institution said:

"It is common to see white-faced youths diving into pastry shops at all hours of the day. These men, supposed to be training to run the country, have no stamina and suffer from dyspepsia."

"Nevertheless," said Sir Alex, "if they want that kind of stuff, then licensed victuallers should give it to them and make a profit out of the deal."

Submerged Liquor Lures Fishermen

WAKEFIELD, R. I., March 15.—The inhabitants in the vicinity of Salt Pond, in South Kingstown, seem to have taken a sudden and unusual interest in fishing. But the fishy part of the fishing is that they are not fishing for fish but rather for sunken rum which is both at the bottom of the pond and at the bottom of this story.

As to how the rum came to be at the bottom of the pond is another story in itself which starts "It was on a dark and stormy night," as most sea or fish stories are wont to start.

Rum runners of Providence bring their cargoes in small boats through Salt Pond after loading up from the rum ships off Point Judith and pass right under the noses of the Point

Judith coast guardsmen, whose station is not very far away. It was on the occasion of one of the runs that the liquor became lost. Whether it was because the night wasn't quite so dark as the rum runners thought, no one seems to know and no one seems to care—the fact remains it's there. Commander F. B. Lincoln of the third coast guard district, when asked about the incident, said that he didn't care to say anything about that just now.

The quantity and quality of the "sunken treasure" has not been determined but a lot of people are doing all they can to find out.

FIND DEAD MAN STANDING IN ICE

TORONTO, Ont., March 15.—An account of one of the most mysterious deaths that have ever been reported from northern Ontario has sifted down to civilization.

According to the report an isolated Indian party engaged in running trap-lines in the region of the headwaters of the Atawapiskat river discovered the body of a white man standing bolt upright with one foot slightly advanced—as if about to take a step when suddenly stricken—in the snow covering a small unnamed lake. The body was as firm in its unnatural position as an iron post imbedded in concrete.

Digging in the snow covering the unknown's legs the Indians found his showshoes were firmly anchored in slush ice. There was neither mark on the clothing nor anything in prospect of the sack that would indicate the man's identity according to the report.

Recovery of the body, if at all, cannot be made until summer, it is stated.

Canons Ask New Salary Arrangement

LONDON, March 15.—The dean and five canons of Westminster Abbey are so poor that they have been obliged to ask for a raise in salary.

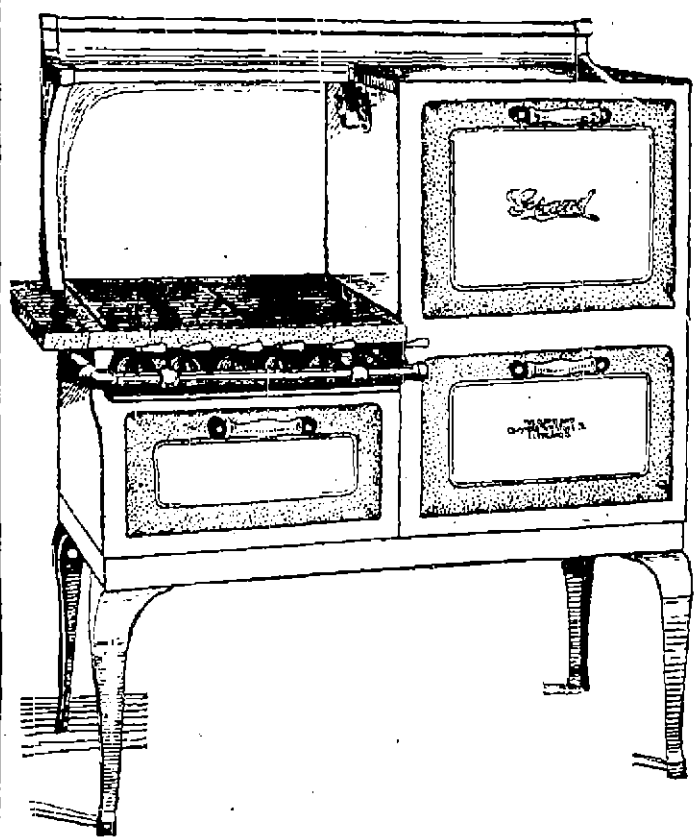

Their incomes were fixed in 1440 and it will require a special act of Parliament before they can be increased. The dean has a salary of so that his stipend is reduced to $10,000 a year; the canons receive about $5,000 before he touches it. By $5,000. Out of this a canon has to the time he has paid life insurance pay $850 a year for income tax and other fixed charges there is very little left for household expenses and a canon has to pay between $300 and $750 annual for local tax assessments, is expected of the holder of the office.

Fourteen Feet Of Flood Waters Inundate Town

Small towns in southwestern Alabama were lost today, and concern was felt for the safety of their inhabitants.

Swollen streams were out of their courses in the remainder of Alabama, in Georgia and the Carolinas.

Although mid-summer temperature New York City was fog bound for the second consecutive day. Thousands of passengers on ships were unable to disembark because the ships could not make their slips.

Report 37 Rescued

Montgomery, Ala., March 15.—Only thirty seven of the 4,000 marooned citizens of Elba, Ala., had been rescued at 8:30 a. m., according to a report received at the office of Governor Bibb Graves today.

The message, sent by the commander of the National Guard company which reached the Elba vicinity in small boats, declared that the soldiers had taken 37 women and children to safety.

Another detachment of troops sent to Elba last night by another route apparently has not been able to get near the stricken town. No word had been heard from them.

Rescue Job Slow

The message indicated that the job of rescuing the 4,000 fear-stricken citizens, surrounded by several miles of water 14 feet deep, will prove a slow and hazardous task, as only a small portion had been taken to safety since the troops began rescue operations during the night.

The refugees had to be taken by small boats for several miles before they could be left at an emergency camp on ground which was not inundated. Meanwhile the water at Elba was reported to be slowly rising.

Reports received by the governor's office from Big Creek, Ala., said that hundreds of persons in Elba were clinging to the tops of their houses and were suffering from exposure and hunger. Several hundred were reported in the top floor of the courthouse building while a wave of water, surging the tops of cotton bolls, surged through the courthouse square.

Over the 32-mile stretch from Troy, Ala., to Elba all bridges are washed away and much of the territory in the Elba vicinity is a vast expanse of swirling water. Many volunteer rescue caravans that started out from Enterprise, Ala., 18 miles from the stricken town were turned back by the flood. A party of troops sent from here were reported to be marooned themselves between Enterprise and the scene of disaster.

International News Service.
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 15.—Birmingham today responded to the call for help sent out last night for flood sufferers in south Alabama. Collections of money and supplies were being taken up to rush into the stricken area.

An indefinite number of the population of the flood-stricken town of Elba have been rescued by boat and taken to an emergency camp beyond reach of the swirling flood waters, it was learned at Montgomery today.

A fragmentary message to the office of Governor Bibb Graves this morning from the commanding officer of a contingent of National Guardsmen at Elba, said that a "part of the people" had been taken away to safety in small boats.

It was stated at the governor's office that it was not known whether another unit of guardsmen dispatched to the stricken Coffee county seat by another route had reached there. No word has been received from this unit, it was said.

In the meagre message it was declared that the water was from "ten to 15 feet" through the town of 4,000 inhabitants. Those who had not been rescued were huddled in the top stories of the largest of the buildings in town, it was reported.

It could not be learned whether any persons had been drowned when the town suddenly became deluged by an overflow from the Pea river and White Water creek.

The town was completely cut off from commercial lanes of communication, and virtually all telegraph and telephone lines west of Montgomery were down.

Reach Scene in Boats.
It was stated that the National Guard company that reached Elba traveled the last six miles of the long journey in rowboats. Work of rescuing the marooned residents will be a slow task.

Emergency supplies of food and medicine were rushed from Montgomery this morning. It was regarded as problematical whether the carriers who set out early in the day could reach the scene of disaster due to the rise of the waters and the gaging washout.

Thousands of other inhabitants of a dozen towns in the southeastern part of the state were abandoning their homes early today.

Torrential rains amounting to from four to seven inches which fell during the past 36 hours covered the southern part of the state with the worst flood in 20 years.

Water Rising.
Two troops of Alabama National Guard were sent to the stricken district. The troops were forced to halt their march after reaching a point about seven miles south of Troy, nearly 35 miles from Elba, their goal.

Shortly after passing Troy a bridge across the Conecuh river was washed out, leaving the soldiers without any sources of supply and with much of the equipment inaccessible.

The Warrior river at Tuscaloosa was two feet over flood stage and it is expected to rise 12 feet higher.

At Wetumpka, Ala., 80,000 cubic feet of water was passing over Martin dam. The flood of last week was retained in the basin behind the dam, but the deluge coming Thursday proved too much and the flood gates were opened, releasing enormous quantities of water which must level out in the lowlands south of Montgomery.

At Geneva, Ala., in the extreme southern section of the state, residents were warned that water at that point will probably reach heights never before recorded and were advised to leave for high ground at once. The evacuation began today.

Railroads Suspended.

Railroads in the southern part of the state early suspended operations. Nine trains were reported stranded at Flomaton, Ala., while motor transportation was hopelessly paralyzed.

Washouts along railroad rights-of-way accounted for at least four wrecks in one of which the engineer was reported killed when his engine turned turtle after plunging into a washed out bridge. In another wreck the engineer was pinned for six hours beneath his engine while rescuers worked desperately to extricate him.

Birmingham suffered the worst flood in years when Village creek, ordinarily a quiet unassuming stream that dries up in summer to a mere trickle, went on a rampage inundating several whole communities and paralyzing automobile and street car travel. Telephone lines were down for hours.

Plying frail canoes, rescuers working in the vicinity of Elba managed to bring five women of the marooned thousands to safety. Shortly after the canoes brought them to the firm land near New Brockton, rescuers announced that further attempts to reach those stranded on floating house tops would be foolhardy.

Torrential rains, still falling at an early hour today, not only continued to hamper the work of rescue parties, but were sending swollen streams to still higher levels.

The property loss in Alabama will run into millions.

Water 14 Feet Deep

It was reported that the water at Elba was 14 feet deep, and a half mile wide. Many houses, the reports said, had been caught in the overflow.

The overflow from the numerous rivers and small creeks in southern Alabama extended as far as Dothan. Four men were believed to have been drowned when their boat overturned near Troy, Ala. They were Tom Jacobs, Roy Hutchinson, Willie Hollins and Ross Clark, all of Troy.

Apprehension grew for the safety of persons in a dozen other towns as reports were received describing the extent of the overflow of various streams.

Communication with a score of small towns in southeastern Alabama was cut off, and the extent of the flood damage could not be determined.

Fear was felt for the little town of Geneva, Ala., in the extreme southwestern corner of the state. It lies at the fork of the Pea and Chocoma rivers, which were raging at other points near their upper reaches.

According to the story of a woman who escaped from Elba in a motorboat, three hundred and fifty students of the Elba elementary school have been marooned since yesterday, and have fled to safety in the second story of the building.

She said when she left the place early in the morning, the children, most of them still in their teens, were frantic and screaming for help. Outside the water surged to a depth of fourteen feet, and was steadily rising and threatening to engulf them she reported.

Lumber Co. Moving Into New Quarters

The New Castle Lumber and Construction Co., has practically completed the task of moving into their new quarters in the old Standard Brewery on Simpson street, and will be established in their new location on Monday.

The plant has been entirely remodeled to suit the purpose of the company, and the mill and yards have already been moved to the new location. The work of moving the offices will take place over the week end, so that they can occupy their new rooms on Monday.

All that remains of their holdings on S. Mercer street now, is the old mill building and office, all the rest having been moved out. The ground will be occupied by the Lawrence Auto Co., who are planning a big building on the site.

ASKS TO HAVE CASH PAID INTO COURT

In the case of Edward E. Hileman against Leroy W. Chapman, Hileman presented a petition in court this morning, asking that a balance of money, the proceeds of a sheriff's sale, be paid into court by the sheriff, pending a distribution. There are some claims to which Hileman is entitled. The court directed that the sheriff pay $313.40 to Prothonotary R. M. Campbell, which was done. A hearing will be held on April 1st to determine who is entitled to the money.

Cement Course To Be Presented

Sessions To Be Held In "The Castleton" Three Nights Next Week

An evening course in the design of concrete mixtures and field control of concrete will be offered in the Castleton next week to engineers, architects, constructors, material dealers and any others who are interested according to an announcement made here today. The Engineering Extension Department of The Pennsylvania State College, in cooperation with the Portland Cement Association will conduct the course.

The course will consist of three sessions. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings, March 19, 20 and 21. Sessions will be held from 7:30 to 10:30 each night in the ballroom of The Castleton, New Castle.

The course is intended not only to give a clearer understanding of the factors which affect the strength and quality of concrete, but also to provide practical exercises in the actual design and proportioning of concrete mixtures to meet given strength specifications. It is purely educational, having as its aim the presentation of the latest methods in the proportioning of concrete mixes. No attempt will be made in the limited time available to prescribe construction methods nor to design reinforced concrete structures.

Instruction will be given in the standard methods of taking samples, of making the necessary measurements and tests, and of controlling the quality of concrete in the field. In addition, lectures will be given on general phases of concrete work of interest to all engineers. Design problems will be offered, using local aggregates, in which the correct proportions of cement, water, fine and coarse aggregates will be determined for the desired strength and quality.

Over 200 courses similar to this have been given in various parts of the United States under the auspices of the Portland Cement Association. This is the first to be presented in New Castle.

Architects, engineers, contractors and any others from New Castle and the surrounding territory, interested in concrete are cordially invited to register for the course. All those desiring to attend should be present at the first session which will begin promptly at 7:30 p. m., Tuesday evening, March 19.

Laskey told council that he had never asked for a cut since he purchased the property in 1910.

Kidnapping Case Ready For Jury

Jury In Case Of Father And Son Charged With Horst Kidnapping Ready To Retire

ACCUSED TAKE WITNESS STAND

(International News Service)
WOOSTER, O., March 15.—Indic-tions in court here today were Elias Arnold, 62, and Arthur Arnold, 17, father and son, are on trial on child stealing charges in connection with the disappearance last December 27, of Melvin Horst, four-year-old Orville boy, were that the case would go to the jury either late this afternoon or tomorrow morning.
Elias Arnold resumed the stand in his own defense when the trial opened today and his thundering denial of stealing the Horst boy resounded through the courtroom. The grizzled old man's "no" was repeatedly voiced in firm tones at every interrogation that he knew of the lad's whereabouts.
"It's an unmitigated lie," was his explosive retort to his attorney's question, "what of Junior Hannah's testimony that he saw you and your son take the child into your home?"
Son Denies Charge
Arthur Arnold followed his father to the stand and also denied knowing the whereabouts of Melvin.

It is reported that the state will stand as its rebuttal witness.
Rumor that the Horst boy would show up before long was stronger than ever today as the trial drew to a close. Officials were silent, but hopeful. Mrs. Raymond Horst, the mother of the child, has been in court every day. She shows signs of weariness. From time to time she bows her head into her hands.
The front door of the Horst home at Orrville, the little village east of here, is continually left unlocked and the Christmas tree still stands in the corner of the living room, completely decorated.
"I shall never give up hope that Melvin will be returned to me," she said.

Mail Carrier Is Attacked By Dog

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., March 15.—
War on dogs running at large in Paterson township has been declared, says Constable "Scottie" Paxton and quite likely a number of animals will bite the dust before owners obey the provisions of the state law.
"The township is overrun by dogs," says the constable and a number of persons have been attacked and bitten by these animals within the last few weeks.
Tuesday Mail Carrier "Mud" Shealer was attacked and bitten on the arm by an air-dale dog, again yesterday an animal of the same breed attacked the popular carrier and he suffered a second wound in his arm when he threw it up to protect himself.
As a result the mail carrier was given permission by the constable to kill any animal that might attack him, and it is quite likely that he will arm himself as a protective measure.
Constable Paxton stated that recently an insurance agent was attacked and bitten by a dog and that several school children have had the same experience.
The constable is determined to protect the people if it necessitates the elimination of all dogs and warns owners to keep the animals tied up or prosecutions are sure to follow.

A Remarkable Compromiser--- One Of The Ablest---Is Good

By CHARLES P. STEWART
(Washington Correspondent for Central Press and New Castle News)

WASHINGTON, March 15.—Secretary of War James W. Good is the ablest compromiser in President Hoover's official family. Perhaps he is the ablest in American public life today.

The understanding is that Mr. Hoover chose him because of his skill in compromise—or because of his political skill—which is a distinction without much difference—since political progress is largely a matter of compromise after compromise.

Secretary Good's vast subtlety as a compromiser lies in his ability, almost invariably, to compromise on about what he wanted all the time. If he yields an inch, he gains an ell. The new war secretary never permits a mere difference of opinion to deadlock things. He effects a compromise.

Theoretically Mr. Good is from Cedar Rapids, which sounds better than calling him a Chicagoan, inasmuch as Secretary of Commerce Lamont is a Chicagoan, too, and a pair of cabinet members both from the Windy City might be criticized as excessive. Besides, it pleases the Iowa folk to consider themselves represented among the holders of departmental portfolios.

The actual fact is that the secretary of war has been practicing law in Chicago and has had his home in the suburb of Evanston ever since he retired from Congress, seven or eight years ago—but that is an unimportant detail.

Nevertheless, it was from Iowa that Mr. Good originally came to the House of Representatives, and it was as chairman of the House committee on appropriations that he won his national reputation as a compromiser.

The appropriations committee holds Uncle Sam's purse strings. Its chairman's job is to hold them as tightly as he can. Folk after government appropriations generally ask fancy sums. The conscientious chairman tries to pare them to a minimum or to nothing at all.

It takes real genius to convince an appropriation seeker that he has been fairly compromised with when he finds himself out in the cold with his pockets still empty or only a few per cent filled.

This was the kind of compromiser Chairman Good proved to be. At Kansas City last summer Mr. Good favored Herbert Hoover, presidentially, and most of the Republican bosses favored anybody else. Mr. Good suggested Mr. Hoover as a compromiser—and we know what followed.

The next step was to induce the corn belt, insistent as it was on the "equalization fee", to compromise on

DISREGARD THAT OTHER COMPROMISE I HAVE A BETTER ONE TO OFFER!

HIS FUNCTION IS TO FIX UP COMPROMISES BETWEEN THE WHITE HOUSE AND CAPITOL HILL.

I HAVEN'T STUDIED THE PROBLEMS OF WAR YET

JAMES W. GOOD

the G. O. P. nominee, who rejected any such fee absolutely, in preference to Governor Smith, who accepted it in principle at least.

As Mr. Hoover's western manager—meaning the corn belt—Mr. Good engineered this compromise, too.

In military technique Mr. Good never has had any experience. This is not to say that he is unfamiliar with questions of army finance. With these he is well acquainted, having wrestled with many of them during his congressional appropriations committee days.

To visiting journalists, whom he receives freely, he has much to say concerning the power, the majesty and the heavy responsibilities of the press; mighty little concerning problems of war. He has had no time to study them yet, he explains. I wonder if he ever will.

Secretary Good is a wonderfully convincing talker—but, on reflection, what was it all about? For the life of me I can't recall—except that the press is a wonderful institution. Can it be that Mr. Good's art of compromise consists in anesthetizing his subject with flattery, wiping his gold fillings while he's under its influence and getting rid of him before he comes to?

The secretary is a shortish, stocky man, with nearly white hair and a stubby mustache. He looks about his 63 years; and a civilian all over.

And who cares? He has capable subordinates to run the War Department. His function is to fix up compromises between the White House and Capitol Hill—to see to it that the executive end of the government has ample funds and a free hand to run the country, while the legislative end talks itself black in the face, if it sees fit.

Moreover, suppose we should even have a war—Heaven help the enemy power that Secretary Good compromised with.

Woodward's Bills Bring Argument

Philadelphian Keeps Things Lively At Session Of State Legislature

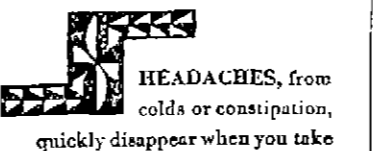

By CLYDE SHUE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, March 15.—Senator George Woodward, independent Republican from the Germantown section of Philadelphia, so far during the present session of the legislature has provided that body with more controversial measures than any other member. One convinced that one of his measures is doomed to defeat, Woodward takes his "licking" in good part and makes no fight on the floor.

Woodward's attitude toward his measures when they are doomed was illustrated when his bill to permit the Department of Welfare to shift responsibility for operation of state-owned hospitals was sent to committee on elections after having struggled through to final action. Senator Albert Davis, Lackawanna, is chairman of the committee on elections, and was strongly opposed to the Woodward bill. When the motion carried to send the bill to the Davis committee Woodward rose in his seat, bowed gracefully toward Davis and waved a kiss in his direction. He knew it was "good-bye" for his bill and he was willing to take the defeat without a word.

Chief among the controversial measures he has sponsored was that which will permit Philadelphia to buy the Philadelphia Rapid Transit underliers piece-meal. At the time of its introduction its passage in the Senate was considered hopeless. Woodward stuck to his bill through a rocky passage in committee meetings and public hearings and then defended it on the floor. He had the satisfaction of seeing it go through with only one dissenting vote.

His bill which would permit adoption of the city manager plan of government in Philadelphia also has had a stormy trip in the Senate. Although the opposition to it has not been vocal, its chance of passage is very far from certain, ever in the Senate. Another measure which he backs at each session provides a constitutional amendment which would permit levying of state income taxes. Although Woodward is a very wealthy man, he favors taxing incomes as one of the most equitable for the raising of state revenue.

MONKEY NUTS FOR FUEL SAVES SHIP IN STORM

(International News Service) MARSEILLES, March 15.—Monkey-nuts proved to be more than mere good eating when a freight vessel was trying to make this port during a recent terrific gale.

The "Belgrano," coming from Beirut, had to fight a fierce north-west gale and at the height of the storm had burned up her last ounce of coal from the bunkers.

With steam rapidly falling the ship threatened with disaster, the captain gave orders to stoke the boiler fires with the cargo of monkey-nuts she was carrying. They made such excellent fuel that she finally made port under the worst odds.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Comes now the season of the year for fog and cloud banks on the roads and what not. And wit comes that helpless feeling driving a car when one feels himself driving into an apparently impenetrable bank of white. It's an unreal feeling, a sort of waking nightmare, with a motor humming beneath your feet and ghostly road slipping by. A poor night for one armed drivers, if you get what I mean.

It's the 15th today, friends and customers. March the 15th. The last day when you can step up like a little man and say to your Uncle Sam, "I made this and so in 1928." According to estimates of the government, over two billion dollars in income taxes are being paid this year. Deducting what you and I have to pay still leaves the two billion in fairly good shape.

Did a little wandering around the east side industries on Thursday afternoon. Get the low down on how pants and shirts are made and after watching the girls in Fisher Brothers shoot those garments through the sewing machines, it occurred to me

BANJO 125 YEARS OLD OWNED BY KANSAS MAN

(International News Service) EMPORIA, Kan., March 15.—A banjo, 125-years old, reminiscent of plantation days in Southern cotton-fields when negroes gathered in front of cabins to dance, has come into the possession of the museum of the College of Emporia. Police Judge J. H. J. Rice of Emporia, is the donor.

Judge Rice bought the banjo from a little negro boy who was freed by the Emancipation Proclamation when he was 12-years old. The negro boy's grandfather had originally owned the banjo.

The banjo is handmade and weighs more than twice as much as the modern instrument.

GREAT RESPONSIBILITY HELD BY MAIL PILOTS

(International News Service) CHICAGO, March 15.—The air mail pilot of today, whose average age is 28.5 years, is charged with greater financial and moral responsibility than any other individual regardless of the branch of industry he may be in, a statement issued by the American Air Transport Association here, declared.

Mail, express and passenger planes, fully equipped, range in price from $10,000 to $80,000 and once in the cockpit the entire responsibility for this investment rests with the pilot. He also is responsible for passengers.

Law observance is going to be the rule at New Wilmington. The burgess warns. There will be no trifling with offenders. Here is the order that the burgess made public yesterday: As Burgess of New Wilmington, I am once more asking that laws and ordinances be obeyed. Stop signs mean STOP. Park your cars on the right side of the street, and according to rules and regulations. Ball playing and kindred games must not be played on the village streets. It is not the desire to deprive anyone of pleasure, but these games must not be played where they endanger the lives of players, or others. If you want to keep chickens keep them penned up.

Auto Dealers And Salesmen Convene Thursday Evening

New Castle Auto Dealers And Salesmen Have Dinner And Meeting Thursday

Eighty members of the New Castle Automobile Dealers Association and salesmen for the various member companies here, met for a dinner and general get-together meeting at the Elks club Thursday evening. The meeting was in charge of A. C. McCoy, president of the association. Following the dinner, which was served at eight o'clock, the assembly meeting began. Joe Rick, general manager of the automobile show this year, spoke concerning the work of the dealers and salesmen. There were a large number of brief extemporaneous talks which were followed by a social hour.

Division Street May Be Graded

School Board And City To Share Expense Of Street Improvement

If the City of New Castle will grade Division street from Cunningham avenue to DuShane street, the School Board will bear half the expense. This action was passed Thursday evening following the receipt of a communication from the city council by the board. In April 1925 the school board made such an offer to council, but because the matter of damages could not be agreed upon the offer was never accepted. Council has now gotten releases for most of the potential damages from the grading, and asked if the board still would pay half the expense. The street skirts the Ben Franklin school property.

It is probable that the work will be done within the near future.

Vouchers were ordered drawn at the meeting last night for payment of the honorarium for Dr. C. A. Buckner of the University of Pittsburgh who was in the school system here for a week on survey work. Other vouchers were ordered drawn for payment of expenses of Dr. C. C. Green to the N. E. A. convention in Cleveland, O., Dr. W. M. Davidson, honorarium for dedicatory address at the opening of the Washington school, and the committee of three that went to Lancaster to inspect the Opportunity work there.

The Stenerson Company was awarded the contract for installing drinking fountains in the Thaddeus Stevens school.

STOVEPIPE AIDS FISHERMEN
Norwegian fishermen have found a way to fish with the aid of stovepipe. A piece of glass is held by adhesive tape over one end of the pipe to form a "water telescope." When the end containing the glass is thrust just below the waves and ripples at the surface, the men say, they can see fish at a considerable depth below.

BEAUTY'S SECRET IS IN HEALTH

Every woman is entitled to two of the greatest elements of beauty—an attractive form and a good complexion. Scrawniness is never beautiful, however well hidden it may be. Nor is a sallow, colorless skin. Yet how many women go through life mortified by either or both of these defects!

Some consolation may be found in the fact that scrawny, sallow people are not well. If they were, Nature would provide the soft curves of a good form and the clear attractive texture of a good complexion.

Marble Contest Gains Momentum

City Schools Willingly Co-operate To Make First Tournament Successful

Formal announcement of the coming inter-school marble tournament has been made to all principals of the New Castle schools through a letter sent out by the marble contest manager of the Ben Franklin H-Y club, under whose auspices the competition is being sponsored. At the present time copies of the tournament rules are being mimeographed and will be distributed just as soon as possible. Application blanks are being drawn up and will probably be printed shortly at the New Castle Trade school.

Lectures concerning the contest are now reaching the office of the tournament manager at the junior high school. Indications point to an abundance of enthusiasm for the contest, the first of its kind to be staged here for some time. According to the contest manager all of the schools are cooperating splendidly in and endeavor to put the contest across. Eliminations in the various schools of the city will commence shortly, after which will come the inter-school semi-finals. It is the present intention to hold the final championship game sometime during the first of May.

Additional news of the contest might be learned, if desired at the office of the contest director at the Ben Franklin school. Address all communications to the "Marble Contest Manager," B. F. H. H-Y, Benjamin Franklin Junior High, New Castle, Pa. Boys and girls interested are asked to watch the issues of The News for further developments that may occur from time to time. The entire rules of the contest have already been published.

WOMEN VIE AT BILLIARDS
Miss Margaret Lennan of Glasgow, Scotland, recently won the first championship contest between women billiard players of Britain. She had a record of frequently making breaks of 100 and over. The runner-up was Miss Joyce Gardner, who did not make a 100 break, but scored 99.

HERE'S GROUCH CURE SAYS "BORN GROUCH"

Grolands, Florida.—One man, at least, admits that he is a grouch. He not only does that, but adds that his father and his Mayflower ancestor were also grouches. And, while he is still inclined to think that he remains a grouch, Cecil Eastman, 235 East Robinson Avenue, has found that a lot of sunshine and happiness has been brought into his life by a simple change of diet. Mrs. Eastman induced him to make. How this diet change affected his grouchiness, Mr. Eastman records below:

"I am a grouch. My father was a grouch. The original old boy who crowded over on the Mayflower was a grouch, and reared in the New England woods nine grouchy sons named from Adam to Zachariah. I have been loaded with crepe and vinegar. On my honeymoon, Susanah, my wife, diagnosed my case. 'Quit using caffeine,' she said, 'and knit up your ravell'd nerves.' I did—for a week. I grew maddeningly sorry for myself and the experiment nearly wrecked our romance. So Sue weakened and began serving me my caffeine. This continued for eighteen years while I remained a grouch but showed enough human streak to get along with her."

How Grouches Start
Ravell'd nerves and lack of sleep can make a grouch of the most cheerful and optimistic man living. You simply can't be a grouch and still stick to it. But, if you don't believe that, I have thrown off some of the crepe and vinegar and taken on some honey and molasses by using Postum. You just ask Susanah!"

Try New Drink
"Then one morning Sue fixed some Postum in a percolator and showed it to me bubbling against the glass. It was Sunday. Breakfast was late. I was hungry. I drank a cup and had another cup with my second egg."

"Now, for more than a month, caffeine has meant nothing to me. Not once in the last week have I had to read myself to sleep. Yesterday, I weighed 135 pounds today—start your 30-day test!"

France Blames Cocktails And Love For Crime

By FREDERICK K. ABBOTT
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

PARIS, March 15.—Cocktails, jealousy and the Stock Exchange are responsible for most murders in France, Dr. Pierre Vachet, director of the Paris School of Psychology, who has made an exhaustive study of crime in France, gives the above reasons for the majority of crime and murder.

Mr. Vachet informed International News Service that sixty-five per cent of the murders committed in France were on the part of husband or wife.

"The modern intensity of life and war," says the doctor, "make it easier to kill today than yesterday. Five cocktails are needed today where one was sufficient yesterday."

"Passion for speculation in the stock market is another reason. The world must have excitement. It is found in speculation."

Jealousy Different

Dr. Vachet says jealousy always was a "good reason" for murder—at least before French juries.

"Woman's jealousy is much different from that of a man's," the doctor informs us. "A jealous man will always kill his wife but a jealous wife always kills the other woman."

"This is easy to explain: A woman's jealousy is mental while a man's jealousy is merely physical. The consequence is that the wife feels she must do away with the rival while the man sees no other way but to destroy the woman."

The doctor admits the fact that all murders are committed under abnormal mental strain.

Psychological Question

"The psychological question is," he continues, "what produces or helps produce this abnormal condition. Three things according to my observations, bring this state about in these modern times.

"After all, with the exception of jealousy, the other reasons are merely the external seeking for excitement."

"A man consumes numerous cocktails, he is obviously unbalanced mentally for the time being. His mind is in a state that permits him to commit a rash act. In other words, the brakes won't work."

"Another man seeks his 'thrill' on the stock market. The stimulation is as great as the cocktails. Again the brakes refuse to work."

Avarice and hate sometimes play roles the doctor states but he assures that statistics prove that they appear less often than cocktails, jealousy and the market.

Out of all the lost fads and fancies of the "flash age" E. Berry Wall's neckties, dogs and salad dressings still survive with their sponsor.

A fashionplate on Fifth avenue in the Nineties he supplanted. Brummel as the criterion for elegance for years the well-dressed man was called a "Berry Wall."

Other dictators of sartorial whims have come and gone, but Berry Wall is still on the boulevards, the only exponent of his high, open-neck collar, ample and puffy cravats and a poodle dog which he holds in leash.

When he enters one of the most expensive restaurants near the Place de l'Opera tourists look up and whisper to the waiters: "who is he?"

Then they see Berry Wall mix his own salad dressing in the Continental style that he introduced in New York during the Lobster Palace era. The headwaiter and a couple of underlings stand by with the ingredients during the "ceremony."

Berry Wall has his own recipe for salad dressing. It has never been divulged.

Present plans call for an enrollment of 155 students and 15 faculty members. The cruise will begin at Seattle and will visit all important points in Alaska.

The purpose of the voyage is to provide an intensive study of commercial possibilities between the northwest—particularly Oregon—and Alaska. Such studies as transportation, markets, geography and geology which will be aided by actual field work are expected to draw the largest enrollment.

Karl W. Onthank, executive secretary of the university, will be in charge of the cruise period of two weeks, which begins sometime next August.

Election Features Annual Meeting Of Highland Y. P. C. U.

Young People's Christian Union
Choose Officers; Guests Are Present

Members of the Young People's Christian Union of the Highland Y. P. C. U. church held their annual business meeting and election of officers at a banquet given in the church dining room Thursday evening. In the balloting, Frank Brenneman was re-elected president of the society for the ensuing year.

Principal speakers for the evening were G. A. P. Bowman, secretary of the Beaver Valley Presbyterial and Dr. C. J. Williamson, pastor of the Highland church. They both lauded the work that was accomplished this past year and encouraged the workers for greater effort this next year.

Presiding over the program which followed the enjoyable banquet, was President Brenneman. There were approximately 50 members and guests in attendance, so the toastmaster singled out those who have given untiringly of their time and energy in the work of the Y. P. C. U. this past year.

In calling upon Dr. T. J. McFate, advisor of the society, for a few remarks, the toastmaster expressed the society's appreciation for the excellent direction and counsel he has given them. An uproar of applause met the toastmaster's last words, and Dr. McFate rose to respond. In brief, Dr. McFate told them it had been a pleasure to have the privilege of working with them and hoped that the society would continue its good work.

Following his response, Toastmaster Brenneman introduced G. A. P. Bowman, the presbyterial secretary. Then following his speech in which he voiced high praise for the way Highland has responded to all causes instituted by the presbyterial committee, Dr. Williamson spoke. Both addresses were inspirational and immensely enjoyed.

During the election of officers the following were elected to positions in addition to President Brenneman: Vice President, Catherine Wilson, recording secretary, Hazel McCurdy, corresponding secretary, Edith Dadds, treasurer, Lucille Emery.

Miss Lucille Emery, chairman of the social committee, was in charge of the table service, assisted by five mothers of the members. Decorations were attractively arranged in St. Patrick's Day colors by Miss Alice Warner and Miss Catherine Logan. Tallers for the election were Graham Patterson and James Beadel.

COUNTY EMPLOYEE HELPED BACK TO BETTER HEALTH

Ten Herbs Ended His Ailments; Relieved Wife, and Benefited Friends

"I can honestly say that Ten Herbs has made me feel like a new man," was the recent statement of Mr. Joseph A. Reitenwald, who does clerical work for Allegheny County, Pa., and lives at 437 Walde street, Mt. Oliver, Pittsburgh, Pa. That has been the experience of thousands of men and women throughout this section whom Ten Herbs has restored to glorious health by relieving stomach, liver, kidney and bowel disorders and rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness. Where does Ten Herbs get this amazing power? From its ten wonderful herbal ingredients, each of which has a highly beneficial and invigorating action on one or more organs and at the same time, they cleanse and tone up the whole system. There is little wonder so many persons seeking health are consulting the Ten Herbs Man, who is at Becker's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington street, this city, where he is daily demonstrating this famous medicine.

"Before using Ten Herbs, I suffered from nervous indigestion," continued Mr. Reitenwald. "My stomach would quiver and fill with gas, causing me to be in misery. I was always taking physics for constipation. My liver was inactive, and I had such severe dizzy spells I could hardly stand up. At night I would be too nervous to sleep properly and would perspire."

"Now, thanks to Ten Herbs, I am a changed man. I enjoy my meals and am free of stomach trouble. My liver and kidneys are working the way they should, and dizzy spells are gone. I rest well at night, as my nervous system is stronger. My bowels are regular. In place of that sluggish feeling, I am energetic and ambitious. My wife was on the verge of having a nervous breakdown, but after taking Ten Herbs, she is feeling well. I induced nine of my friends to try your medicine, and they are all being helped. After all this, anyone can see that I have good reasons for recommending Ten Herbs."

The Ten Herbs Man is at Becker's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington street, this city, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine.

Paris Tax Collector Blames Flu For Bribe

(International News Service)
PARIS, March 15.—The flu, which has been the cause of many a disaster this winter, was recently blamed for the acceptance of a bribery charge by a tax collector in Paris.

Rene Fargues was arrested for taking two thousand francs in marked bills after reducing the assessment of a decoration firm.

The proprietor pretended to accept the offer of corruption, and while Fargues was pocketing his little pile, he telephoned the police.

"It was the flu which did it," pleaded the collector before the judge. Mr. Fargues is now recuperating in prison.

HOME
If we have not genuine grace in the family circle, all of our outward and public plausibility merely springs from a fear of the world or from the slimy putrid pool of our own selfishness. The home is the mightiest test of character and from it we derive the immeasurable vastness of our virtues. Character is achieved—and not casually received for it grows out of the substance of the soul and matures as fruit, from a vital fluids of a tree. This is the sign of genuineness and it grows with use. Again character, which is the mirror of home direction is the product of daily actions and thoughts. Dreams alone will not mould those whom we desire to be the future home-makers, but rather a hammer and forge are the primary requisites.
Since all the skies are not hurled with tempest and everlasting storm was held.

Fate Has Played Mean Trick On Kellogg, Opines Stewart

By CHARLES P. STEWART,
Washington Correspondent for Central Press and New Castle News.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—Fate played a mean trick on Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg in creating a situation which makes the fate of his cabinet term overlap the beginning of the Hoover administration.

Secretaries of the Treasury and Labor Mellon and Davis hold over also but they hold over indefinitely because the new president wants them. Secretary Kellogg holds over unavoidably—as a stop-gap—until his successor can get here.

True Mr. Kellogg had expected to quit but he would have changed his mind with mighty little urging. He is rather old but not as old as Secretary Mellon by nearly two years.

If Mr. Kellogg had gone out with the rest of the retiring four-fifths of the Coolidge cabinet he would have gone out with the crowd and it would have been all right—the usual thing. He had to hang on for awhile because Henry L. Stimson chosen by Mr. Hoover to supplant him was so far away in the Philippines.

This places Mr. Kellogg in the position of a man who has been told that the boss will no longer need him after a certain date and is filling out the interval—always an uncomfortable period for all concerned.

Mexico was the first hard problem that Mr. Kellogg had to grapple with after he took over the state portfolio from Charles Evans Hughes early in 1925.

He ends up with the same problem on his hands now.

However it is a problem which Mr. Kellogg looks at in a very different way today from the way in which he looked at it earlier in the 1920's.

Originally with the militantly anti-Mexican James P. Sheffield as American ambassador on the other side of the Rio Grande, Secretary Kellogg assumed what he called a "firm attitude" against our southern neighbor. The trend was rapidly in the direction of war when President Coolidge substituted Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow for Ambassador Sheffield and Ambassador Morrow speedily established pretty pleasant relations between the two governments.

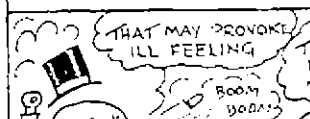

It was not a very good advertisement for Secretary Kellogg's diplomacy—Mr. Morrow's success in averting the clash which the state department's ultimatum had been leading up to at so brisk a rate.

However, the danger seemingly over-everybody was too glad of it to blame Mr. Kellogg much.

But lately Mexico has been rent by disorder once again.

And this time strange to relate we hear Mr. Kellogg objecting to the military precautions adopted on our side of the Rio Grande to protect Americans against chance shots from over the river. They may provoke Mexican-American ill feeling he says.

Maybe Secretary Kellogg's "multilateral anti-war treaty" activities worked the change in him. At any rate he is frank in proclaiming them as a triumph which he believes will make his state department administration memorable in history.

An outbreak of hostilities upon the very heels of his accomplishment—on paper—undoubtedly would break his heart.

Mexico's latest troubles "broke" as President Hoover actually was taking the oath of office. Before ten inaugural procession was over, Mr. Kellogg was awaiting the new chief executive in the White House, counselling forbearance.

Ultimatums would have pelted like hail on far less provocation no more than two or three years ago.

Too bad!—that Secretary Kellogg could not have quit short off with his cabinet colleagues, his peace treaty glow still warming him.

He is rather a pathetic sight, of finally frazzling out as a very temporary hold-over—a mere wisp of a little, very old man bent of back, wizened of face, snow white of head, looking every bit of his 72 years—doing his final best under a new chief and with new faces all around him to make his treaty the real thing.

GASOLINE TAX!

We Do Not Want

4^c

Gasoline Tax

In our State 25,000 retail dealers are collecting the Gasoline Tax.

Millions of Dollars Are Lost In Collecting Through This System

All States in the United States collect gasoline tax except two, and all States collecting gasoline tax do it through the Wholesale Distributor except Pennsylvania.

We have 25,000 retail dealers, and approximately 600 Wholesale Distributors in Pennsylvania.

Does it not seem reasonable we can collect more tax through the wholesaler, and at less cost than by the present system.

The Petroleum Marketers of Pennsylvania have asked the Gasoline Bureau to collect all the 3c gas tax, rather than increase the tax.

Therefore House Bill No. 1435 Was Introduced By Mr. Grover C. Talbot, Feb. 26, 1929

This bill places the responsibility of collecting the tax on the Wholesale Distributors, and requires them to be bonded for payment of same.

We are opposed to an increase in Gas Tax, until we have 100% collection of present 3c tax.

ACT AT ONCE!

Call or write your representative, and ask him to vote for Talbot Bill No. 1435.

PINNED DOWN
ENGINEER IS SAVED

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 15.—After being pinned down by the tender of his locomotive for six hours while water rose about his body, Eos-tick Hamm, engineer of a wrecked Louisville & Nashville freight train, was rescued. The locomotive and tender had plunged into a washout 65 miles south of here. For a time the water rose at a rate which caused rescue workers to fear that Hamm would be drowned before their eyes while they stood helpless. His foot was caught under the heavy tender and the workers tied his body up out of the water with ropes as best they could.

AUTOIST HELD FOR SWEETHEARTS DEATH

VANDERGRIFT, Pa., March 15.—Harry Rowe of Vandergrift, aged 19, was held on an involuntary manslaughter charge by a New Kensington coroner's jury in the death of Thelma Burkett, aged 19, of Apollo, now employed in factories and shops of China, working from 12 to 16 hours a day at wages ranging from six to 20 cents a day.

on a highway between here and New Kensington. Conflicting testimony concerning the speed at which the car was traveling baffled the jury, and it was thought best to allow the grand jury to settle the case.

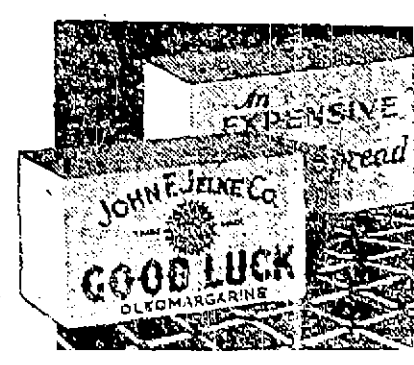

More than 1,000,000 children are employed in factories and shops of China, working from 12 to 16 hours a day at wages ranging from six to 20 cents a day.

ONLY GOOD LUCK, the Finest Spread-for-Bread, stands the Challenge Flavor Test. The secret of its delightful flavor—exactly like that of the most expensive spread—is found in the John F. Jelke Company's selected quality ingredients and the John F. Jelke Company's skill.

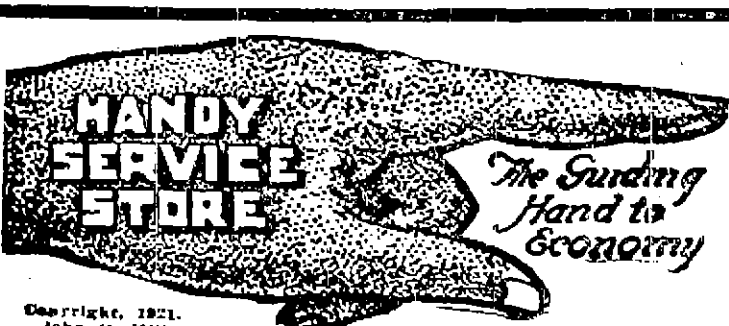

One Girl or Two?

SHERLOCK HOLMES himself would have to answer S. "I can't tell." The sharpest sense of taste fails just as completely in every attempt to distinguish between Jelke GOOD LUCK and an expensive Spread-for-Bread. The saving of many dollars each year on table expenses becomes perfectly simple from the moment you try the Challenge Flavor Test on your own family. Nationally prominent men and women by the score have tried to distinguish one from the other with no success whatever. Ask your grocer and let him send you a pound today.

The Sabbath—Its Use And Abuse

"Brass Tacks" on the Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL
The Sabbath is one of the earth's oldest institutions, having its origin at the very close of God's creative work. The Creator, evidently understood man's need and ordained a day of rest to meet this need, not as an additional burden, but as a blessing. "For in six days Jehovah made heaven and earth, and rested the seventh day; wherefore Jehovah blessed the Sabbath day, and hallowed it." Properly used and not abused it is one of the best friends of the toiling masses, and should be safeguarded as such, not for the advantage of the church but for the blessing of humanity.

Extreme Sabbatarianism
The Sabbath's worst enemies have often been among those professing to hallow it. It has been abused by a mere mechanical and legalistic observance devoid of the spirit of the day. In no other point did our Lord receive more frequent or severe criticism from his enemies than on the point of Sabbath observance. The commandment of Moses had been cumbered with a maze of petty ordinances restricting human activity on the Sabbath day. They criticized Him for His miracles of healing on the Sabbath and for permitting his disciples to pluck a few heads of grain and rub out the wine to satisfy their hunger on this day. But Jesus had no sympathy with their scruples. He issued no list of petty restrictions, but laid down a broad, positive fundamental guiding principle when he answered: "The Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath; therefore the Son of Man is Lord also on the Sabbath." They are wrong who would restrict conduct on the Sabbath as to rob it of all joy for man or child and make it a day to be dreaded. "This is the Lord hath made let us rejoice and be glad in it."

Extreme Liberalism
Only let us not rush to the opposite extreme of Sabbath desecration which makes a mere holiday out of this holy day. Let not liberty run into license. This is the peril of commercializing the Sabbath. Let us not only keep in mind Jesus' words about "the Sabbath being made for man," but also his words spoken in the same connection, "The Son of Man is Lord also of the Sabbath." The commercialized Sabbath, detracting the Lordship of the Son of Man in its desecration. The day is not only a day of rest but a day of worship; a day of rest not only physically but spiritually. Man's soul needs God as truly as his body needs food. Therefore even in our Sabbath pleasures of recreation, family reunions and the like let us "remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy."

The Lord's Day
As the Sabbath commemorated the completion of God's creative work, so the Lord's day commemorates the completion of God's redemptive work in celebration of our Lord's resurrection on the first day of the week. Its predominant note therefore is that of thanksgiving and joy for the abounding blessings of life and salvation assured the believer in his Lord's resurrection. In appreciation of these blessings the day is remembered not in a spirit of slavish fear as a duty, but in a spirit of glad and willing service and praise to the Lord whose victory for us over sin and death make it the Lord's day of which he is made Lord indeed.

(The International Uniform Lesson for March 17 is Genesis 2:2-3; Ex. 20:8-11; Matt. 12:1-14, 28:1-10; John 20:19; Acts 20:7; Rom. 14:4-6; Rev. 1:10, the subject being "The Sabbath" and the Golden Text, Matt. 12:8, "The Son of Man is Lord, even of the Sabbath day.")
(The suggested daily Bible readings for next week's family worship are: Mon., 1 Cor. 9:15-26; Tue., II Cor. 9:6-15; Wed., Luke 10:25-37; Thur., I Tim. 6:11-19; Fri., Matt. 28:16-20; Sat., Acts 14:8-18; Sun., Psalm 66:1-7.)

Even Scales Of Fish
Now Being Utilized

PORTLAND, Me., March 15.—The boast of the modern meat-packing industry, that all the pig is utilized except its squeal, is now followed by the announcement of the Maine fishing industry, that all the fish is being utilized, even its scales.
Pearl essence plants here and at other points along the Maine coast are offering seven cents a pound for fish scales, and tons of scales formerly discarded by fishermen have been sold this season at a total price estimated at $250,000.
One hundred pounds of the scales, for which the essence factories pay $7, are required to produce one pound of pearl essence, valued at $125 in the New York market. The essence, after elaborate processing is used in the manufacture of beads, necklaces and miscellaneous jewelry.

Farmers of South Africa are complaining that the gray squirrel imported from America has become a pest and is doing much damage to crops.

Lindbergh Back In U. S.; Pilots Air Mail Again

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., March 15.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh returned to the United States late Thursday from his visit in Mexico City with his fiancée Miss Anne Morrow thus apparently ending any prospect of an immediate marriage.

Piloting the regular air mail plane over the international route he formally opened last Saturday. Lindbergh reached here at 2:30 p. m. after taking off from Mexico City at 9:37 in the morning. An eight-minute stop was made at Tampico.

Lindbergh found his personal plane awaiting him here and it was understood he planned to make an air trip eastward to New York.

Four Mexican military aviators were among the passengers aboard the big air mail plane. They came to the border to accept delivery of four new planes purchased by the Mexican government from a Troy (O.) factory for use in fighting the rebels.

It was understood that Col. Lindbergh returned to this country to dispose of matters in connection with his various commercial air lines.

DEAF SOON WILL HEAR WORDS SPOKEN ON STAGE

(International News Service)
PARIS, March 15.—The deaf will soon be able to go to the theatre in Paris and hear every line that is spoken.

Devices, very similar to the one recently invented by the Frenchman, Tastevin, have been used for some time in Milan and London. It is of simple mechanism. Private wires running to special seats reserved for the afflicted ones are connected with a central "theatrephone" which amplifies the words spoken on the stage in much the same manner as the earphones worn by many deaf.

Upon demand, anyone who is deaf will receive the headphone and plug in to the back of his seat.

During trial experiments at the Odéon and Champs Elysees theatres, people as deaf as the proverbial doorknob rose up and cried out: "I can hear. I can hear!"

In the old days you had to listen to many a bum Scotch joke, but you didn't have to drink it.

HATS EXPRESS PERSONALITY

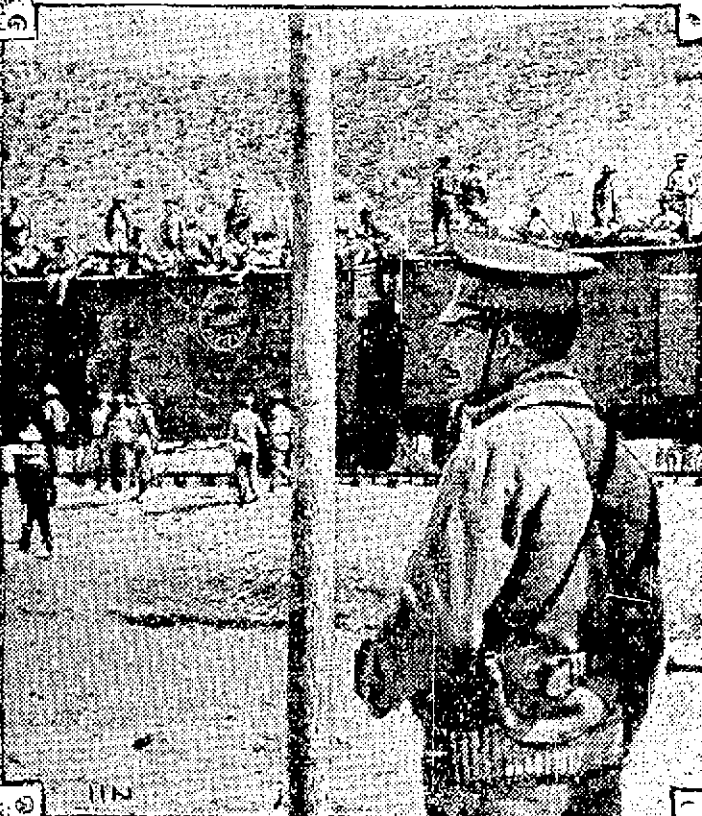

Smart women are insisting on an expression of individuality in clothes, says Lucien Lelong. Nowhere is this more vividly expressed than in hats. The latest hats are designed to give new interest and beauty to the individuality of the wearer, and the ensemble worn. Illustrated are two models, the one at the left worn with a sports ensemble in brown woollen material with knitted sweater of two shades of beige and brown. The closefitting hat with the slightly rippled brim, repeats the colors and style of the costume. Right, an afternoon dress in pale gray beige satin with turban trimmed with a cleverly placed tuft of ostrich that looks like fine-spun curls.

New Warning From Horner

Police Chief Warns Public Against Giving Donations To Unknowns

Chief of Police C. C. Horner took occasion again today to issue a warning to the people of this city against giving donations of money and other valuables to collectors coming into this city from other communities and representing themselves as collecting for some Orphans Home or Religious Institution, which may exist but which has no local connection whatsoever.

The chief stated that solicitation or selling of any kind in this city is prohibited, except in such cases as a permit may have been issued by the police and asks that all residents of the city call the police at once, if any person is found soliciting under guise whatsoever, and give the authorities an opportunity of investigation.

The chief stated that the mayor and city authorities take the attitude that this city has plenty of worthy institutions and causes needing support, without any of the citizen's money being collected for use in other cities. This city does not send out solicitors for its institutions into other cities and believes that the same attitude should be taken by other cities and institutions not located here.

Ready For Another Season

By QUIN HALL
Young Dick Glendon is glowingly optimistic over Columbia's rowing chances for the coming season.

Despite the fact that Columbia's crew was forced to take second place in California over the four-mile Poughkeepsie course on the Hudson last June, young Glendon feels that his oarsmen will do themselves proud this coming spring.

Columbia, it will be recalled, won the Hudson river classic in 1927, and the younger of the Glendons is sure that this year will see another big Blue and White victory chalked up.

Ever since Columbia lost a crew, and that's several decades ago—the Blue and White oarsmen have been faced with the paradox of being surrounded by water, and yet having no suitable place on which to row a race. The river traffic around Manhattan island was congested even in those days, and it has increased amazingly since.

However, this year will mark the first important race to be held in New York City since 1925 when Yale and Penn balked at rowing the Childs Cup regatta on the Harlem river, Columbia's home course. Young Glendon's father, Dick, Sr., is now coaching the Navy oarsmen, and April 27, the Mid-dies will try conclusions with Columbia on a remapped course on the Harlem. This race will serve to settle the question whether or not Columbia has a home course available for racing. In case anything unexpected happens in the April race, it will be passed off without argument, in view of the father and son combination of the two coaches. The younger Glendon is anxious to prove the feasibility of holding regattas adjacent to New York and this test match may help prove his contention. Otherwise New York will be abandoned as a regatta site. This Navy battle of the Harlem, coming a week before the more important meeting with Yale and Penn at Derby, Conn., will also give Dick, Jr., a great chance to get a workable line on his crew.

Columbia has five members of the strong 1928 crew as a nucleus for this season's boat. These men are Sam Walker, bow; Anstair MacBain, No. 6; Art Douglas, No. 3; Bill Blesso, No. 4, and Captain Horace Davenport, No. 7. The Lion mentor figures to start with MacBain as stroke, as his experience in setting the beat makes him the logical man for the position. It will be recalled that he stroked the Lions in the Olympic tryouts in Philadelphia last July when Lambert was declared ineligible.

Davenport might make a valuable stroke, according to Glendon, but three years on the starboard side makes him a valuable No. 7 man and it is likely that he will be retained as starboard pivot. To fill No. 3, left vacant by the shift of MacBain, Glendon is fortunate in having had Gordon Percy of the 1927 championship crew. Working on the machines, Percy seems to be stronger than ever and, if he can successfully fill No. 2, it will help solve some of young Glendon's problems.

Under these conditions, No. 5 and No. 6 will still be open, but Glendon started the machine season with plenty of likely candidates and he should have little difficulty in choosing capable car pullers for these jobs. Bill Sanford, stroke of the junior varsity eight last year, is one of the outstanding candidates for a varsity berth, as is John Murphy, who was given a tryout with the varsity several times last year.

Young Glendon has been very successful at Columbia. It would seem that he is headed for another good season.

Col. Daniel Leasure

Camp in the Field, June 6, 1864.
Dear Papa:

I wrote to you the other day, the first I think, but now being at the quartermaster's tent and having a few minutes to spare, concluded I had better write you a few lines.

The day I wrote you we had quite a little skirmish when Griffin was killed. On the 21st, we changed our position.

Before our division got orders to move, General Wilcox on our right had withdrawn all his skirmishers and exposed our flank.

Our brigade received orders to move immediately, being the last to move and the skirmishers of our division to fall back slowly.

The skirmishers were out of the First and Third brigade and as soon as they received the orders to move slowly back and hold the enemy in check as long as possible they started back as hard as they could run, the rebels after them as hard as they could run.

Some two or three of our regiments, seeing the state of affairs, started off by the right flank and came in and told us the rebels were within 500 yards of our rear. We had not the time to do anything before the rebels and our own men came into our rear (our brigade) altogether.

We immediately faced about and got into the best position we could on the edge of a piece of woods and kept the enemy at a very respectful distance.

The only general I saw in the front was General Griffin, 5th corps, who gave some orders which I obeyed or I supposed the brigade would never have received any orders but when I see you I can explain to you better the state affairs were in.

In the engagement we lost 80 men of our regiment. The 21st lost 40 and the 3rd lost 10.

Asks To Be Relieved

Yesterday Col. Pierce of the 25th Mass., assumed command of the brigade. I immediately asked to be relieved and sent to my regiment as I had got disgusted with brigade affairs.

In the big engagement of the 2nd, Captain Oliver was slightly wounded in the head but says he will be on duty tomorrow. Lieutenant Offutt was shot through the calf of the leg. Lieutenant Cornelius was shot through the shoulder, the ball passing out of the left breast. He will hardly recover.

His resignation has been accepted and sent to Division headquarters some three weeks ago where it is still lying, so Julius Miller says. Captain Morrow and Jack Cannon are back. They are both very well now. Joe is still under the weather. We are all worn down to "fighting weight" but must not give up in the present state of affairs.

I have not time to write more. Received your letter and report. I hope you are better but you must not think of returning to the field during this campaign, anyhow. Write as often as you feel able to do so. Tell Mama and all the rest to write often. Love to uncle, Aunt Rila and all the rest.

Your Affectionate Son, GEORGE.

Rotarians Favor New Gas Tax If Surplus Goes To Country

Assemblyman M. A. Bickett Gives Interesting Report Of Legislative Activities

Perry Uber Of High School
Tells Of History Of Boy Scout Work Here

ELLWOOD CITY, March 15.—The regular weekly dinner-meeting of the Rotary Club took place Thursday evening in the dining room of the First Presbyterian church with a majority of the members present.

The Honorable M. A. Bickett, member of Assembly from this district, told of the recent session in the house at Harrisburg and mentioned particularly the heated debate caused by the proposed tax of four cents on gas. He stated that many of the members in the house favored the tax providing that the surplus be used to open up the roads in the rural districts in the State. He then asked for an opinion from the club members and the majority of them favored the tax also, under the above conditions. He also reported that the Sunday Blue law repealer died in the committee meeting.

The address of the evening was made by Perry Uber of the High School faculty, and a leader of Boy Scout work in this district. He chose as his subject "The History and Present Purposes of Boy Scouts Movement." He went back to the inception of the work by Sir Robert Baden Powell in England during the 90s. He also stated that a school teacher helped materially in spreading the movement among the boys in England. The way it got to America seemed in this manner. A man named Boyce became lost in London and was approached by a boy in uniform who offered him services and aided the man in reaching his destination. When offered payment by the grateful Mr. Boyce the boy replied "Scout never takes money for services." Upon investigation Mr. Boyce became interested in the work and brought it to America where there are at the present time 800,000 boy scouts.

They recounted the difficulties of getting it to their place of labor and told of the delight of the natives when they found it really would make music. Mrs. Seymour is a sister of Mrs. Floyd Childs. The Story Of American Industry
Lumber—(Concluded)—National Forests

THE FIRST WHITE MEN WHO CAME TO WHAT IS NOW THE UNITED STATES FOUND IT ONE MIGHTY FOREST. TODAY NEARLY THREE-FOURTHS OF THAT VAST WOODED AREA HAS BEEN WIPE AWAY. CUTTING HAS PROGRESSED FASTER THAN THE NATURAL GROWTH.

THE DEMAND FOR LUMBER HAS STEADILY GROWN. IN THE YEAR 1880 THE UNITED STATES PRODUCED OVER 16 BILLION BOARD FEET OF LUMBER. IN 1924 NEARLY 36 BILLIONS. FOR MANY YEARS AMERICA WAS WASTEFUL OF ITS TIMBER RESOURCES, AND UNWINDFUL OF THE NEEDS OF FUTURE GENERATIONS.

FIRE IS A DANGER THAT CONTINUALLY MENACES OUR FORESTS. THOUGHTLESS HUNTERS AND CAMPERS WHO LEAVE THEIR FIRES BURNING, LIGHTNING AND LOCOMOTIVE SPARKS ARE A FEW OF THE CAUSES OF FOREST FIRES THAT EVERY YEAR DESTROY TIMBER WORTH 25 MILLION DOLLARS.

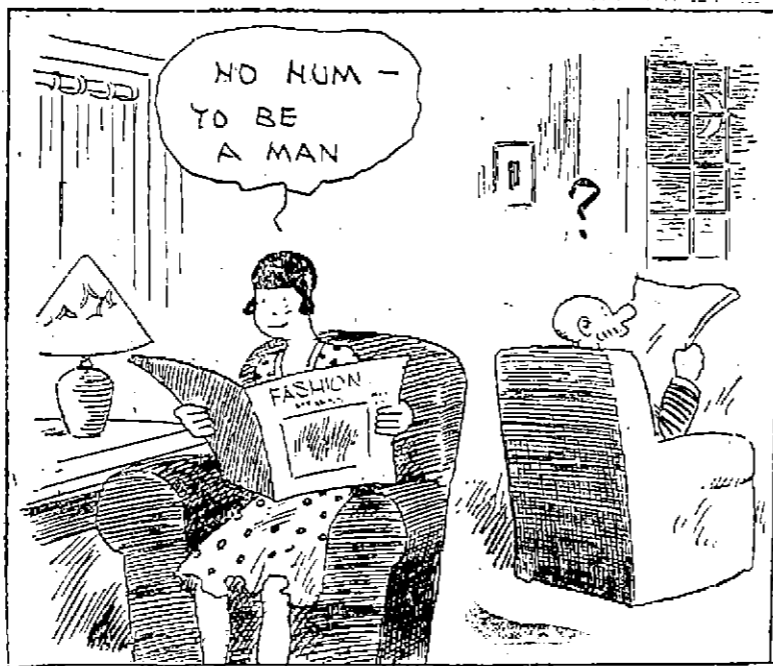

SINCE 1891 THE GOVERNMENT HAS BEEN ENDEAVORING TO PROTECT AND PRESERVE OUR FORESTS. NEARLY ONE-FOURTH OF ALL THE FOREST LANDS, WHICH IF PUT TOGETHER WOULD FORM AN AREA LARGER THAN THE STATE OF TEXAS, HAS BEEN SET ASIDE BY THE GOVERNMENT AS "NATIONAL FORESTS," CUTTING IN THEM IS NOT ALLOWED TO EXCEED THE YEARLY GROWTH.

Call Of The Golf Course Being Heard

Followers Of This Sport Are Getting In Trim For The Coming Summer

The call of the golf course is being felt by scores of men and women of this city.

And in preparation for the coming balmy days of the early spring on the local courses, considerable numbers of these followers of the sport are now engaged in getting their proper polish and hitting ability, so that they may make a good start when the weather permits playing.

Large numbers of these individuals are practicing regularly at the indoor school of Captain V. Arthur Smith, professional at the New Castle Field club, which he has conducted all winter on the third floor of the McGowan Block, 106½ East Washington street.

Here in two large cages or screened spaces, where those interested in perfecting their driving ability may be seen frequently engaged in hitting the hard rubber golf balls into a specially arranged backstop. There are but a very few weeks until the weather will permit outdoor play and those interested in showing good form then are making the most of the opportunity being afforded them at Captain Smith's school.

The golf season should start between the first and fifteenth of April.

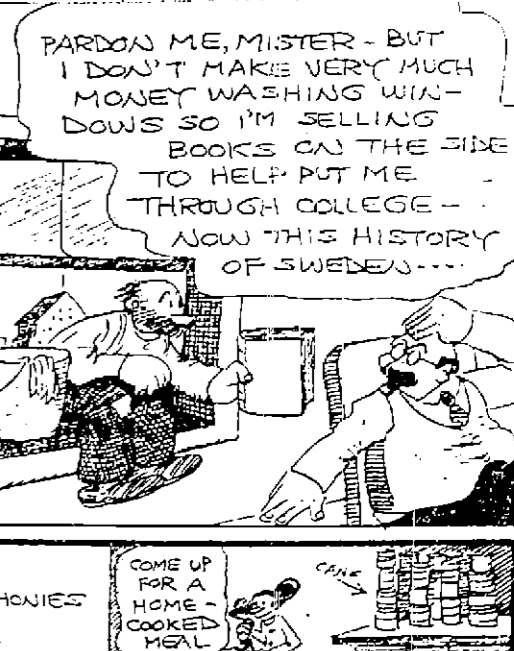

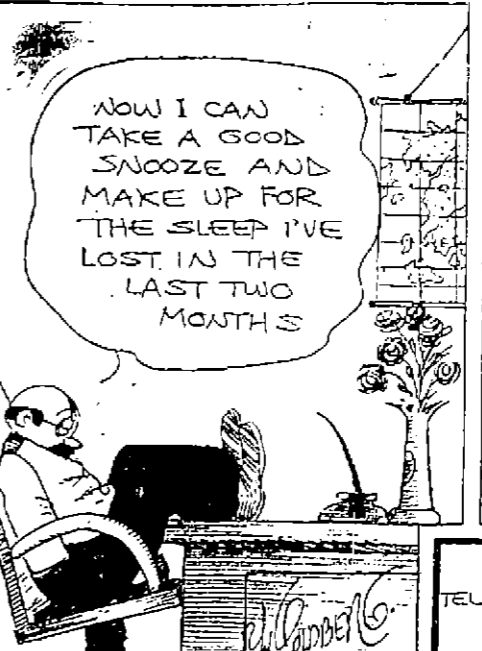

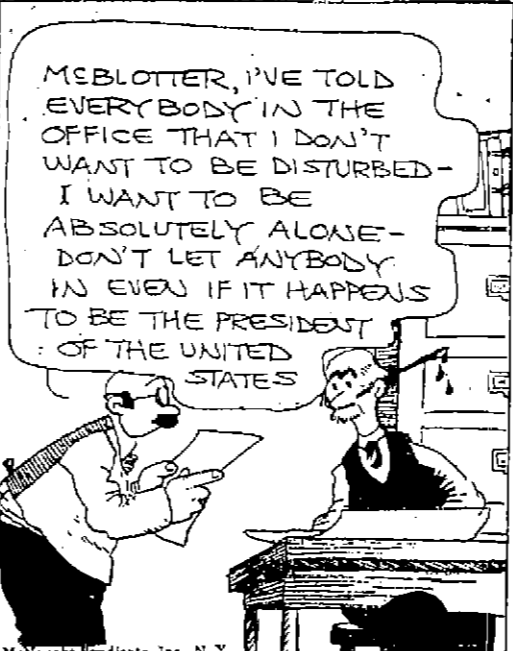

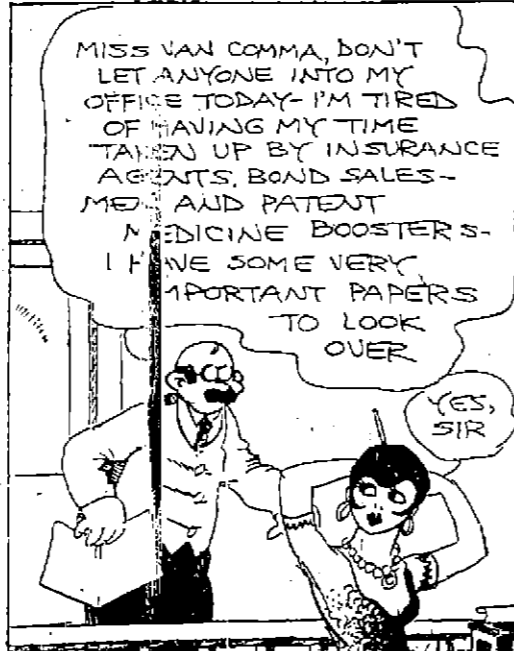

Although the greater number engaged in the practice plan to play at the Field Club course, yet Captain Smith states that there have been quite a number planning to use the municipal golf course, who have been getting the rudiments in preparation of the opening of the municipal course.

The course at the Field club should be in exceptionally good shape this year, especially an account of the type of winter weather enjoyed, the cold periods being long and sustained, and the sod in the greens lying covered under the snow a greater part of the time.

Six-Team Base Ball League Is Also In Prospect

Planned To Play Twilight Games During Summer Months

A new six team baseball league which will function during the coming summer months is now in the course of formation, according to some of the backers of the proposed organization.

While the name of the proposed league has not yet been definitely decided upon, there is a tentative plan to call the organization, when effected, the City and County League, by reason of the fact that there will be teams from both the city and county districts.

If the present plans mature, and it is expected that they will, this league will play only twilight ball, more especially for the reason, that some of the teams are arranging to play Saturday games.

There are six teams said to be considering a berth in the proposed league, namely, Eastbrook, Harlanburg, Princeton, Oldsmobile team, Cascade All Stars and Energy. This may not be the lineup as finally arranged, but it is more or less sure.

Included in the ranks of these teams are some of the best amateur baseball players of the city and county, and this will assure the fans following the fortunes of the teams, some excellent baseball.

Even now, plans are being perfected and a schedule tentatively arranged.

Call Is Issued To Oldsmobile Players

There will be a meeting at 3:30 o'clock March 17th at 705½ Chestnut street of former players of the Oldsmobile Team of 1928 and also such players as may desire a tryout with this team in 1929.

Manager Collins requests the following players to be present: Brooks, Collins, Davies, Comeal, Jenkins, Liverage, Marsh, Kennedy, Hannon, Maxedon, Roberts, Cameron, Martin, Norris, McKay, King and all others that played with the Oldsmobile team in 1928, as well as any players desiring a tryout.

Plans are being to place this team in the field again this summer and business of importance will be considered at this meeting.

Profio-Randall Clash Tonight

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, March 15.—A slugging match with likelihood of a knockout is on tap here for boxing fans tonight when Dominick Profio clashes with Joe Randall, negro boxer from Elizabeth.

It wasn't so long ago that Profio was a prelate boy, but his ability to deliver knockout punches and not against setups, either, brought him into the main-gate class pronto. Profio is not considered a better fighter than Randall, but he packs a harder wallop.

BY "BUGS" WALTHER
News Basketball Editor.

TRYING to find a needle in a haystack, or picking out a homely girl in the Ziegfeld chorus is rather easy manual labor, compared to selecting the 10 best players in the Tri-State Basketball Conference. There are approximately 100 floormen in the circuit, and they are all good.

The best and easiest method of creating that insect called "criticism" is to try and tell a lot of basketball fans "who is who" and why.

It is said that there are no two people in the world think alike. The future that mythical selections either in football or basketball create seem to bear this out well. The late Walter Camp was a recognized authority on mythical selections. There will never be anyone capable of filling the vacant post. Plenty of sport writers and coaches have tried their hand at "picking them." It's a tough job, from T. to H. If you don't believe it, just try once, and be convinced.

Based on the observation of five of the Tri-State basketball teams opposed by Westminster this year, the writer will endeavor in his best conscientious manner to pick 10 of the best in the district. (Waynesburg was not seen in action by the writer.) If you can't agree with the selections, then the venture is a losing success. There have been many writers pick teams this year. The selections of others have not in the least influenced the following.

Forwards
When it comes to picking two forwards from out that flock of stellar stars it brings to mind that basketball players resemble football men in many ways. To be a first-class football man you must be a good runner, kicker, passer and thinker. To be a good basketball man you must be a good shot, good passer and team worker.

The first player selected by the writer was Glenn "Babe" O'Donovan, the Westminster College satellite. O'Donovan, to my way of thinking, is the "finished" college basketball player. Aggressive, a hard worker, and a valued essential to any combination. "Babe" is not chosen for his scoring ability, although he tallies them quite often, but rather for his ability to play the floor and his steady influence when things were not going quite right. O'Donovan is called a "ball hawk", and the term fits the popular Homestead youth. O'Donovan was not the great scorer that characterizes the make-up of Kenneth Delahunty, but for consistent, all-around playing the "Babe" gets first choice.

As a runningmate to O'Donovan the writer would place Len Friedman in nomination. The tall Jewish boy is another finished player. Cool, calm and collected at all times, the Geneva forward has made his "niche" in the Tri-State hall of fame. Friedman is a former New Castle boy, an understudy of Coach Philip H. Bridenbaugh. Friedman has his first year at Geneva made the varsity and has been dislodged. In scoring the Jewish boy leads the Geneva team. "Len" is also a good passer and clear thinker.

Second choice goes to a pair of mighty clever boys, Kenneth Delahunty of Westminster and Captain Malcolm Rush of Bethany. Delahunty did not play just the same brand of basketball this year that stamped him last year as being the greatest in the conference. "Del" was up high in the scoring list, but

Offer Is Made Of Good Tennis Court

A letter received at The News today from Vane Johns and L. Shellenberger, revealed a very fine lot for a tennis court that is available for any group or organization in New Castle, desiring a suitable place to follow the great national outdoor pastime.

The lot is located at 302 Harding avenue. The lot was purchased about six years ago by a group of Croton Epworth League members for a tennis court when the old New Castle Country club went out of existence. The present owners of the lot would grant very liberal terms to any group of persons desiring to establish a first class tennis court.

Tennis courts are very scarce in this city. Anyone interested can call Vane Johns at 2873-W or see L. Shellenberger at 304 Harding avenue.

PAINTED LEGS PLEASE PARIS

Women of Paris are still enthusiastic over the bare-legged craze, which was adopted by many last summer, and has been transferred from the seashore to indoors. New "distemper" designs, painted on the ankles, have been added to the vogue, and as a result painted legs are making their appearance at dances.

Why Doctor Reynolds Insists on Milk of Magnesia in Tablet Form

The Doctor's Verdict.
"Yes, Lacma Waters. I always insist on my patients using Lacma when the need of a Milk of Magnesia is indicated. Liquid magnesia precipitates while Lacma gives assurance of accurate dosages and are pleasant and easy to take."

Again science has triumphed and today the medical and dental professions are prescribing Lacma Waters.

Children Love Lacma. Children who fight against taking unpalatable liquid magnesia actually crave Lacma Waters, because they taste like candy.

Lacma Waters Economical. Lacma Waters keep perfectly under all conditions. You get more for your money as there are 100 teaspoonful in each package. No danger of freezing or precipitating.

Lacma Waters Convenient. Lacma comes in an attractive package which, due to Lacma being concentrated, can be carried in your vest pocket. Remember it is not necessary to add water to Lacma—of course you can if you wish—but Lacma will dissolve quickly if just placed upon the tongue.

Use Lacma Regularly. All admit that milk of magnesia should be used for various uses—correct acidity, for bad breath, a gently laxative, cleaning the teeth—and all the various uses for which milk of magnesia has been found so desirable.

Go to your druggist today and ask for a package of Lacma Waters. They cost but a few cents. Start using Lacma Waters and you will never go back to the old methods.

LACMA MILK OF MAGNESIA IN TABLET FORM

LACMA WAFERS ELIMINATE NEED OF LIQUID MAGNESIA

Carrigan Hopes To Lead Red Sox From Lowly Cellar Berth

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

BRADENTON, Fla., March 15.—Manager Bill Carrigan of the Boston Red Sox is making no predictions for 1929. Beyond saying he will have "a fighting ball club" the tactician pilot declined today to go on record on what he thought his team will do in the pennant chase.

Carrigan, who has been looking over forty-one ball players at the spring training camp here, said he has not yet definitely made up his mind as to his opening line-up. All his players with the exception of Ira Flagstead, veteran outfielder, reported early and the club as a whole is in fine shape and many of his youngsters look promising.

Five Good Pitchers
The Red Sox pitching staff will be built around Ed Morris. Dan MacFarland, Charlie Ruffing, Jack Russell and Milton Gaston, all right-handers, Horace Lisenbee of Clarksburg, Tenn., who was up with Washington in 1927, is classed as a gamble.

Carrigan has hopes that of the flock of young pitchers he is looking over two or three will make the grade. Those youngsters include Ed Durham of Chester, S. C., Benny Frey of Jackson, Mich., Frank Busbey of Winston, Kan., and Edgar Carroll of Cantonville, Md.

Carrigan also has Bill Bayne, a southpaw, formerly with the St. Louis Browns and Cleveland. The Red Sox lineup will be greatly changed as a result of the mid-winter deals. The Boston club acquired pitchers Gaston and Lisenbee and infielders Bob Reeves, Grant Gillis and outfielder Elliott Bigelow, the Birmingham slugger, in a trade with St. Paul, the Red Sox relinquished Pitcher Bryan Harris and infielder Rogell and obtained Catcher Alston and Outfielder Russell Scarritt. In addition, by right of selection, Carrigan acquired two former Brooklyn infielders, Bob Barrett and Jerry Standaert. Boston also purchased Shortstop Hal Rhyne from Philadelphia.

Sox Look Formidable.
These deals make the Red Sox seem more formidable than last year when they looked promising at times. However, just what line-up Carrigan will use at the start of the season will not reveal at this time. Todd, of course, is a fixture at first base but Bill Regan will have a fight for his second berth with Standaert in camp. Wally Gerber, veteran shortstop, will have competition from Grant Gillis, Bob Reeves and Rhyne. Carrigan may assign Reeves to third base to fill the shoes of the departed Meyer. If not Barrett, who formerly held that bag down for Brooklyn may get the call.

The Red Sox will not lack for good catching even though Catcher Fred Hoffman was released. Carrigan has Alex Gaston, John Heving, Charles Berry and two young receivers, Bob Ashburn of Akron and Edward Connelly, recalled from Pittsfield. Ira Flagstead, Ken Williams and Douglas Tait will comprise the outfield, with Jack Rothrock in reserve. At the camp are a number of good young outfielders, including Elliott Bigelow, from Birmingham, Russell Scarritt, from St. Paul and Otto Dumas, from Mobile.

NEWS SPORTS WRITER PICKS TRI-STATE MYTHICAL FIVES

Johnny Lawther starts prepping the Westminster filingers next year, and if you think that Lawther is going to have an easy job in filling the shoes vacated by Lewis, you are plumb crazy. Used as a running guard at Westminster, Lewis was "sweet" when it came to caging them there were few above him. When it came to playing the floor, there were none above him, and so it goes. You could rave on forever about Tudor's basketball ability and never run out of adjectives.

With Damschroeder of Bethany paired with Lewis the team that tried to score would have a hard time. Damschroeder is a very good man, a hard worker and fairly good scorer. Without Damschroeder, Bethany would not have been so "warm". The big, tall, rangy blonde was a tower of strength to the Bisons and a feared opponent all the way around the conference.

Second choice in the defensive department goes to Philip Rice of Westminster and Howard Emerick of Geneva. Rice, in his first year at the United Presbyterian school, made a name for himself. Next year the youth that keeps Rice from the first all-mythical team is going to play some brand of basketball. Really it was all the writer could do to keep from naming the former Duncansville High boy this year, but lack of experience told in the selection, and next year it will be different. Emerick was a hard worker and a good man on the Geneva team. Damschroeder was just a little more aggressive and gets the choice, but Emerick is quite a basketball player. Other very good guards appearing in the Tri-State Conference this year were Ciesmiski, Rosenberg, White and Benedict.

And so it goes. There are probably several very fine players left out of the selections, but space is limited and there is another basketball season not so many months distant, and who can tell, maybe an entirely different crop of stars will burst forth next season to light the way in the Tri-State Conference.

The Gerson Jewelers suffered a 26 to 16 defeat on Wednesday night at Youngstown, O., at the hands of the National Shoes team. Club defeated the Marshals 29 to 22, in the first game of the evening. Next Tuesday night, March 19, the Gersons meet the B. M. D. Club in a league game.

Taylor-Singer Fight Tonight

Madison Square Garden Has Sell-Out For Bud Taylor, Al Singer Scrap Tonight

By DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor International News Service
NEW YORK, March 15.—New York and its chump population, limited in number only by the distance between the front and back of the telephone book, will know definitely tonight whether it has sponsored another Leonard, as it once thought, or spawned another Torres, as it now suspects. The difference is represented largely by the discrepancy between a swat and a swoon and there comes a time in every life when even a chump must know all. That time will come tonight when Al Singer and Bud Taylor re-play the Garden in the second episode of their what-was-it.

The last time out, there was a hung jury, which probably was what it deserved. Anyhow, Singer sank gracefully to the Axminster after being hit somewhere—well, let's call it somewhere in the middle of the fourth round—and the referee, having consulted with everybody except Judge Landis, finally called it a foul. There was a net gate of $66,744.04 on the premises that night and every nickel of it walked out muttering violently. Their story was that, if they never saw Al Singer again, it would be premature.

This probably accounts for the fact that the Garden has sold itself out again tonight and that ticket-leaguers are flaunting signs on Broadway, announcing "choice seats for Taylor and Singer." The boys are all steamed up again like a hot house window. The funny thing about it is that it was only a week ago that the Garden tried to announce this show from its ringside and was shouted down.

PASO ROBLES, Cal., March 15.—The Pirates were scheduled to break training camp here today and start their trek eastward. The trip will include a number of exhibition games on the coast and in the interior. Nothing definite has been heard recently in the Warner salary squabble, but rumor has it that Paul and Lloyd Warner will be on hand at Dallas for a powwow when the team arrives there April 6.

FT. MYERS, Fla., March 15.—The Athletics and Phillies resume their feud here this afternoon with the Phils out for revenge for the 9-6 trouncing they took yesterday at Winterhaven. Bob Fothergill In A Heavy Battle For Outfield Position

For some time Bob Fothergill, over-stuffed outfielder of the Detroit Tigers, has had things more or less his own way. At least he wasn't worried that some young upstart was going to come along and take away his job. The Tiger bosses were well satisfied with their gardeners and concentrated most of their attention to bettering the inner works.

In addition to Johnson, Detroit has Johnny Stone, Art Rubie, Charley Wade and Bob Petric as rookies, aspiring to a big league outfield berth. Stone joined the club last September and demonstrated when put in the lineup, that he is thoroughly capable in all departments of the game.

name of Roy Johnson, big Bob must look to his laurels. He always was a hard hitter, but 220 pounds cannot pick up much speed on a hard hit liner.

But this year, with the coming of four or five young hopefuls, among them being a $75,000 "beauty" by the Tigers he batted .354.

Rubie is an outfielder from Seattle with a .326 batting average. He was with the Tigers in 1927 but was optioned to the coast league team.

Wade is another hard hitter who averaged .347 with Evansville in 1928.

But whatever the odds, Fothergill isn't destined to the bench yet. He is a fighter and loves to play. And above all he can hit.

Perotta To Wind Up Boxing On Saturday

Will Banish Boxing To Avoid Cuts Until Monday Night

George Perotta, the local middleweight who has had a checkered career in the Punchline Pastime will wind up his boxing career today and Saturday then hang them in a closet and take things easy until the bell rings Monday night when he will fight the Montana Kid in action speak glowingly of his future.

The fight as it now appears augurs for plenty of action. Middleweights furnish the punch. Perotta is tough as his last fight with Henry Pirpo went to show. He was rolled nine times but was on his feet when the battle was stopped.

Perotta's friends reckon here, intend to travel to the battle and see him go against one of the hardest middleweights in the country if his record means anything. The ticket sales is going big and a capacity crowd is expected.

Four Other Battles
There will be four other battles on the card and everyone of them should be a fast affair. The semi-final, with Tony Brown and Sammy Harris as junior lightweight foes should team with class while Bobby Belford and Alvin Miller, 123, should furnish plenty of "pep."

There have been hundreds of fans who have waited patiently to see Maxie Brown and Nick Polis clash. They are scheduled for four rounds and the winner will be selected to box some other light-heavyweight.

Patsy Brannigan says that he will have Eddie McBain here to box Johnny Jennings. If not, Patsy says: "I'll have someone else on the job and Mr. Jennings can expect a good fight when my protegee and I arrive in New Castle."

In Great Condition
Perotta is confident of his condition. He says that he has been getting more leverage into his punching and after romping with Emory Rocco yesterday said: "I'm going to box Friday and Saturday then lay the gloves aside until the bell rings."

George looks the picture of health. He wears a good color. His eyes are clear and his step is like that of a spring. The old lagging step that characterized his walk before he battled the tough Floyd Hubert is gone.

In fact, Perotta firmly believes that he today is as good as he ever was. His fight, and a tough one, with Hybert, convinced local fans that he had turned over a new leaf in regards to training and has been playing the sport game above the boards.

I found that a lot of those blokes who were willing to bet around where I was a winner took to the other side of the street when I commenced losing fight after fight. Now that I'm back on my feet and in good shape, I'm rain' to do things.

"If I can beat Webster and I think I can, I will have accomplished something worthwhile. He has a great record, in fact one of the best that any middleweight has. His very photograph speaks that he is rugged and no ordinary puncher will stop him."

"I don't believe he can punch any better than I can and if the fight resolves itself into a slug-ging-bee, he won't find me backward. I always liked to stand up, toe to toe and punch and Webster doesn't look any firmer to me than anyone else."

Lots of Interest
There is considerable interest in the coming go and fans who attend the battle will have a chance to see just how good Webster is. If Webster should knock out Perotta he will have defeated one boy who has finally rounded into good condition.

If Perotta lands one of his drizzling left hooks or right smashes and tumbles the conqueror of Walcott, Langford, Charlie Long, Babe McGorgary, Len Darcy and Joe Anderson, Perotta will not have to go begging for bouts.

Webster has fought Dave Shade several good fights and anyone who
